There are buzzings in the air about Louis P. Francello's possible ascendancy to the first vice-chairmanship of the Republican County Committee—Jesse McHugh's old post.

Although it would be difficult for anybody to walk into the job and handle the assignment with the same genius for the task that McHugh had, Francello is, nevertheless, ambitious and gifted.

The fact is, however, that should Francello make the attempt to gain the position, he will meet strong opposition. For one thing, there is still some party grumbling over the manner in which Francello was elevated to the post of third vice-chairman. Because of the balance that leaders feel must be preserved in the party organization, Robert A. Snyder, long-time GOP county secretary, had to be eliminated from the post because both he and Francello were from Saugerties.

Some people feel that Snyder was ousted with a little too much speed, and that he was not adequately prepared before the convention got under way.

Francello also faces factionalism in his Saugerties organization, and the word is that he is not always in full control of his own party: a factor that hurts many town committee chairman, as Democrat John Bonilla of Woodstock knows well.

The opposition to a Francello move could come from a coalition of committeemen from the City of Kingston, Hurley, Marletown, and Ulster: Ed Callahan of Ulster may be the Francello opponent.

The talk is, however, that Francello may possess the qualities of a talented leader but one other factor that may wound him is the fact that he is of Italian extraction.

What with Peter J. Savago, Albert Spada, Joseph Toraca, Raymond J. Mino, John Ray Mayone, and other Italian-Americans all in high positions of public trust, and all Republicans, the effect of having one more Italian American in a leadership position will be weighed carefully.

The Democrats of Marletown should be ashamed of themselves.

By their inability to put up a slate of candidates to face the Republican incumbents in November, they have failed in their responsibility to the voters.

Perhaps the Democratic minority in the township is so small that they hold their monthly meetings in a local telephone booth. Perhaps, because of their consistent defeats at the hands of the voters, they cannot attract people to run.

The fact is, however, that the voters of Marletown will not have a choice this November, and Democracy has been defeated.

It could be that Marletown faces no problems at all, that town government is so efficient and progressive that there is no need to challenge the existing keepers of the public trust.

Assuming this is so, even though I doubt it, without opposition the favored political party could very well easily grow lax and flabby. Without opposition even the winners, who gain office through default, can begin to look upon the public trust as something to be dealt with only if there is time.

There are always issues, Democrats of Marletown, and if you are still at all interested in government, and in the people, then, because it was your choice to become politically involved in the first place, it was your responsibility to get out there and campaign.

Michigan Governor George Romney is sniffing the stench of defeat in his unannounced, but active, campaign to win the GOP presidential nomination in 1968.

Romney's trip to Sullivan County last week was an indication of this.

Not only was he obsessed with that "brainwashing" issue on the Vietnam War—telling anyone who would listen just how brainwashed he had been (although not telling them that the brainwash period lasted some two years)—but he appeared to be hostile toward the press, the first real indication of a candidate's paranoid belief that it is the press which is out to do him in.

Romney, unlike Robert Kennedy and Governor Rockefeller, does not have that informal charm which works magic with the voters. He appears entirely too stiff, even awkward, and the evangelistic speech made to the Youth Development Inc. audience at Glen Spae, if it was reported accurately in the big city press, is sure to frighten more than enough voters.

Republican moderates may still be left with the task of goading Rockefeller into making the run.

What in the World!

In Coma for Year

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Sharie Ann Duncan, the sleeping beauty of Colorado, has been in a coma for more than a year now, and there is little—save her mother's unflinching hope—to indicate she ever will emerge.

It was Sept. 17, 1966, when massive head injuries suffered in a mysterious automobile accident thrust the beautiful University of Colorado coed into mental limbo.

Since then, despite two brain operations and the most intense therapy medical experts could muster, Sharie has remained in a deeply semicomatose state.

'Steel Out of Ears'

DETROIT (AP)—With some warehouses and loading docks jammed, layoffs inched up in the steel industry today as new shootings heightened tension in an eight-state strike by dissident truckers.

The drivers, independents covered by the Teamsters Union contract with the industry, have forced some production cutbacks by refusing to deliver steel, which has piled up in warehouses and loading points.

"We've got steel coming out of our ears," said a spokesman for Republic Steel at Cleveland, Ohio, where 500 workers were idled today and hundreds more were working short shifts.

Exposed to Radiation

WEST VALLEY, N. Y. (AP)—An employee of the Nuclear Fuel Services Inc. plant in this South-western New York community is undergoing hospital treatment for removal of radioactive plutonium from his body, the company says.

The worker, who was not identified, has experienced no ill effects and none are expected, a spokesman added Friday night.

ROMNEYS AND HIPPIES—They stood in the trees (R-rear), on themselves (L-rear) and just plain gawked as Michigan Governor George Romney and wife, Lenore, visited Friday with San Francisco's hippie population in the panhandle of Golden Gate Park. More than 200 hippies surrounded the pair and later Diggers, the hip-pies' Good Samaritan, dished up free meal of chicken, corn on cob and salad. As he was leaving, Romney was followed by an Indian named Rolling Thunder who complained that the government was breaking treaties. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Yesterday afternoon a team of county law enforcement officials arrested four men and charged them with a pair of burglaries in Port Ewen. Shortly after, a jury returned a verdict of guilty against three other youths accused of robbery, assault and petit larceny in an attack on a downtown grocer in May.

Arrested on third degree burglary charges were Francis Gillespie, 18, of 156 Minter Street, Port Ewen; Bernard Kearney, 20, of 14 Brown Court and Charles Naccarato, 17, of 55 Harding Avenue, Michael Christofora, 30, City. They are accused of breaking SAIGON (AP)—U.S. pilots reported touching off explosions and fires in North Vietnamese gun positions Friday as U.S. Marine casualties grew to 41 dead and 541 wounded for 11 days of heavy blasting back and forth across the border.

Six Killed Friday

Communist barrages killed six Americans and wounded 72 near the Marine outpost of Con Thien Friday in what appears to have become a contest across South Vietnam's northern frontier to see who can inflict the most casualties.

Gen. Westmoreland gives assessment of South Vietnamese army. See story on Page 5.

Another possibility was that the Reds hoped to clear the way for a thrust by ground troops.

Twin-engine B57 medium bombers and supersonic F4 Phantom fighter-bombers joined eight-engine B52s in dumping tons of bombs on the hidden red gun positions.

In 71 raids on the demilitarized zone area since mid-August, the B52s have dropped perhaps more than 10 million pounds of explosives, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, has called the concentration of conventional firepower in the area the heaviest in the history of warfare.

Destroyers Do Part

Offshore U.S. Navy destroyers also have contributed to efforts to take the Communist pressure off the Marines guarding the northern frontier.

The B57 and F4 pilot reported six secondary explosions and five fires even before the high-altitude B52s started their saturation bombing raids.

In a delayed report, the U.S. Command also disclosed that another 16 Marines were killed and 33 wounded in fierce ground fighting that raged for six hours Thursday a half a mile southeast of Con Thien. The Marines reported killing 22 Communist troops.

In Operation Kingfisher, Marines of the 4th Regiment assaulted an estimated Communist reinforced company—perhaps 150 men.

Foe Breaks Contact

Military officers said the Marines moved to within 20 yards of the Communists' position but were stopped by heavy small arms fire and booby-trapped hedgerows. As darkness began to fall, the enemy broke contact.

The fierceness of the action along the DMZ is pointed up by Operation Kingfisher. Since it began last July 16, the Marines have lost 249 dead and 2,145 wounded in Kingfisher alone.

The Leathernecks, however, have reported killing 992 Communists and capturing 124 weapons.

Highland Youth, 18, Killed in Accident

By HUGH D. REYNOLDS

Ulster County recorded its 32nd traffic fatality when a Highland teenager was killed in a one-car accident early this morning on Rt. 44-55, 1.6 miles west of Highland.

Passenger in Car

Dead at the scene at 3:40 a. m. was William R. Scott, 18, of Bailey's Gap Road. Death was from a fractured skull.

Highland State Police told The Freeman this morning that Scott was a passenger in a vehicle driven by John J. Smith, also 18, of Box 498, Highland. According to troopers, the Smith car was headed east on 44-55 when it failed to negotiate a curve, went off the right side of the highway and hit a telephone pole, virtually breaking the pole in two.

Smith suffered lacerations of the head and was taken to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie where he was reported in satisfactory condition this morning.

Action Pending

The accident was investigated by Troopers Peter Bebenese, Edward Pulver and Sgt. Charles Bundschuh. According to troopers, criminal action is pending against Smith.

The accident this morning resulted in the second fatality in less than a week in Ulster. Last Sunday, Roy Benaway, 21, of 5 Morton Street, Poughkeepsie, was killed in a two-car sideswipe accident on Rt. 213 in Eddyville.

Last year's 32nd fatality in the county occurred on Aug. 4 when Walter Gursky, 17, of Hyde Park drove his car into the rocks at the western approach of the Mid-Hudson Bridge.

Two Orange Deaths

Two persons died in Orange County crashes last night. They were: Douglas Buckley, 20, of Pine Bush, killed in a one-car crash near Middletown on Rt. 52.

Murray Markhoff, 53, was killed when he was struck by another car while inspecting his auto that had broken down on Rt. 17 near Monroe.

Up in Greene County, Christine Brink, 22, of Acra was charged with following too closely after her car struck a vehicle driven by Robert Larson, 23, of Cairo in the rear at 1 a. m. this morning on Rt. 145 in the Town of Cairo.

The ticket is returnable before Town of Cairo Justice Howard Miller. Investigating Troopers were Allen Parker and Patrick Maddigan.

Red China Series Starts On Monday

Dr. Hugo Portisch, veteran reporter of international affairs and editor-in-chief of Vienna's influential "Kurier," has penetrated the Bamboo Curtain around Mao Tse-tung's China.

Kingston Freeman readers will be taken on Dr. Portisch's travels starting Monday, Sept. 25, when the first of the 10-installment series on Across the H-Bomb Border: Where Red Faces Red, will appear.

Dr. Portisch has traveled extensively through the Asian territories of the Soviet Union, talked with Communist Party functionaries, peasant farmers and defectors from Maoist China.

In these sojourns, he gathered eyewitness accounts of amazing events in Sinkiang province, where the Chinese conduct their nuclear tests and recently exploded their first H-Bomb.

Beulah Gone, But ...

Floodwaters Threaten Span

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP)—The greatest mass of floodwaters in three decades thundered down the Rio Grande today, imperiling the International Bridge at this border town and promising new hardships for the lower Rio Grande Valley 40 miles down stream.

Up to 30 Inches

Torrential rains—up to a staggering 30 inches—also sent crests rolling down scores of other South Texas rivers and streams as Hurricane Beulah, the cause of it all, finally blew herself out against the mountains of northern Mexico.

Some one million persons remained isolated by high water in a 40,000 square-mile area in the wedge of South Texas. The death toll from the 14-day-old hurricane stood at 36—while damage estimates were put at $1 billion. Nine died in Texas.

A deputy sheriff at Rio Grande City said Saturday, "It's going to go" when asked about the International Bridge there. He said the river's floodwaters covered about a fourth of the town shortly after midnight.

"It looks like the river's coming into the downtown area," he added.

Numerous streams in the disaster area continued to spill from their banks today and heavy rains persisted, although they were tapering off.

Beulah slammed into the Texas coast at Brownsville early Wednesday.

The Rio Grande was 20 feet above flood stage and a mile wide, here, 110 miles from the Gulf of Mexico.

Abutments Eaten Away

W. E. Walker, principal engineer for the International Boundary and Water Commission, said Rio Grande floodwaters had eaten away the abutments of the bridge linking Rio Grande City and Camargo, Mexico.

"We expect it (the main part of the bridge) to go anytime," he said late Friday.

Rusk Plea to OAS:

4-Point Noose for Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk proposed today a four-point program for tightening the Western Hemisphere quarantine of Communist Cuba, including an appeal to non-Communist countries to curb trade with Havana. "The Organization of American States must maintain measures that isolate Cuba from the society of free men" until Premier Fidel Castro quits promoting "subversion and terrorism in the other countries of the hemisphere" and cuts his military ties with Moscow, Rusk said. Rusk presented the U.S. proposals as the foreign ministers of the 21-nation OAS went into the second day of a three-day special conference on stemming the Castro threat.

Guerrilla-plagued Venezuela called the meeting, accusing Cuba of aggression for its exports of insurgency to other Latin American lands. Other hemisphere ministers have joined in denouncing the Red infiltrations. It remained to be seen what specific steps in the Latin American leaders could agree on beyond the containment programs already voted by the OAS in past years. None is advocating force against Cuba.

Rusk advocated "reasonable steps tailored to the dimensions of the immediate threat" which he said should be neither exaggerated nor ignored. He proposed:

—OAS "condemnation and denunciation" of the Castro regime's actions "as flagrant violations of international treaties, of the principles of international law and the standards of conduct among nations."

—Further individual and collective measures by OAS members for "vigilance along our coasts and frontiers" to prevent incursions of men, munitions, money and propaganda from Cuba.

—If they are interested in our friendship, we may ask why they finance a government publicly committed to our destruction," Rusk said.

—Further individual and collective measures by OAS members for "vigilance along our coasts and frontiers" to prevent incursions of men, munitions, money and propaganda from Cuba.

Reportedly stolen from the Dana Company was an IBM electric typewriter, a calculator, dictaphone, two other typewriters and $123 in cash. The total loss was estimated at $3,013.

A BCI investigator said this morning that the color television set was recovered. Investigating officers included Harold Bowers from the Sheriff's Department, Fred Grunwald and Joseph Ventriglia from the BCI, Kingston troopers and the Kingston Police Department.

The four men are currently in the Ulster County Jail awaiting an appearance before Ulster Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly on Wednesday.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

Madeleine Barot has had an active faith since her school days when she headed the Student Christian Movement in Paris. But her greatest challenge occurred during the Second World War when she led a Protestant organization to aid prisoners of war, refugees and displaced persons. To work as closely as possible with these victims of war, Miss Barot, with the Germans' authorization, went to live in the concentration camps. She also helped to smuggle political refugees and "racial criminals" to Switzerland.

Miss Barot now works with the World Council of Churches as secretary for development education. She prepared the 1964 World Day of Prayer Service, which contained the following words: "We give thanks, O God, for the call to this ministry of intercession, thereby enlisting us in Thy work of salvation for the world."

Immanuel Minister To Remain at Post

The Rev. Carl J. Goette will celebrate his 50th anniversary in the ministry at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kingston.

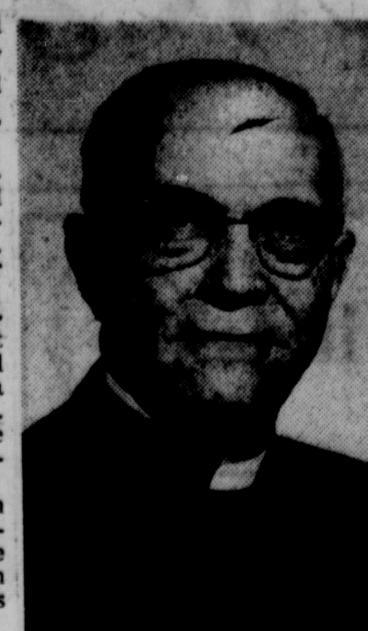

At a recent meeting of the entire congregation of Immanuel Lutheran Church, the voting assembly prevailed upon the Rev. Mr. Goette to stay for another year.

The Rev. Mr. Goette had recently announced his retirement effective Oct. 1, 1967 and had planned to move to Arizona with his wife, Marie Goette. Retirement Oct. 1, would have left Immanuel Lutheran without a pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Goette is in excellent health and looks forward to another year of service at Immanuel culminating in the 50th anniversary of his ministry.

The Rev. Mr. Goette attended the Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., and graduated in the year 1916. He entered into the ministry at the Immanuel Lutheran Church at Alexandria, Va.

He served at Alexandria, Va., until 1930 when he moved to Baltimore, Md. to serve at the Calvary Lutheran Church. In 1942 he became pastor of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in York, Pa. From there he went to St. John's Lutheran Church in Pittston, Pa. until 1959 when he became pastor of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church in Pekin, N. Y. From Pekin, the Rev. Mr. Goette came to the

REV. CARL J. GOETTE

Immanuel Lutheran Church at Kingston in October, 1961. Both grandfathers of the Rev. Mr. Goette were ministers. In 1927 he married Miss Marie Brauer. The Rev. and Mrs. Goette had a daughter, Virginia Marie Goette, who died in 1960 at Tucson, Ariz. while a teacher at the church day school of the Faith Lutheran Church. The pastor is the chairman of the Albany-Kingston-Schenectady Pastoral Circuit of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod.

Your Life and Mine

BY CLYDE HERBERT SNELL
THE ABANDONED WINDMILL

Some little time ago an advertisement appeared in a national magazine in which was a picture of an abandoned windmill. The caption read: "Unharnessed, stirred by every vagrant breeze . . . an abandoned windmill is busy enough. But 'business' alone rarely gets our business done. Without a plan, a purpose and a goal we merely move in circles."

We were never meant to move in circles. The deepest need of our spirits is to find meaning in our days. Without this, life goes stale on us. When Charles Dickens visited the United States in 1842 he said that the city of Washington consisted of "spacious avenues that begin in nothing and lead nowhere." And when life is made up of "avenues that begin in nothing and lead nowhere," we get into trouble. For one thing the human spirit never was built to withstand a meaningless. Nothing gets us down and causes us to lose heart quite like the frustration that descends upon us when we have no worthwhile goal in mind.

It is most significant that the goals which, when pursued, provide us with the greatest satisfaction, have to do with helping others and serving the needs of human beings. You will recall how Henry Drummond stated it. Said he: "You will find as you look back upon your life, that the moments that stand out are the moments when you have done things for others." Surely it is no accident that the Great Planner has established this unflinching positive correlation between the service we render and the inner satisfaction we get out of life.

We are reminded of that poetic injunction: "Forget yourself in others. And give to God your best." Beating the air like an abandoned windmill is a most disheartening business. But when in truth we do "forget ourselves in others and give to God our best," we find a meaning in our days that gives us a lift of spirit and an inner joy that cannot be put into words.

MRS. MARGARET SIMMONS

Guest speaker for the Foreign Missions and Women's Day to be observed Sunday at the Franklin Street A.M.E. Zion Church will be Mrs. Margaret J. Simmons. She will speak at the 11 a. m. service on The Role of the American Woman.

Mrs. Simmons is a native of Raleigh, N. C. She is presently a special education teacher at the Emma Wylant School, Flatbush. She holds a BA from Shaw University; MA from Teacher's College Columbia University, New York City. Mrs. Simmons was employed in Clark County, Nevada for a number of years at the C.V.T. Elementary School in North Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Simmons is active in church, organizations and community work. In 1966 she was appointed by Governor Sawyer to become a member of the State Committee of Youth Awards for Bravery and Service. She served as area representative to the American Association of University Women. In 1966 she was chairman of the North Las Vegas Westside March of Dimes. Mrs. Simmons is a devout member of the Zion Methodist Church. She was director of the Children's Speech Choir for two years and chairman of the Commission of Family Life. In 1961 she was guest speaker at a Women's Day Service.

Mrs. Simmons resides at 97 Gage Street with her husband Anderson D. Simmons, a barber, and her daughter, Ruth Anderson, a student at the Immanuel Lutheran School.

Church Leader To Be Speaker At Fair Street

The Rev. Christian H. Walvoord, executive secretary of the Board of Education of The Reformed Church in America, will be the guest preacher at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock services of worship this Sunday, at the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Throughout the denomination this Sunday is being observed as Christian Education Sunday. At the local church, during the 11 o'clock service, the superintendents, teachers, substitutes and staff of the church school will be specially recognized.

The Rev. Mr. Walvoord was born in Michigan, graduated from Hope College, Holland, Mich., in 1934 and Western Theological Seminary also in Holland, in 1937. He holds a master's degree from Biblical Seminary in New York and has served pastorates in Red Bank, N. J., Canajoharie, and Hudson, N. Y., Holland Mich., and Oradell, N. J.

A coffee kletz will be held in the parish room between services so that parishoners may greet the Rev. Mr. Walvoord.

PAPER CHIEF UNITARIANS

LONDON (AP)—The Inquirer, weekly newspaper of Britain's Unitarians, celebrated its 125th birthday in July. The anniversary number carried an editorial warning that the Unitarian movement gave the impression of being run as a business and that the denomination spent too much time discussing finance, stipends and organization.

What's your idea of true religion?

Unitarianism is a way of life, life of vigorous thought, constructive activity, of generous service—not a religion of inherited creeds, revered saints, or holy books. Unitarianism is not an easy religion. It demands that people think out their beliefs for themselves, and then live those beliefs. The stress is placed upon living this life nobly and effectively rather than on the preparation for an after-existence.

If you have given up "old time" religion, Unitarianism has the answer for you.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Madeleine Barot has had an active faith since her school days when she headed the Student Christian Movement in Paris. But her greatest challenge occurred during the Second World War when she led a Protestant organization to aid prisoners of war, refugees and displaced persons. To work as closely as possible with these victims of war, Miss Barot, with the Germans' authorization, went to live in the concentration camps. She also helped to smuggle political refugees and "racial criminals" to Switzerland.

Miss Barot now works with the World Council of Churches as secretary for development education. She prepared the 1964 World Day of Prayer Service, which contained the following words: "We give thanks, O God, for the call to this ministry of intercession, thereby enlisting us in Thy work of salvation for the world."

Immanuel Minister To Remain at Post

The Rev. Carl J. Goette will celebrate his 50th anniversary in the ministry at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kingston.

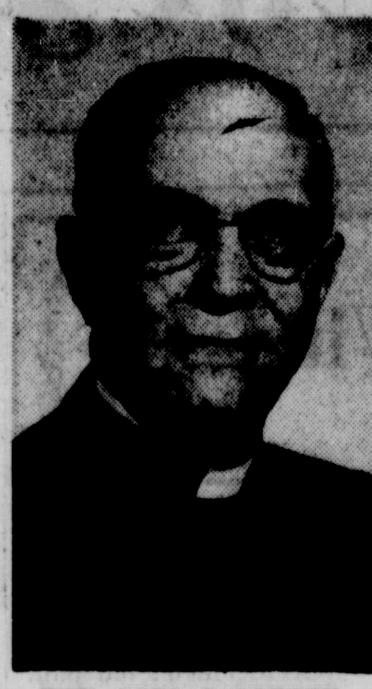

At a recent meeting of the entire congregation of Immanuel Lutheran Church, the voting assembly prevailed upon the Rev. Mr. Goette to stay for another year.

The Rev. Mr. Goette had recently announced his retirement effective Oct. 1, 1967 and had planned to move to Arizona with his wife, Marie Goette. Retirement Oct. 1, would have left Immanuel Lutheran without a pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Goette is in excellent health and looks forward to another year of service at Immanuel culminating in the 50th anniversary of his ministry.

The Rev. Mr. Goette attended the Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo. and graduated in the year 1916. He entered into the ministry at the Immanuel Lutheran Church at Alexandria, Va. until 1930 when he moved to Baltimore, Md. to serve at the Calvary Lutheran Church.

In 1942 he became pastor of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in York, Pa. From there he went to St. John's Lutheran Church in Pittsburg, Pa. until 1959 when he became pastor of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church in Pekin, N. Y. From Pekin, the Rev. Mr. Goette came to the Immanuel Lutheran Church at Kingston in October, 1961. Both grandfathers of the Rev. Mr. Goette were ministers. In 1927 he married Miss Marie Brauer. The Rev. and Mrs. Goette had a daughter, Virginia Marie Goette, who died in 1960 at Tucson, Ariz. while a teacher at the church day school of the Faith Lutheran Church.

The pastor is the chairman of the Albany-Kingston-Schenectady Pastoral Circuit of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod.

Church Leader To Be Speaker At Fair Street

The Rev. Christian H. Walvoord, executive secretary of the Board of Education of The Reformed Church in America, will be the guest preacher at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock services of worship this Sunday, at the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Throughout the denomination this Sunday is being observed as Christian Education Sunday. At the local church, during the 11 o'clock service, the superintendents, teachers, substitutes and staff of the church school will be specially recognized.

The Rev. Mr. Walvoord was born in Michigan, graduated from Hope College, Holland, Mich. in 1934 and Western Theological Seminary also in Holland, in 1937. He holds a master's degree from Biblical Seminary in New York and has served pastorates in Red Bank, N. Y., Canajoharie and Hudson, N. Y., Holland Mich., and Oradell, N. J.

A coffee kletz will be held in the parish room between services so that parishioners may greet the Rev. Mr. Walvoord.

Your Life and Mine

BY CLYDE HERBERT SNELL THE ABANDONED WINDMILL

Some little time ago an advertisement appeared in a national magazine in which was a picture of an abandoned windmill. The caption read: "Unharnessed, stirred by every vagrant breeze . . . an abandoned windmill is busy enough. But 'business' alone rarely gets our business done. Without a plan, a purpose and a goal we merely move in circles."

We were never meant to move in circles. The deepest need of our spirits is to find meaning in our days. Without this, life goes stale on us. When Charles Dickens visited the United States in 1842 he said that the city of Washington consisted of "spacious avenues that begin in nothing and lead nowhere." And when life is made up of "avenues that begin in nothing and lead nowhere," we get into trouble. For one thing the human spirit never was built to withstand in meaninglessness. Nothing gets us down and causes us to lose heart quite like the frustration that descends upon us when we have no worthwhile goal in mind.

It is most significant that the goals which, when pursued, provide us with the greatest satisfaction, have to do with helping others and serving the needs of human beings. You will recall how Henry Drummond stated it. Said he: "You will find as you look back upon your life, that the moments that stand out are the moments when you have done things for others." Surely it is no accident that the Great Planner has established this unendingly positive correlation between the service we render and the inner satisfaction we get out of life.

We are reminded of that poetic injunction: "Forget yourself in others." Beating the air like an abandoned windmill is a most disheartening business. But when in truth we do "forget ourselves in others and give to God our best," we find a meaning in our days that gives us a lift of spirit and an inner joy that cannot be put into words.

Teacher to Be Women's Day Guest Speaker

MRS. MARGARET SIMMONS

Guest speaker for the Foreign Missions and Women's Day to be observed Sunday at the Franklin Street AME Zion Church will be Mrs. Margaret J. Simmons. She will speak at the 11 a. m. service on The Role of the American Woman.

City Man Point Cadet Head

Cadet Mark A. Edelman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edelman of 102A Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, has been appointed a Cadet Captain at the U. S. Military Academy and will serve as a Regiment Commander in the U. S. Corps of Cadets during the current academic year.

As a Regimental Commander, Cadet Edelman is responsible for the discipline, internal administration and supply, training, morale, and general efficiency of his Regiment of approximately 825 cadets, one of four regiments in the 3,300 man Cadet Brigade.

A 1964 graduate of Valley Central High School at Montgomery, Cadet Edelman received his appointment to the Military Academy from former representative Katharine St. George of New York.

Must Rebuild Slums, Rocky to Industries

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Slum areas must be rebuilt to provide "an environment for decent citizens," Gov. Rockefeller said Friday night.

The Republican governor, speaking to businessmen attending the annual convention of Associated Industries of New York, said he hoped to interest the leaders of business and industry in investing private capital in rebuilding programs.

Hopeful of Article

He said it was his hope that the Constitutional Convention would draft a "good" urban renewal article to help end problems generated in slums. Turning to another topic, Rockefeller said his proposed $2.5-billion transportation bond issue "should be viewed as an investment, rather than simply as expenditure."

Companies that count on good roads have invested $2.70 in plants and wages for every $1 spent on highways in the last 10 years, he said.

Rockefeller said studies by the State Transportation Department indicated that "a dollar spent in constructing transportation facilities generates $2.23 in economic activity."

The bond issue, which will be

Prudential Agents May Strike Tuesday

Twenty-eight area insurance agents are slated to go on strike Tuesday morning against the Prudential Insurance Co. unless an agreement is reached over fringe benefits, wages and retirement.

The announcement came this morning from Tom Beckert, public relations director, Kingston Local 93, Insurance Workers International, AFL-CIO.

According to Beckert, members were polled Sept. 19 and voted unanimously for the walkout. However, Beckert said negotiations are presently being conducted in Washington.

Teamsters Postpone Strike Act

NEW YORK (AP) — Strike action by 40,000 Teamsters in the New York-New Jersey area was postponed early today—an hour after a midnight deadline—following a negotiating session lasting 8½ hours.

Another meeting was scheduled for 11 a. m. today.

Thomas E. Flynn, director of the Eastern Conference of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Independent, following the meeting which ended at 1 a. m., said the talks were still ongoing on nine issues.

But, he added: "The door is open."

The dispute is between 16 teamster locals and five management groups. The teamsters contract expired after two extensions since Aug. 15.

A walkout could halt deliveries of newspaper and general freight throughout the New York metropolitan area, including Long Island and adjoining sections of New Jersey.

Walter Shea, international representative of the union, said the points still in dispute were: premium pay to plant workers; vacation credits; health, welfare and pension contributions; eight hours' time off before reporting back to work; union approval for a special commodity or steel haul; tightening of the discharge and suspension provision of the old contract; increased benevolent leave; senior employee option to refuse holiday work, and a ceiling on the number of owner-drivers working at one company.

Mailler Dies, Former GOP Senate Boss

CORNWALL, N.Y. (AP) — Lee B. Mailler, one time majority leader of the state Assembly and a leader in the field of public health, died Friday in Cornwall Hospital. He was 69.

Mailler, a Republican, was a 20-year veteran of the Assembly. He was first elected to the lower house in 1934 and served as majority leader from 1947 until he retired in 1954.

He was appointed to the State Parole Board following his retirement from the legislature and subsequently was elected its chairman by the members.

He resigned and returned to private life following a heart attack in 1958. Though afflicted with leukemia he remained active until he entered the hospital last Aug. 7.

In 1942 he was appointed special consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service for New York State and a year later then Thomas E. Dewey named him to the Morland commission to investigate the Department of Mental Hygiene.

Funeral services will be held at the Cornwall on the Hudson Presbyterian Church Monday afternoon. Burial will follow in the cemetery of the Highlands at Highland Mills.

Mailler leaves his wife, Marion. They had no children.

Pontiff Looks, Sounds Better, Has Audience

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — Looking and sounding better than he has in weeks, Pope Paul VI today held his first public audience since he was stricken with a urinary inflammation Sept. 4.

The Pontiff, who turns 70 in just three days, stood in the open air of a balcony overlooking a Vatican City courtyard crowded with 3,500 Croatian pilgrims from Yugoslavia.

In a firm voice the Pope spoke to the crowd, waved, gave his blessing and embraced Franjo Cardinal Seper, Archbishop of Zagreb.

To appear on the balcony, the Pope walked to and from his apartment, a total distance of about 300 feet. Shortly before making his appearance he was visited by his leading personal physician, Dr. Mario Fontana.

Dutchess or Ulster? In Court Action

By RAY TYSON

David C. Schoentag, chairman of the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors and Republican candidate for County Executive, is slated to appear in court Oct. 2 to show cause why his name shouldn't be stricken from the voter scrolls.

The action would be tantamount to removing the Town of Beekman supervisor from the ballot. Schoentag faces Robert Fouey, the Democrat candidate, in the Nov. election.

Two Say 'No'

Petitioning Schoentag and the Board of Elections are two Beekman residents, George Holzberger and Louise Allen. They claim the respondent was not a resident of the Town of Beekman on Primary Day, June 20, 1967.

According to information contained in the show cause order, Schoentag claims to be a resident of the Town of Beekman, Village of Poughkeepsie, living at Gardner Hollow Road. The order states that Schoentag listed Gardner Hollow Road as his address when he registered, under permanent personal registration, January 19, 1967.

However, Holzberger and Allen say Schoentag, a native of Saugerties, was not living at that address when he registered. The two contend he was then living at Schmidt's Motel, outside Highland, in Ulster County, and had been living there since Oct. 1, 1966. They claim he remained at the motel until Primary Day.

Photostatic copies of room receipts, alleged to be signed by Schoentag and attached to the order, do indicate that the Beekman Supervisor resided in Room 11 during the period in question. The photostats are marked as exhibits.

According to information on file in the Town of Beekman, Schoentag once did live at Gardner Hollow Road. However, the petitioners claim he hasn't lived there since his divorce in 1962. The house has now been sold to another party, records indicate.

Called 'Vindictiveness'

Schoentag told The Freeman Friday that the entire action was "vindictiveness." He said, "This matter is originating with Harold Ahrens, my opponent during the GOP primary, who I defeated better than 3 to 1. Several years ago I defeated Holzberger when he challenged my Supervisor's seat."

Schoentag said he still resides on Gardner Hollow Road, explaining he never meant to imply he occupied his former home, but that he has taken a new residency on that street.

Presently, Schoentag is living with his former father-in-law, Beekman Justice of the Peace John A. Mennella, who recently swore in a verified statement July 11, 1967, that Schoentag has resided with him since 1962.

Schoentag said the Mennella home's front entrance is on Gardner Hollow Road, noting it sits on the corner of Beach Road and the Hollow, and that there is a garage entrance on the Beach Street side.

But Conrad Link, a Beekman resident, in a sworn affidavit also attached to the order said that the Mennella home is located on Beach Road, Link said he had a copy of the Dutchess County Board of Elections 1966 list of registered voters and that both Mennella and his wife, Mary, listed Beach Road as their address on the permanent personal registration cards.

Another affidavit, sworn to by Harold Ahrens, states Schoentag was under constant surveillance between Nov. 1, 1966, through June 18, 1967, and that the respondent nor his automobile was ever seen in the Gardner Hollow Road area. Ahrens said the Mennella home is located on Beach Road and has no entrance on Gardner Hollow.

'Petty Technicality'

Interviewed Thursday in Poughkeepsie, Ahrens said, "Schoentag lived at Schmidt's Motel as these receipts indicate. He lived there during the time mentioned."

"What happened is that a story broke in the Poughkeepsie Journal on June 20th, which disclosed we intended to challenge his residency," Ahrens continued.

"In turn, he went to his former father-in-law and asked to be allowed to return. That's how he can now say he lives in the Town of Beekman. But it doesn't matter. Mennella doesn't live where Schoentag claims to reside," Ahrens concluded.

City Man Point Cadet Head

Cadet Mark A. Edelman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edelman of 102A Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, has been appointed a Cadet Captain at the U. S. Military Academy and will serve as a Regimental Commander in the U. S. Corps of Cadets during the current academic year.

As a Regimental Commander, Cadet Edelman is responsible for the discipline, internal administration and supply, training, morale, and general efficiency of his Regiment of approximately 825 cadets, one of four regiments in the 3,300 man cadet Brigade.

Central High School at Montgomery, Cadet Edelman received his appointment to the Military Academy from former representative Katharine St. George of New York.

A 1964 graduate of Valley

He expects to graduate next June with a Bachelor Science degree and a commission as a second lieutenant in the regular Army.

Must Rebuild Slums, Rocky to Industries

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Slum areas must be rebuilt to provide "an environment for decent citizens," Gov. Rockefeller said Friday night.

The Republican governor, speaking to businessmen attending the annual convention of Associated Industries of New York, said he hoped to interest the leaders of business and industry in investing private capital in rebuilding programs.

He said it was his hope that the Constitutional Convention would draft a "good" urban renewal article to help end problems generated in slums. Turning to another topic, Rockefeller said his proposed $2.5-billion transportation bond issue "should be viewed as an investment, rather than simply as expenditure."

Companies that count on good roads have invested $2.70 in plants and wages for every $1 spent on highways in the last 10 years, he said.

Rockefeller said studies by the State Transportation Department indicated that "a dollar spent in constructing transportation facilities generates $2.23 in economic activity." The bond issue, which will be on the ballot in the Nov. 7 election, would permit the state to borrow $1.25 billion for highways, $1 billion for mass transportation and $250 million for airport development.

McHugh Honored — Earlier Friday, the organization named Keith F. McHugh an honorary member of its Board of Directors. McHugh, former state commerce commissioner, is chairman of Action for Transportation in New York State Inc.

About 325 persons are attending the three-day convention, which ends today.

Prudential Agents May Strike Tuesday

Twenty-eight area insurance agents are slated to go on strike Tuesday morning against the Prudential Insurance Co. unless an agreement is reached over fringe benefits, wages and retirement.

The announcement came this morning from Tom Beckert, public relations director, Kingston Local 93, Insurance Workers International, AFL-CIO.

According to Beckert, members were polled Sept. 19 and voted unanimously for the walkout. However, Beckert said negotiations are presently being conducted in Washington.

Teamsters Postpone Strike Act

NEW YORK (AP) — Strike action by 40,000 Teamsters in the New York-New Jersey area was postponed early today—an hour after a midnight deadline—following a negotiating session lasting 8½ hours.

Another meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m. today.

Thomas E. Flynn, director of the Eastern Conference of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Independent, following the meeting which ended at 1 a.m., said the talks were still snagged on nine issues.

But, he added: "The door is open."

The dispute is between 16 teamster locals and five management groups. The teamsters contract expired after two extensions since Aug. 15.

A walkout could halt deliveries of newspaper and general freight throughout the New York metropolitan area, including Long Island and adjoining sections of New Jersey.

Walter Shea, international representative of the union, said the points still in dispute were: premium pay to plant workers; vacation credits; health, welfare and pension contributions; eight hours' time off before reporting back to work; union approval for a special commodity or steel haul; tightening of the discharge and suspension provision of the old contract; increased bereavement leave; senior employee option to refuse holiday work; and a ceiling on the number of owner-drivers working at one company.

Mailler Dies, Former GOP Senate Boss

CORNWALL, N.Y. (AP) — Lee B. Mailler, one time majority leader of the state Assembly and a leader in the field of public health, died Friday in Cornwall Hospital. He was 69.

Mailler, a Republican, was a 20-year veteran of the Assembly. He was first elected to the lower house in 1934 and served as majority leader from 1947 until he retired in 1954.

He was appointed to the State Parole Board following his retirement from the legislature and subsequently was elected its chairman by the members.

He resigned and returned to private life following a heart attack in 1958. Though afflicted with leukemia he remained active until he entered the hospital last Aug. 7.

In 1942 he was appointed special consultant to the U.S. Public Health Service for New York State and a year later then Thomas E. Dewey named him to the Morland Commission to investigate the Department of Mental Hygiene.

Funeral services will be held at the Cornwall on Hudson Presbyterian Church Monday afternoon. Burial will follow in the cemetery of the Highlands at Highland Mills.

Mailler leaves his wife, Marion. They had no children.

Pontiff Looks, Sounds Better, Has Audience

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — Looking and sounding better than he has in weeks, Pope Paul VI today held his first public audience since he was stricken with a urinary inflammation Sept. 4.

The Pontiff, who turns 70 in just three days, stood in the open air of a balcony overlooking a Vatican City courtyard crowded with 3,500 Croatian pilgrims from Yugoslavia.

In a firm voice the Pope spoke to the crowd, waved, gave his blessing and embraced Franjo Cardinal Seper, Archbishop of Zagreb.

Epilepsy Topic At WGHQ Forum

Dutchess or Ulster? In Court Action

By RAY TYSON
David C. Schoentag, chairman of the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors and Republican candidate for County Executive, is slated to appear in court Oct. 2 to show cause why his name shouldn't be stricken from the voter scrolls.

The action would be tantamount to removing the Town of Beekman supervisor from the ballot. Schoentag faces Robert Foucey, the Democrat candidate, in the Nov. election.

Two Say 'No'
Petitioning Schoentag and the Board of Elections are two Beekman residents, George Holzberger and Louise Allen. They claim the respondent was not a resident of the Town of Beekman on Primary Day, June 20, 1967.

According to information contained in the show cause order, Schoentag claims to be a resident of the Town of Beekman, Village of Poughkeepsie, living at Gardner Hollow Road. The order states that Schoentag listed Garden Hollow Road as his address when he registered, under permanent personal registration, January 19, 1967.

However, Holzberger and Allen say Schoentag, a native of Saugerties, was living at that address when he registered. The two contend he was then living at Schmidt's Motel, outside Highland, in Ulster County, and had been living there since Oct. 1, 1966. They claim he remained at the motel until Primary Day.

Photostatic copies of room receipts, alleged to be signed by Schoentag and attached to the order, do indicate that the Beekman Supervisor resided in Room 11 during the period in question. The photostats are marked as exhibits.

According to information on file in the Town of Beekman, Schoentag once did live at Gardner Hollow Road. However, the petitioners claim he hasn't lived there since his divorce in 1962. The house has now been sold to another party, records indicate.

Called 'Vindictiveness'
Schoentag told The Freeman Friday that the entire action was "vindictiveness." He said, "This matter is originating with Harold Ahrens, my opponent during the GOP primary, who I defeated better than 3 to 1. Several years ago I defeated Holzberger when he challenged my Supervisor's seat."

Schoentag said he still resides on Gardner Hollow Road, explaining he never meant to imply he occupied his former home, but that he has taken a new residency on that street.

Presently, Schoentag is living with his former father-in-law, Beekman Justice of the Peace John A. Mennella, who recently swore in a verified statement, signed July 11, 1967, that Schoentag has resided with him since 1962.

Schoentag said the Mennella home's front entrance is on Gardner Hollow Road, noting it sits on the corner of Beach Road and the Hollow, and that there is a garage entrance on the Beach Street side.

But Conrad Link, a Beekman resident, in a sworn affidavit also attached to the order said

Mennella's house was located on Beach Road. Link said he had a copy of the Dutchess County Board of Elections 1966 list of registered voters and that both Mennella and his wife, Mary, listed Beach Road as their address on the permanent personal registration cards.

Another affidavit, sworn to by Harold Ahrens, states Schoentag was under constant surveillance between Nov., 1966, through June 18, 1967, and that the respondent nor his automobile was ever seen in the Gardner Hollow Road area. Ahrens said the Mennella home is located on Beach Road and has no entrance on Gardner Hollow.

'Petty Technicality'
Interviewed Thursday in Poughkeepsie, Ahrens said, "Schoentag lived at Schmidt's Motel as these receipts indicate. He lived there during the time mentioned."

"What happened is that a story broke in the Poughkeepsie Journal on June 20th, which disclosed we intended to challenge his residency," Ahrens continued.

"In turn, he went to his former father-in-law and asked to be allowed to return. That's how he can now say he lives in the Town of Beekman. But it doesn't matter. Mennella doesn't live where Schoentag claims to reside," Ahrens concluded.

Schoentag termed the matter "... a petty technicality."

BOLAND — At Rifton, N. Y., September 21, 1967, Mrs. Katherine Boland of Post Road, Rifton, beloved mother of Mrs. Frances Mitchell and Mrs. Katherine Salmi; dear sister of Mrs. Alice Wilson; also surviving are 3 grand children and 4 great grandchildren.

Funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main Street, Rosendale, Monday at 9 a.m.; thence to St. Peter's Church, Rosendale at 9:30 a.m., where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. William Reynolds, of St. Joseph's Church, Spring Valley, a grand nephew of Mrs. Boland. The Rev. Robert D. Saccoman was the deacon and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard B. Curtin was the subdeacon. Mrs. Eleanor Sweeney was the soloist and sang the responses to the Mass assisted by James Sweeney, organist. During the Requiem, many called and there was a profusion of floral offerings and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, all attesting the high esteem in which she was held. Thursday, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Curtin called together with a large delegation of members of the Rosary Altar Society of St. Peter's Church, and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary and prayers for the dead. Burial took place in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, where Father Reynolds, assisted by Father Saccoman gave the final blessing. Bearers were: Felix Trandle, Leo Trandle, John Crookston, Earl Mack, Fred Mertine and Leo Curran.

Medicaid Program

When the 1966 Legislature enacted into law Medicaid, companion to the federal sponsored Medicare, a new way of life was envisioned for hundreds of thousands of deserving New Yorkers, who no longer would have to fear ruinous medical bills. But the calamitous burden upon the taxpayers for this revolutionary program was not considered.

Were there safeguards incorporated in the provisions of the bill to insure that only those entitled to aid would receive this security? Or was the legislation ill-conceived?

Controversy rages throughout the entire state over eligibility standards and costs.

This year, New York's total Medicaid bill is expected to be $738 million. The federal government will supply $276.9 million and the counties $210.5 million.

Here are some figures on Medicaid administration in Ulster County:

To date there are 5,065 applications with a backlog of 795 cases, which is getting bigger.

There are approximately 12 extra persons engaged and working on Medicaid here and new employees are required.

Raised in the 1967 budget was the sum of $1,500,000 for Medicaid, which was estimated to be sufficient, although there was no prior experience.

At the September 14 meeting of the Board of Supervisors, an additional $525,000 was voted to complete this year's program. Hopefully, it is expected that now the expenditures will be met.

Governor Rockefeller recently said he would urge the 1968 Legislature to authorize the state to assume any increase in local Medicaid costs beyond the level of local program for the 1967-68 fiscal year. The Governor said the state should offer its communities greater help in meeting the growing financial burden of this vital social program.

The Governor's pledge was made to county officials who had asked that the Medicaid program be curtailed.

Many of these officials declare that in order to avoid an unreasonable tax increase the fees of doctors and dentists must be cut. They also contend the fixed costs and liberal eligibility standards make higher taxes next to inevitable.

Citizens facing huge outlays of tax money are right in demanding that eligibility standards be changed and adequate safeguards against fraud be established.

Whether or not the state finances welfare costs, the taxpayers still must pay.

Budget of the U. S.

In his Budget Message last January, President Johnson began with the income budget, shifted to the administrative budget, mentioned the cash budget and wound up with a complaint that the available budget concepts do not adequately portray the activities of the federal Government.

No wonder there was confusion in reporting the budget. Outlays ranged from $135 billion of the administration budget to $177.4 billion of the cash budget. And deficits ranged from $2.1 billion of the cash budget to $8.1 billion of the administration budget.

As was to be expected, Republican leaders charged that this confusion created a credibility gap about the exact amount of the deficit. They charged the President with devious practices in his message for fiscal year 1968 by stressing national income accounts, showing a mere $2.1 billion deficit.

This spring, Johnson appointed a bipartisan commission to make up a budget formula that would reveal the actual condition of the government's finances. The commission has completed its work. It is now preparing a draft of "The Budget of the United States."

It will show actual spending and tax collections, including the income and outgo of Social Security, highways, medicare and other trust funds; and of all loans and loan repayments, which have been shown as grants or purchases in the past.

The new Budget of the United States may shock people because of the size of the income and outgo, but it will be an improvement on the budgets of past years and their confusing entries.

Close-Out Sale

It probably doesn't mean anything, but a report in the Los Angeles Times says that plastic busts of Mao Tse-tung have been marked down at stores run by the Communist party in Hong Kong.

Apparently, the Marxists have merely borrowed a leaf from capitalistic merchants, who are staging end-of-summer sales (a long, hot summer in the British colony, thanks to the Reds).

For a moment, though, the fond hope flickered that they know something we don't and are hurrying to clear their shelves of an item that's about to go out of style on the mainland.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Spending Beyond Our Means

Courageous Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D., Ark.) is telling his colleagues on the House Ways and Means Committee that the basic intent behind his opposition to President Johnson's 10 per cent super-tax proposal is to break the vicious circle.

Cutting through the economic fog, he sees this as the same old political rancor with just another ring around its tail: "Spend, spend, tax, tax; elect, elect."

Congressman Mills claims that if Mr. Johnson's money-calls were not for the Vietnam war it would be for something else. He points out that, year in and year out, the President refuses to establish priorities. No matter how much the taxpayers give the Great Society it's never enough.

Mr. Johnson's political pitches come in all shapes and sizes — the wide-breaking curve, the tantalizing kneller the beanball, and the fast one saved principally for the taxpayers. For political spenders who make hay in inflationary governments are always more willing to curb private spending (by taxes) than to reduce their overspending of the people's money.

By clamping down on the incoming funds (the only practical method), the powerful chairman in his key position is making a fight to end that abuse. Honor the brave!

With Mr. Johnson's War on poverty a local and national shambles, the Social Security and welfare programs loaded with corruption and abuse, worried Chairman Mills asks how long this prostitution of our Federal wealth can continue without wrecking every decent concept of our democratic system.

Chairman Mills insists that Washington is spending not only beyond its means but beyond ours.

The Tax Foundation, Inc., a respected independent research organization finds that even without Mr. Johnson's proposed super-tax the average American will devote two hours, 25 minutes of his eight-hour working day — every working day — this year to earn the money to pay his 1967 taxes.

The average U. S. family paid a total of $1,400 in taxes in 1956. In 1966 it paid $2,768 — an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

A 10,000-a-year-man (married, two children) is charged $978 in Federal income taxes. His present withholding is boosted to $277 from $174 in 1965 although his tax bill appears to remain the same. His withholding — money he must earn but never even sees — is now costing him about a third as much as his income taxes. If the employer's equal payment is included, it's two-thirds.

A $7,500-a-year-man, rejoicing because he's been given a $375 raise, is worse off this year than last year.

Blame Living Conditions

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — New surveys of Negro attitudes in Watts and other race-troubled areas point a finger directly on needed changes in our national riot-prevention programs.

University men who have completed new surveys of attitudes in Watts have found that the kind of home the Watts Negro lived in and the way he and his family kept up that home seemed to be significant. Twenty-eight per cent of those who lived in poorly-kept homes participated actively in the riots. Only 17 per cent of those who lived in well-kept homes participated.

First among the problems the Negroes in Watts worried about, the survey seemed to indicate, concerned housing and living conditions — dirty streets and dilapidated housing.

These problems ran well ahead of complaints over "discriminatory treatment," "police malpractice" and "bad race relations."

Though there was also Negro concern over the lack of jobs, seemingly, however, job concern was not as large an issue in Watts as living conditions. In fact, living conditions seemed in one way or another connected with other complaints.

For example, those people in Watts with poorly-kept homes tended more frequently to complain of "police malpractice" than those from well-kept homes. They complained, too, more about discrimination and price gouging.

Negroes in a number of surveys in various parts of the United States have indicated that rent gouging is also a major Negro worry. They say they pay higher rents for inferior slum-type, rat-infested housing than white people pay for better homes.

Note one: In Watts, at least, living conditions were a chief cause of complaint. Note two: Negro attitudes varied sharply between those who lived in well-kept (not necessarily better) homes and those who didn't.

Self-Help Program

This leads to the thought that a major step forward would be a heavy self-help program in which Negro families would be encouraged and helped to fix up the places in which they live.

"A can of paint here and a brush there have worked wonders in some places I've been," says one experienced worker with poor Negro groups.

Most of the men this reporter has talked to who believe in the self-help programs also believe these projects must be co-ordinated with drives to get owners of rented rundown houses and tenement buildings to raise markedly their standards of maintenance. In crowded areas it is usually impossible for each resident individually and on his own to successfully combat rats and faulty sanitary facilities. Individuals renting rundown residences are usually in no position to make structural repairs.

The experienced men talked to, however, believe this individual initiative, spurred on by citizens of the community, is much more effective than government slum clearance projects, they believe, often create new slums.

In areas surveyed by this reporter, middle-class Negroes complain they find it difficult to buy a good house in any neighborhood. It's a problem separate and apart from any desire to get into a white neighborhood (some want to and some don't). They also say they find it very difficult to secure bank loans to buy a house.

To summarize, the surveys indicate that solving the housing problem — or making it possible for Negroes to do more themselves to solve their housing problems — would be one major step toward preventing riots.

Vacationing Congressmen

WASHINGTON — The average American takes one vacation a year for about two weeks. The Senate and House of Representatives, however, have already taken three vacations this year — Easter, July 4 and Labor Day; plus two long weekends, Memorial day and Lincoln's Birthday.

In addition to this, numerous members from the Eastern area — notably New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New England — belong to the "Tuesday-Thursday Club," working only three days each week and staying away from Washington the rest of the time. Frequently they are busy taking care of law clients at home.

This has not helped the efficiency of Congress. In fact it has added to one of the worst legislative records in this decade.

One illustration is the Appalachia relief bill to help the mountain area extending along the range of the Appalachian Mountains from New York to Alabama, an area neglected for more than a century, where the illiteracy rate is higher than in the New York slums and where roads and communication have been so poor that the English dialects of 200 years ago can still be found. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt started to help this area 30 years ago. The war intervened and real help never got under way until President Johnson inaugurated his Appalachian program.

When the bill came up in the House, already trimmed down by the House Public Works Committee to $220 million over a two-year period, Rep. William "Clean Sheets" Cramer, R-Fla., offered an amendment cutting an additional $50 million.

Cramer comes from a beautiful resort area in western Florida easily accessible by federally financed highways which have not yet been built to Appalachia, and he personally has benefitted from a neat arrangement whereby the manager of his laundry company, Jack Inco, is on the federal Congressional payroll for $10,189 a year at the same time Cramer's firm has an $80,000 laundry contract with MacDill Air Force Base. Thus Cramer makes money from the government at the same time he pays his laundry manager out of government funds; also has kept a local printer, Carol S. Baron, on his office payroll so the U.S. taxpayers can pay his printing bill.

The Congressman from West Florida who benefitted from federal funds was opposed, however, to a health and vocational training program for poor mountaineers plus the restoration of old mining areas in the ridges of the Appalachians.

Record Absentee Vote

And thanks to a whopping number of 72 absentees, including 45 Democrats, his ripper amendment passed. Some of those recorded as not voting were actually in the corridors and cloak rooms of Congress and didn't bother to vote. Most, however, were enjoying extended Labor Day vacations. They had already taken ten days off at Labor Day, but seemed to feel they were entitled to a few days more.

Since this was an administration bill, and Democratic Congressmen were more obligated than Republicans to be on hand to vote, here is the roll call of Democrats who either stayed at home or at the bathing beaches or enjoyed life at mountain resorts when they were supposed to be on the House floor earning their salaries:

Wayne Aspinall, Colo., and Walter Baring, Nev., both of whom vote for big federally-financed grazing and forestry projects for the Far West; William Barrett, Pa., John Blatnik, Minn., John Brademas, Ind., George Brown, Calif., Earle Cabell, Tex., Hugh Carey and Manny Celler, both of Brooklyn, who favors big city projects; Jeff Cohelan, Calif., Emilio Daddario, Conn., Eligio de la Garza, Tex., who wants plenty of aid for Spanish-Americans; Bryan Dorn, S. C., Don Edwards, Calif., Michael Feighan, Ohio, one of the champion junketeers; Dan Flood, Pa., John Flynt, Ga., Thomas Foley, Wash., George Goodling, Pa., Edith Green, Ore., who wants more money spent at Oregon Navy installations; Martha Griffiths, Mich., who wants to protect cattle and hogs from inhumane slaughter; Edward Hebert, La., W. R. Hull, Mo., John McMillan,

S. C., George Miller, Calif., a big booster for funds for outer space; Wilbur Mills, Ark., Thomas Morris, N. M., and Abe Moulder of Brooklyn, who wants to be a New York Supreme Court judge; James O'Hara, Mich., Manton O'Neill, Ga., W. R. Poage, Tex., Graham Purcell, Tex., Mendel Rivers, S. C., Dan Rostenkowski, Ill., Bernard St. Germain, R. I., John Slack, W. Va., Neal Smith, Iowa, Leonor Sullivan, Mo., Al Ullman, Ore., Lionel Van Deerlin, Calif., Joe Waggoner, La., Jerome Waldie, Calif., Basil Whitener, N. C., whose district includes parts of Appalachia; Ed Willis, La., who put his nephew on the Un-American Activities Committee payroll; Charles Wilson, Calif., and Lester Wolff, N. Y., who votes for big city projects but was not around to vote for the mountaineers of Appalachia.

Rusk on China

When the six British Labor members of Parliament entered the State Department to see Secretary Rusk the other day they were jolted by the sign "Solicitors Prohibited." Most of them were "solicitors" — the British term for attorneys. Calling at a home in Georgetown they knocked at the "Tradesman's Entrance." This was appropriate, they said, because they were members of a British trade union.

They found Sen. Morton of Kentucky, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, to be very strong for peace, very much against the war in Vietnam. He cautioned that the President should not be underestimated, that he was a very able, tough political leader.

They asked Secretary Rusk four questions, of which the most important was: "You have stated that no one really knows what's going on inside China. Why then do you consider there is no danger of Chinese intervention in the war in Vietnam?"

Rusk replied that there is risk. War, he said, is a tough game. It's always dangerous. But he said he considers bombing North Vietnam, even when close to the Chinese border, a better alternative than allowing the North Vietnamese to operate in these areas immune from attack.

The World Today

United Nations Still Criticized on All Sides

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just a little over 22 years ago the United Nations was born in San Francisco. For a moment, with the anguish of the big war ending, it seemed this might be the beginning of a new world.

Capitalists and Communists cheered and old animosities were almost invisible, for a while.

Anyone who was there had lived through the years of war, worse than anything in history, and he knew man, if sensible enough, could find out of the fires of agony a peaceful way of life.

The machinery for quiet settlement of disputes, both new and ancient, was the foundation stone of this new United Nations, its primary purpose.

Even so, anyone there with his wits about him and a knowledge of history had to be skeptical. He could hope man at last had learned to live intelligently but history told him it was unlikely.

He knew man was still primitive, as World War II had just demonstrated, which meant that if now the nations seemed eager to eliminate conflict it was only because they were exhausted.

They needed time to catch

Chance to Change

Nevertheless, as the delegates at San Francisco finished their work, the whole non-Fascist world tingled a bit at the thought that here at last man had a chance to change his ways.

The tingle didn't last long, and there wasn't much reason for it. At the very moment of birth distrust and suspicion were written into the U.N. charter when the United States and Soviet Union insisted upon reserving the power to veto each other.

The United Nations had 51 members starting out and has 122 now. But it is in debt perhaps as much as $60 million because not all the members will pay what they owe.

And it didn't end war, after all. In some cases it has helped, as in Korea. In some it has been helpless, as in Vietnam. It has been criticized on all sides.

French President Charles DeGaulle called it the "Leaning Tower of Babel." Nikita Khrushchev called it the tool of colonial powers. A critic in the United States described it as a "Communist-dominated rat's nest."

It can help, sometimes, smother war fires in small nations. But it can do nothing if the big ones, like the United States and Soviet Union want to perform.

Arab-Israel War

Nothing shows better its dilapidated condition as the world's peacekeeper than what happened to it, and what it did, when the Arabs were ready to make war on Israel last June.

When U.N. troops, stationed a decade on Egyptian land as a buffer between Israel and Egypt, were told to "git" by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser they were withdrawn in a hurry by U. N. Secretary-General U Thant.

The brief war followed. When the 22nd session of the U. N. General Assembly opened Tuesday the retiring president, Abdul Raham Pazhwak of Afghanistan didn't waste time on illusions.

He told the delegates the past year "has been marked by increased tensions among nations and by a lamentable deterioration in the world situation."

In many areas and on many levels, he said, "the psychology of force has swept the minds of men and nations."

Perhaps the United Nations' only hope is that if it can last long enough, although that may require centuries, nations eventually may become civilized enough to settle a dispute with tongues instead of tanks.

Gun Bill Makes Progress

By CHARLES NICODEMUS
(2nd Story)

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — The Administration's long-stalled controversial gun control bill finally is making legislative progress, but only because that's what its opponents want.

The bill was in the hands of the Senate Judiciary Committee today after Sen. Thomas Dodd's Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee voted approval of the measure, 5-4, late yesterday.

However critics of the bill reportedly had only one motive in agreeing to a vote on the measure, even though the full record of hearings on the proposal has not yet been printed.

Opponents privately conceded that they temporarily dropped their roadblock because they feared that if they didn't permit some action, the pressure for the House to start moving the bill would be irresistible.

In a bit of complex but all-important legislative maneuvering, administration forces in the House are preparing to push the bill through the sympathetic Judiciary Committee as a revision to the Federal Criminal Code.

But opponents want the bill, which would be administered primarily by the Treasury Department, to be funneled through the more hostile Ways & Means Committee, which at best might approve only a watered down version.

Last week, President Johnson stepped up pressure on Congress for action, with a speech before the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, and a strongly worded letter to House and Senate leaders.

Opponents of the measure were hopeful that the forward action on the Senate side yesterday would be enough to prevent action on the House side, at least for the time being.

The bill's chief Senate opponent, Roman Hruska (R-Neb.), predicted that he had the votes in the full Judiciary Committee to keep the measure bottled up.

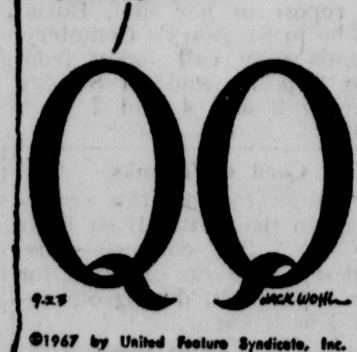

But Dodd (D-Conn.) and backers Joseph Tydings (D-Md.), and Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) warned that if they were stalled in the Judiciary Committee, they would seek to attach the measure as a rider to some other measure that the gun bill's opponents favor.

High on that list is the House-passed anti-riot bill, which the Judiciary Committee is now shaping.

The administration's proposal would ban all mail order sales of firearms, impose stringent controls on the over-the-counter sale of handguns, and bar the importation of most military surplus weapons.

It probably doesn't mean anything, but a report in the Los Angeles Times says that plastic busts of Mao Tse-tung have been marked down at stores run by the Communist party in Hong Kong.

Apparently, the Marxists have merely borrowed a leaf from capitalistic merchants, who are staging end-of-summer sales (a long, hot summer in the British colony, thanks to the Reds).

For a moment, though, the fond hope flickered that they know something we don't and are hurrying to clear their shelves of an item that's about to go out of style on the mainland.

Spending Beyond Our Means

Courageous Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D., Ark.) is telling his colleagues on the House Ways and Means Committee that the basic intent behind his opposition to President Johnson's 10 per cent super-tax proposal is to break the vicious circle.

Cutting through the economic fog, he sees this as the same old political ruse with just another ring around its tail: "Spend, spend, tax, tax; elect, elect."

Congressman Mills claims that if Mr. Johnson's money-call were not for the Vietnam war it would be for something else. He points out that, year in and year out, the President refuses to establish priorities. No matter how much the taxpayers give the Great Society it's never enough.

Mr. Johnson's political pitches come in all shapes and sizes — the wide-breaking curve, the tantalizing knuckler, the beanball, and the fast one saved principally for the taxpayers. For political spenders who make hay in inflationary governments are always more willing to curb private spending (by taxes) than to reduce their overspending of the people's money.

By clamping down on the incoming funds (the only practical method), the powerful chairman in his key position is making a fight to end that abuse. Honor the brave!

With Mr. Johnson's War on poverty a local and national shambles, the Social Security and welfare programs loaded with corruption and abuse, worried Chairman Mills asks how long this prostitution of our Federal wealth can continue without wrecking every decent concept of our democratic system.

Chairman Mills insists that Washington is spending not only beyond its means but beyond ours.

The Tax Foundation, Inc., a respected independent research organization finds that even without Mr. Johnson's proposed super-tax the average American will devote two hours, 25 minutes of his eight-hour working day — every working day — this year to earn the money to pay his 1967 taxes.

The average U. S. family paid a total of $1,400 in taxes in 1956. In 1966 it paid $2,768 — an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

A 10,000-a-year-man (married, two children) is charged $978 in Federal income taxes. His present withholding is boosted to $277 from $174 in 1965 although his tax bill appears to remain the same. His withholding — money he must earn but never even sees — is now costing him about a third as much as his income taxes. If the employer's equal payment is included, it's two-thirds.

A $7,500-a-year-man, rejoicing because he's been given a $375 raise, is worse off this year than last year.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Sept. 23, 1947—Four young women from Lake Mohonk were injured when a tree fell on their car in Highland.

Final plans of the reopening of North Front Street after its repaving were disclosed.

Sept. 23, 1957 — A Hurley grocer was robbed of $150 over the weekend by two men with a sawed-off shotgun.

Woodstock Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons was nominated for reelection on the Republican ticket.

veys in various parts of the United States have indicated that rent gouging is also a major Negro worry. They say they pay higher rents for inferior slum-type, rat-infested housing than white people pay for better homes.

Note one: In Watts, at least, living conditions were a chief cause of complaint. Note two: Negro attitudes varied sharply between those who lived in well-kept (not necessarily better) homes and those who didn't.

Self-Help Program

This leads to the thought that a major step forward would be a heavy self-help program in which Negro families would be encouraged and helped to fix up the places in which they live.

"A can of paint here and a

As a result of the raise, his Federal taxes are $147 higher, his Social Security tax is $40 higher, his state and local taxes average $31 higher. This still looks like a gain of $115 from the raise but, oh, no, the three per cent rise in the cost of living means an appalling $181 to the workman and his family — or a loss compared to last year of $24. This is the Great Society?

Meanwhile, the $600 tax exemption we taxpaying peasants are allowed is what the tax collectors permit us as the total cost of feeding, clothing, housing and educating the average dependent in 1967, or every other member of the taxpayer's family, for a year.

This is exactly what it was supposed to cost 105 years ago. When the income tax was first proposed in 1862 the cost of living was calculated at $600 a year. The income tax was abolished five years later. Then when an income tax was sneaked back as a hidden rider in a tariff bill in 1913 the cost-of-living exemption was adjusted to $3,000, or five times today's $600 allowance.

Only during World War II, at $500, has the allowance been below $600, although costs have multiplied again and again. Even during the depression the taxpayer's living cost allowance was $1,000 per year. And that, of itself, was 35 years ago.

Chairman Mills has repeatedly tried to change this obvious unfairness to us all. He has always been blocked. Now he needs and deserves a nationwide roar of support in his attempt to cut the government nonsense and waste that appears to make Mr. Johnson's super-tax needed.

brush there have worked wonders in some places I've been," says one experienced worker with poor Negro groups.

Most of the men this reporter has talked to who believe in the self-help programs also believe these projects must be co-ordinated with drives to get owners of rented rundown houses and tenement buildings to raise markedly their standards of maintenance. In crowded areas it is usually impossible for each resident individually and on his own to successfully combat rats and faulty sanitary facilities. Individuals renting rundown residences are usually in no position to make structural repairs.

The experienced men talked to, however, believe this individual initiative, spurred on by citizens of the community, is much more effective than government slum clearance. Slum clearance projects, they believe, often create new slums.

In areas surveyed by this reporter, middle-class Negroes complain they find it difficult to buy a good house in any neighborhood. It's a problem separate and apart from any desire to get into a white neighborhood (some want to and some don't). They also say they find it very difficult to secure bank loans to buy a house.

To summarize, the surveys indicate that solving the housing problem — or making it possible for Negroes to do more themselves to solve their housing problems — would be one major step toward preventing riots.

Vacationing Congressmen

WASHINGTON — The average American takes one vacation a year for about two weeks. The Senate and House of Representatives, however, have already taken three vacations this year — Easter, July 4 and Labor Day; plus two long weekends, Memorial Day and Lincoln's Birthday.

In addition to this, numerous members from the Eastern area — notably New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New England — belong to the "Tuesday-Thursday Club," working only three days each week and staying away from Washington the rest of the time. Frequently they are busy taking care of law clients at home.

This has not helped the efficiency of Congress. In fact it has added to one of the worst legislative records in this decade.

One illustration is the Appalachia relief bill to help the mountain area extending along the range of the Appalachian Mountains from New York to Alabama, an area neglected for more than a century, where the illiteracy rate is higher than in the New York slums and where roads and communication have been so poor that the English dialects of 200 years ago can still be found. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt started to help this area 30 years ago. The war intervened and real help never got under way until President Johnson inaugurated his Appalachia program.

When the bill came up in the House, already trimmed down by the House Public Works Committee to $220 million over a two-year period, Rep. William "Clean Sheets" Cramer, R-Fla., offered an amendment cutting an additional $50 million.

Cramer comes from a beautiful resort area in western Florida easily accessible by federally financed highways which have not yet been built to Appalachia; and he personally has benefitted from a neat arrangement whereby the manager of his laundry company, Jack Inco, is on the federal Congressional payroll for $10,189 a year at the same time Cramer's firm has an $80,000 laundry contract with MacDill Air Force Base. Thus Cramer makes money from the government at the same time he pays his laundry manager out of government funds; also has kept a local printer, Carol S. Baron, on his office payroll to the U.S. taxpayers can pay his printing bill.

The Congressmen from West Florida who benefitted from federal funds was opposed, however, to a health and vocational training program for poor mountaineers plus the restoration of old mining areas in the ridges of the Appalachians.

Record Absentee Vote

And thanks to a whopping number of 72 absentees, including 45 Democrats, his ripper amendment passed. Some of those recorded as not voting were actually in the corridors and cloak rooms of Congress and didn't bother to vote. Most, however, were enjoying extended Labor Day vacations. They had already taken ten days off at Labor Day, but seemed to feel they were entitled to a few days more.

Since this was an administration bill and Democratic Congressmen were more obligated than Republicans to be on hand to vote, here is the roll call of Democrats who either stayed at home or at the bathing beaches or enjoyed life at mountain resorts when they were supposed to be on the House floor earning their salaries:

Wayne Aspinall, Colo., and Walter Baring, Nev., both of whom vote for big federally-financed grazing and forestry projects for the Far West; William Barrett, Pa., John Blatnik, Minn., John Brademas, Ind., George Brown, Calif., Earle Cabell, Tex.; Hugh Carey, and Marjorie Cramer, R-Fla., who favor big city projects; Jeff Cohelan, Calif., Emilio Daddario, Conn., Eligio de la Garza, Tex., who wants plenty of aid for Spanish-Americans; Bryan Dorn, S. C., Don Edwards, Calif., Michael Feighan, Ohio, one of the champion junketeers; Dan Flood, Pa., John Flynt, Ga., Thomas Foley, Wash., George Goodling, Pa., Edith Green, Ore., who wants more money spent at Oregon Navy installations; Martha Griffiths, Mich., who wants to protect cattle and hogs from inhumane slaughter; Edward Hebert, La., W. R. Hull, Mo., John McMillan,

S. C. George Miller, Calif., a big booster for funds for outer space; Wilbur Mills, Ark., Thomas Morris, N. M., and Abe Muller of Brooklyn, who wants to be a New York Supreme Court judge; James O'Hara, Mich., Merton O'Neil, Ga., W. R. Poage, Tex., Graham Purcell, Tex., Mendel Rivers, S. C., Dan Rostenkowski, Ill., Ferdinand St. Germain, R. I., John Slack, W. Va., Neal Smith, Iowa, Leonor Sullivan, Mo., Al Ullman, Ore., Lionel Van Deerlin, Calif., Joe Waggoner, La., Jerome Walde, Calif., Basil Whitener, N. C., whose district includes parts of Appalachia; Ed Willis, La., who put his nephew on the United States Activities Committee payroll; Charles Wilson, Calif., and Lester Wolf, N. Y., who votes for big city projects but was not around to vote for the mountaineers of Appalachia.

Rusk on China

When the six British Labor members of Parliament entered the State Department to see Secretary Rusk the other day they were jolted by the sign "Solicitors Prohibited." Most of them were "solicitors"—the British term for attorneys. Calling at a home in Georgetown they knocked at the "Tradesman's Entrance." This was appropriate, they said, because they were members of a British trade union.

They found Sen. Morton of Kentucky, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, to be very strong for peace, very much against the war in Vietnam. He cautioned that the President should not be under-estimated, that he was a very able, tough political leader.

They asked Secretary Rusk four questions, of which the most important was: "You have stated that no one really knows what's going on inside China. Why then do you consider there is no danger of Chinese intervention in the war in Vietnam?"

Rusk replied that there is risk. War, he said, is a tough game. It's always dangerous. But he said he considers bombing North Vietnam, even when close to the Chinese border, a better alternative than allowing the North Vietnamese to operate in these areas immune from attack.

The World Today

United Nations Still Criticized on All Sides

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just a little over 22 years ago the United Nations was born in San Francisco. For a moment, with the anguish of the big war ending, it seemed this might be the beginning of a new world.

Capitalists and Communists cheered and old animosities were almost invisible, for a while.

Anyone who was there had lived through the years of war, worse than anything in history, and he knew mankind, if sensible enough, could forge out of the fires of agony a peaceful way of life.

The machinery for quiet settlement of disputes, both new and ancient, was the foundation stone of this new United Nations, its primary purpose.

Even so, anyone there with his wits about him and a knowledge of history had to be skeptical. He could hope man at last had learned to live intelligently but history told him it was unlikely.

He knew man was still primitive, as World War II had just demonstrated, which meant that if now the nations seemed eager to eliminate conflict it was only because they were exhausted. They needed time to catch their breath, like a professional fighter who is knocked flat on his back and then gets up off the floor again, shaking the fuzz out of his head, until he is ready to go again.

Chance to Change

Nevertheless, as the delegates at San Francisco finished their work, the whole non-Fascist world tingled a bit at the thought that here at last man had a chance to change his ways.

The tingle didn't last long, and there wasn't much reason for it. At the very moment of birth distrust and suspicion were written into the U.N. charter when the United States and Soviet Union insisted upon reserving the power to veto each other.

The United Nations had 51 members starting out and has 122 now. But it is in debt perhaps as much as $60 million because not all the members will pay what they owe.

And it didn't end war, after all. In some cases it has helped, as in Korea. In some it has been helpless, as in Vietnam. It has been criticized on all sides.

French President DeGaulle called it the "Leaning Tower of Babel." Nikita Khrushchev called it the tool of colonial powers. A critic in the United States described it as a "Communist-dominated rat's nest."

It can help, sometimes, another war fires in small nations. But it can do nothing if the big ones, like the United States and Soviet Union want to perform.

Arab-Israel War

Nothing shows better its dilapidated condition as the world's peacekeeper than what happened to it, and what it did, when the Arabs were ready to make war on Israel last June.

When U.N. troops, stationed a decade on Egyptian land as a buffer between Israel and Egypt, were told to "git" by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser they were withdrawn in a hurry by U. N. Secretary-General U Thant.

The brief war followed. When the 22nd session of the U. N. General Assembly opened Tuesday the retiring president, Abdul Raham Pazhwak of Afghanistan didn't waste time on illusions.

He told the delegates the past year "has been marked by increased tensions among nations and by a lamentable deterioration in the world situation."

In many areas and on many levels, he said, "the psychology of force has swept the minds of men and nations."

Perhaps the United Nations' only hope is that if it can last long enough, although that may require centuries, nations eventually may become civilized enough to settle a dispute with tongues instead of tanks.

Gun Bill Makes Progress

By CHARLES NICODEMUS
(2nd Story)
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — The Administration's long-stalled controversial gun control bill finally is making legislative progress, but only because that's what its opponents want.

The bill was in the hands of the full Senate Judiciary Committee today after Sen. Thomas Dodd's Judiciary Committee voted approval of the measure, 5-4, late yesterday.

However critics of the bill reportedly had only one motive in agreeing to a vote on the measure, even though the full record of hearings on the proposal has not yet been printed.

Opponents privately conceded that they temporarily dropped their roadblock because they feared that if they didn't permit some action on the Senate side yesterday would be

House to start moving the bill would be irretrievable.

In a bit of complex but all-important legislative maneuvering, administration forces in the House are preparing to push the bill through the sympathetic Judiciary Committee as a revision to the Federal Criminal Code.

But opponents want the bill, which would be administered primarily by the Treasury Department, to be funneled through the more hostile Ways & Means Committee, which at worst might approve only a watered down version.

Last week, President Johnson stepped up pressure on Congress for action, with a speech before the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, and a strongly worded letter to House and Senate leaders. Opponents of the measure were hopeful that the forward action on the Senate side yesterday would be enough to prevent action on the House side, at least for the time being.

The bill's chief Senate opponent, Roman Hruska (R-Neb.), predicted that he had the votes in the full Judiciary Committee to keep the measure bottled up.

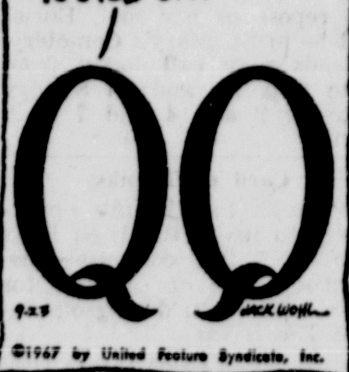

But Dodd (D-Conn.) and backers Joseph Tydings (D-Md.) and Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) warned that if they were stalled in the Judiciary Committee, they would seek to attach the measure as a rider to some other measure that the gun bill's opponents favor.

High on that list is the House-passed anti-riot bill, which the Judiciary Committee is now shaping.

The administration's proposal would ban all mail order sales of firearms. Impose stringent controls on the over-the-counter sale of handguns, and bar the importation of most military surplus weapons.

Westmoreland Assessment:

Viet Troopers Are Improving

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, says the South Vietnamese army is "not fully effective, the way I want it to be, but they're better than they were a year ago."

Criticism of the South Vietnamese army has mounted in recent weeks in view of the deepening American commitment of troops.

Westmoreland gave his views in an exclusive interview with an Associated Press newsmen who spent a day with him this week touring U.S. military installations.

Notes Problems

Westmoreland said that among the major problems facing the South Vietnamese army are "corruption, their fear of night fighting and leadership weakness."

Heavy casualties suffered by its officer corps have contributed to the leadership weakness in the South Vietnamese army, he asserted.

South Vietnamese headquarters does not give out specific military battle casualties for each individual battle as the U.S. Command does for American casualties. Instead, the South Vietnamese headquarters characterizes them as light, moderate or heavy. When specific casualty numbers are obtainable from field reports or other sources they are generally carried by the press. Each week, South Vietnamese Headquarters issues a summary giving the total number of dead, wounded and missing for the preceding seven-day period. These weekly summaries are carried along with the American weekly total casualty figures.

Leadership Key Woe

"Leadership is a big problem," Westmoreland went on. Asked to what extent U.S. officers could be used to bridge this gap, Westmoreland replied: "As much as the traffic will bear. It will now bear more than it did a year ago."

It used to be, the general continued, that American officers working in leadership capacities with South Vietnamese units were resented by the government troops and officer corps.

"Now we have developed procedures that beat this resistance," Westmoreland said. "Now that I've got enough troops here to do the job, we're much closer with the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) than ever before. They're gaining increasing self-confidence."

Westmoreland said that while not all South Vietnamese units "have achieved success, my opinion of them is based on positive and negative impressions. And over-all, the outcome is positive."

Says Criticism Outdated

Much recent criticism of South Vietnamese forces is "outdated," he added. "Perhaps a year ago it might have been true, but not so today."

During a briefing at Ham Tam, the remote capital of rural Binh Tuy Province, the province chief reported to Westmoreland several incidents of South Vietnamese victories and initiatives taken recently throughout the province. Nodding his head, Westmoreland commented: "This would have been unheard of even six months ago."

As to the progress of the conflict: "This is a complicated war. It's part of a complicated situation."

The thinking that is leading to increasing antiwar sentiment in the United States and other countries is "anachronistic," he said. "Because you can make a case for not getting involved here in 1954, the thinking follows that we should pull out now. But I cannot conceive in my wildest imagination of abandoning these people." The general attributed much antiwar thinking to "intellectuals." He complained that "Most of their background is so one-sided."

The North Vietnamese are encouraged by lack of U.S. support from home, Westmoreland said.

Ridge School Designed for 3-5 Kiddies

The newly formed Stone Ridge Cooperative Nursery School is in full operation after formal opening ceremonies last week.

The school is a non-sectarian, non-profit organization specifically designed to meet the needs of children between the ages of three and five.

Classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday 9 to 11:30 a. m. at Christ the King Episcopal Church, Stone Ridge. The nursery school will follow the public school calendar for closings, holidays and vacations.

Mrs. William Schwarz, a former kindergarten teacher at the Marletown Elementary School, is the nursery school teacher. She is assisted by parents of enrolled children on a rotating basis.

Children enrolled for this year are Mary Frances Bushnell, Dennis Conrad, David Davenport, Margaret Davenport, Robert Diamond, Robert Fuhr, Betsy Grenda, Scott Herington, Scott Kuster, Tracy Lasher, Laurinda MacKinnon, Mary Kay Miller, Mary Matthews Skalla, Eileen Sullivan, Thomas Thornton, Tony Tocco and Kristin Tully.

Children may be placed on a waiting list for September, 1968 by contacting Mrs. Robert Diamond of Stone Ridge.

Clean Air Group to Meet Thursday

The Ulster County Citizens' Committee for Clean Air will meet Thursday, Sept. 28, at 8 p. m. in the supervisors room of the Ulster County Office Building to continue plans to combat air pollution in Ulster County and surrounding areas.

It is anticipated that representatives from the Common Council, the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, the Ulster County Health Valley Conservation Society will be present.

At the last meeting of the committee, problems in East Kingston were discussed. A formal organization of this committee is planned at this meeting and all officials and residents of Ulster County are invited.

500 Boys Give Life To West's Ghost City

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP) — About 500 boys have been given their own chunk of the Old West—a crumbling ghost town in Montana's North Moccasin Mountains.

Lewistown resident Glenn Morton, who for years had been buying portions of an abandoned town site in hopes of preserving it, first offered half of the original community of Kendall, north of Lewistown, to the State of Montana. When Montana officials declined his offer, Morton found an enthusiastic recipient in the North-Central Montana Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The town is about to return to life. Wielding most of the tools the city's pioneer settlers used to search for gold, the youths will attack the dormant town, cleaning streets, resetting foundations, oiling doors and splashing a new coat of paint over cracked lumber.

"The boys aren't the only ones excited about the town," said Beryl Morris, Grad Falls and most of all, to watch 500 scout executives. "I think the boys bring youth to a city that prospect of owning a ghost town was dying of old age."

Today in History

Today is Saturday, Sept. 23, the 266th day of 1967. There are 39 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, Richard Nixon, campaigning for the vice presidency, went on nationwide radio and television to refute allegations of wrong-doing in accepting an $18,000 "expense fund."

In 1789, the U.S. Supreme Court was established.

In 1806, Lewis and Clark completed their expedition to explore territory west of the Mississippi River.

In 1845, the first baseball club in the United States, the Knickerbocker Club of New York, was organized.

Mass. Pike Boosts Tolls

BOSTON (AP) — An increase in tolls on the Massachusetts Turnpike, effective Oct. 1, was announced Thursday by Chairman John T. Driscoll of the Turnpike Authority.

He said the toll hike was necessary because of "rising costs of operation and maintenance which have more than doubled" in the 10 years the road has been in existence.

Driscoll said it was estimated the increases would bring an additional $1 million a year.

The new schedule calls for a 25 cents boost in the toll for motorists traveling the 123 miles from Route 128 to the New York State line; 10 cents additional between Route 128 and Sturbridge.

Tolls on the Boston extension, Driscoll said, will be increased five cents at the Allston interchange for through traffic.

Firemen Balk Despite Plea About Boy, 3

LINDENWOLD, N.J. (AP) — The parents of a 3-year-old boy with heart disease living 150 feet from Lindenwold's fire sirens—have been told by the boy's doctor that he could die if he is subjected to continued sudden, loud noises.

And the siren makes sudden, loud noises.

Mayor David Ernst, siding with the boy, Thomas Roselli, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Roselli, has suggested that the fire siren be moved 400 or 500 feet.

Firemen have objected to the mayor's suggestion and a spokesman for the fire fighters say they'll strike if the siren is moved. The firemen claim they wouldn't be able to hear the siren if it is moved from its present location.

Major Quackenbush received the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC), 10 Air Medals and the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal for action in Southeast Asia.

He received the DFC for extraordinary achievement as an F-4C Phantom II pilot near Dak To, Vietnam. The captain defended a U. S. Army unit

Simone Promoted

Philip P. Simone Jr., 19, whose parents live on Route 2, Highland, was promoted to Army Private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 8.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

During advanced individual training, also of eight weeks duration, those who received early advancement to E-2 may be eligible for another "accelerated" promotion, to E-3 (private first class).

His wife, Lenora, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Craft of Riverdale, N. D.

Craig Aboard

Communications Yeoman Seaman Wayne A. Craig, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craig of Route 4, Kingston, saw his ship receive its third award for aviation safety and accident prevention as a crewman aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Intrepid operating in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

Vice Admiral John J. Hyland, Commander of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, presented the 1967 Admiral James H. Flatley Award to Intrepid's Commanding Officer Captain W. J. McVey, during formal ceremonies on the carrier's flight deck.

Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, Chief of Naval Operations, sent a statement from Washington for the occasion. The Admiral noted that the award is in "recognition of outstanding achievement in accident prevention during attack carrier operations."

He further noted that "the accomplishment of this record is a direct reflection on the effort which was required of Intrepid's crew."

The Intrepid has previously won this award in 1961 and again in 1964.

Ryan Assigned

Army Second Lieutenant John W. Ryan, 23, son of Mrs. Frances Ryan, Weeds Mill Road, Highland, was assigned to the 196th Infantry Brigade, Sept. 1 at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Lt. Ryan, a platoon leader in the brigade, entered the Army in November 1965.

Peller in ROTC

Richard Peller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peller of Kingston, a freshman at Rutgers, The State University, has enrolled as a basic cadet in the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps.

The Air Force ROTC program is a four year course of instruction leading to a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

A 1967 graduate of Kingston High School, Cadet Peller this year will study the position of the United States in world affairs, the history of the United States Air Force, and the responsibilities and duties of the Air Force Officer. On the drill field he will be afforded the opportunity to develop leadership by executing and issuing commands.

Cadet Peller will also have the opportunity to participate in various Air Force ROTC extracurricular activities, including AFROTC Band, the Cadet Chorus, the Air Commandos, the pistol team, or the national champion drill team from Rutgers, The Queens Guard.

Davenport Rated

Philip G. Davenport, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Davenport, Stone Ridge, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 9.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

During advanced individual training, also of eight weeks duration, those who received early advancement to E-2 may be eligible for another "accelerated" promotion, to E-3 (private first class).

He is a 1965 graduate of Cornell University at Ithaca, where he received his BA degree.

Trains at Point

CADET BROOKE W. JENKINS, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Jenkins Sr., 29 Grandview Ave., Kingston, uses a hand radio on a practice exercise during summer training at Camp Buckner on the Military Academy Reservation, West Point.

The third classman (sophomore) has participated in eight weeks of intensive training designed to instruct him in the capabilities and use of combat arms. The programs, which ended Aug. 25, included day and night patrolling, mountain climbing, hand-to-hand combat and practical experience in how to survive in the field.

FIRE FIGHTING IN NEW PALTZ—New Paltz College staff members learn use of carbon dioxide fire extinguisher to put out an oil fire at a recent demonstration on the campus conducted by the NYS Division of Fire Safety.

Assisting is Hilary Schultz, Kingston area representative from the state fire safety group, who met with over 200 employees during the two days of demonstrations.

Westmoreland Assessment:

Viet Troopers Are Improving

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, says the South Vietnamese army is "not fully effective, the way I want it to be, but they're better than they were a year ago."

Criticism of the South Vietnamese army has mounted in recent weeks in view of the deepening American commitment of troops.

Westmoreland gave his views in an exclusive interview with an Associated Press newsman who spent a day with him this week touring U.S. military installations.

Notes Problems
Westmoreland said that among the major problems facing the South Vietnamese army are "corruption, their fear of night fighting and leadership weakness."

Heavy casualties suffered by its officer corps have contributed to the leadership weakness in the South Vietnamese army, he asserted.

South Vietnamese headquarters does not give out specific military battle casualties for each individual battle as the U.S. Command does for American casualties. Instead, the South Vietnamese headquarters characterizes them as light, moderate or heavy. When specific casualty numbers are obtainable from field reports or other sources they are generally carried by the press. Each week, South Vietnamese Headquarters issues a summary giving the total number of dead, wounded and missing for the preceding seven-day period. These weekly summaries are carried along with the American weekly total casualty figures.

Leadership Key Woe

"Leadership is a big problem," Westmoreland went on. Asked to what extent U.S. officers could be used to bridge this gap, Westmoreland replied: "As much as the traffic will bear, it will now bear more than it did a year ago."

It used to be, the general continued, that American officers working in leadership capacities with South Vietnamese units were resented by the government troops and officer corps.

"Now we have developed procedures that beat this resistance," Westmoreland said. "Now that I've got enough troops here to do the job, we're much closer with the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) than ever before. They're gaining increasing self-confidence."

Westmoreland said that while not all South Vietnamese units "have achieved success, my opinion of them is based on positive and negative impressions. And over-all, the outcome is positive."

Says Criticism Outdated

Much recent criticism of South Vietnamese forces is "outdated," he added. "Perhaps a year ago it might have been true, but not so today."

During a briefing at Ham Tam, the remote capital of rural Binh Tuy Province, the province chief reported to Westmoreland several incidents of South Vietnamese victories and initiatives taken recently throughout the province. Nodding his head, Westmoreland commented: "This would have been unheard of even six months ago."

As to the progress of the conflict, "This is a complicated war. It's part of a complicated situation."

The thinking that is leading to increasing antiwar sentiment in the United States and other countries is "anachronistic," he said. "Because you can make a case for not getting involved here in 1954, the thinking follows that we should pull out now. But I cannot conceive in my wildest imagination of abandoning these people." The general attributed much antiwar thinking to "intellectuals." He complained that "Most of their background is so one-sided."

The North Vietnamese are encouraged by lack of U.S. support from home, Westmoreland said.

Ridge School Designed for 3-5 Kiddies

The newly formed Stone Ridge Cooperative Nursery School is in full operation after formal opening ceremonies last week.

The school is a non-sectarian, non-profit organization specifically designed to meet the needs of children between the ages of three and five.

Classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday 9 to 11:30 a. m. at Christ the King Episcopal Church, Stone Ridge. The nursery school will follow the public school calendar for closings, holidays and vacations.

Mrs. William Schwarz, a former kindergarten teacher at the Marletown Elementary School, is the nursery school teacher. She is assisted by parents of enrolled children on a rotating basis.

Children enrolled for this year are Mary Frances Bushnell, Dennis Conrad, David Davenport, Margaret Davenport, Robert Diamond, Robert Fuhr, Betsy Grenda, Scott Herrington, Scott Kuster, Tracy Lasher, Laurinda MacKinnon, Mary Kay Miller, Mary Sass, Matthew Skalla, Eileen Sullivan, Thomas Thornton, Tony Tocco and Kristin Tully.

Children may be placed on a waiting list for September, 1968 by contacting Mrs. Robert Diamond of Stone Ridge.

Clean Air Group to Meet Thursday

The Ulster County Citizens' Committee for Clean Air will meet Thursday, Sept. 28, at 8 p. m. in the supervisors room of the Ulster County Office Building to continue plans to combat air pollution in Ulster County and surrounding areas.

It is anticipated that representatives from the Common Council, the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, the Ulster County Health Department, the Hudson River Valley Commission, and the Hudson River Conservation Society will be present.

At the last meeting of the committee, problems in East Kingston were discussed. A formal organization of this committee is planned at this meeting and all officials and residents of Ulster County are invited.

Vast Public Domain

The vast National Park System of the United States contains 27.5 million acres, stretching from majestic Mt. McKinley in Alaska to the beaches of the Virgin Islands in the Caribbean and from Hawaii's fiery volcanoes to the rocky coast of Maine. This huge public domain contains 33 national parks and 225 other areas.

500 Boys Give Life To West's Ghost City

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP) — About 500 boys have been given their own chunk of the Old West—a crumbling ghost town in Montana's North Moccasin Mountains.

Lewistown resident Glenn Morton, who for years had been buying portions of an abandoned town site in hopes of preserving it, first offered half of the original community of Kendall, north of Lewistown, to the State of Montana. When Montana officials declined his offer, Morton found an enthusiastic recipient in the North-Central Montana Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The town is about to return to life. Welding most of the tools the city's pioneer settlers used to search for gold, the youths will attack the dormant town, cleaning streets, resetting foundations, oiling doors and splashing a new coat of paint over cracked lumber.

"The boys aren't the only ones excited about the town," said Beryl Morris, Great Falls scout executives. "I think the prospect of owning a ghost town

Today in History

Today is Saturday, Sept. 23, the 266th day of 1967. There are 99 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, Richard Nixon, campaigning for the vice presidency, went on nationwide radio and television to refute allegations of wrongdoing in accepting an $18,000 "expense fund."

In 1789, the U.S. Supreme Court was established.

In 1806, Lewis and Clark completed their expedition to explore territory west of the Mississippi River.

In 1845, the first baseball club in the United States, the Knickerbocker Club of New York was organized.

Mass. Pike Boosts Tolls

BOSTON (AP) — An increase in tolls on the Massachusetts Turnpike, effective Oct. 1, was announced Thursday by Chairman John T. Driscoll of the Turnpike Authority.

He said the toll hike was necessary because of "rising costs of operation and maintenance which have more than doubled" in the 10 years the road has been in existence.

Driscoll said it was estimated the increases would bring an additional $1 million a year.

The new schedule calls for a 25 cents boost in the toll for motorists traveling the 123 miles from Route 128 to the New York State line; 10 cents additional between Route 128 and Sturbridge.

Tolls on the Boston extension, Driscoll said, will be increased five cents at the Allston interchange for through traffic.

Firemen Balk Despite Plea About Boy, 3

LINDENWOLD, N.J. (AP) —

The parents of a 3-year-old boy with heart disease living 150 feet from Lindenwold's fire siren—have been told by the boy's doctor that he could die if he is subjected to continued sudden, loud noises.

And the siren makes sudden, loud noises.

Mayor David Ernst, siding with the boy, Thomas Roselli, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Roselli, has suggested that the fire siren be moved 400 or 500 feet.

Firemen have objected to the mayor's suggestion and a spokesman for the fire fighters say they'll strike if the siren is moved. The firemen claim they would not be able to hear the siren if it is moved from its present location.

At Air Station

Seaman Apprentice Robert J. Betanzos, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Betanzos of Plattkill, has reported aboard the Naval Auxiliary Air Station with Training Squadron Three in Milton, Fla.

Training Squadron Three instruct student aviators in flying the Navy's T-28 aircraft in precision tactics, maneuvers, basic and radio instruments formation and night flying.

The aviators receive approximately 100 flight hours in 22 weeks while in Training Squadron Two.

Bonse in Viet

Army Private First Class John C. Bonse Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bonse, Spring Lake, Lucas Avenue, Kingston, is participating in "Operation Pershing" in Vietnam, with other members of the 1st Air Cavalry Division.

He and other members of the division have evacuated more than 19,000 refugees from coastal areas to numerous refugee centers in secured areas as well as inflicting heavy damage on the Viet Cong.

During the sea and clear operation, he has been engaged in dragging the VC from their vast network of tunnels and bunkers. They had been driven underground by constant U.S. artillery and air strikes.

Pvt. Bonse is assigned to Headquarters Company of the division's 1st Cavalry.

Home on Leave

ROBERT VAN KLEECK

Currently spending a 14-day leave at home is A2/c Robert Van Kleeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schrader, 46 Esopus Avenue. Airman Van Kleeck is an electronics computer specialist stationed at Custer AFS in Battle Creek, Mich., which is part of Norad responsible for the defense of the North American continent.

ASSIGNED IN VIETNAM — Airman Second Class Martin J. Klun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Klun, Route E, Hurley, on duty at Tuy Hoa AB, Vietnam. Airman Klun, a personnel specialist, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces. Before his arrival in Southeast Asia, he was assigned to the 92nd Combat Support Group at Fairchild AFB, Wash. The airman, a graduate of Kingston High School, entered the Air Force in 1965.

In the SERVICE

MEDALS FOR QUACKENBUSH — Air Force Major Donald C. Quackenbush (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Quackenbush of 2209 Young Drive, Valdosta, Ga., receives the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Moody AFB, Ga., from Col. Nathan J. Adams, a wing commander.

Former Resident Honored For Heroism in Vietnam

VALDOSTA, Ga. — U. S. Air Force Major Donald C. Quackenbush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Quackenbush of 2209 Young Drive, Valdosta, Ga., formerly of Saugerties has been decorated with 12 military medals at Moody AFB, Ga.

Major Quackenbush received the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC), 10 Air Medals and the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal for action in Southeast Asia.

He received the DFC for extraordinary achievement as an F-4 Phantom II pilot near Dak To, Vietnam. The captain defended a U. S. Army unit against 15 hostile gun emplacements. He made repeated attacks, despite heavy ground fire, to successfully destroy the enemy force.

His Air Medals were won for outstanding airmanship and courage on other successful and important missions under hazardous conditions. He now holds 11 Air Medals.

Major Quackenbush earned the commendation medal for meritorious service at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill and knowledge.

He is now at Moody as an instructor pilot with the Air Training Command which conducts the educational programs necessary to provide skilled fliers and technicians for the aerospace force.

The major, a graduate of Saugerties High School, attended the University of Connecticut. He was commissioned in 1956 through the aviation cadet program.

His wife, Lenora, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Craft of Riverdale, N. D.

Simone Promoted
Philip P. Simone Jr., 19, whose parents live on Route 2, Highland, was promoted to Army Private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 8.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

He is a 1962 graduate of Highland High School.

Ryan Assigned
Army Second Lieutenant John W. Ryan, 23, son of Mrs. Frances Ryan, Weeds Mill Road, Highland, was assigned to the 196th Infantry Brigade, Sept. 1 at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Lt. Ryan, a platoon leader in the brigade, entered the Army in November 1965.

Peller in ROTC

Richard Peller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peller of Kingston, a freshman at Rutgers, The State University, has enrolled as a basic cadet in the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps.

The Air Force ROTC program is a four year course of instruction leading to a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

A 1967 graduate of Kingston High School, Cadet Peller this year will study the position of the United States in world affairs, the history of the United States Air Force, and the responsibilities and duties of the Air Force Officer. On the drill field he will be afforded the opportunity to develop leadership by executing and issuing commands.

Cadet Peller will also have the opportunity to participate in various Air Force ROTC extracurricular activities, including AFROTC Band, the Cadet Chorus, the Air Commandos, the pistol team, or the national champion drill team from Rutgers, The Queens Guard.

Davenport Rated

Philip G. Davenport, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Davenport, Stone Ridge, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 9.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

During advanced individual training, also of eight weeks duration, those who received early advancement to E-2 may be eligible for another "accelerated" promotion, to E-3 (private first class).

He is a 1965 graduate of Cornell University at Ithaca, where he received his BA degree.

Craig Aboard
Communications Yeoman Seaman Wayne A. Craig, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craig of Route 4, Kingston, saw his ship receive its third award for aviation safety and accident prevention as a crewman aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Intrepid operating in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

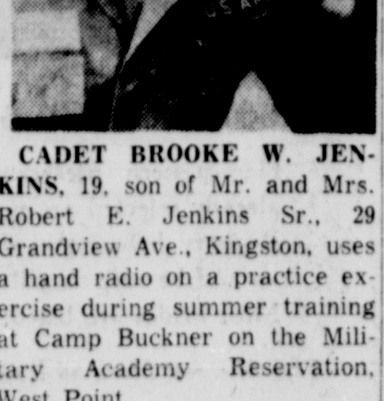

Vice Admiral John J. Hyland, Commander of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, presented the 1967 Admiral James H. Flatley Award to Intrepid's Commanding Officer Captain W. J. McVey, during formal ceremonies on the carrier's flight deck.

Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, Chief of Naval Operations, sent a statement from Washington for the occasion. The Admiral noted that the award is in "recognition of outstanding achievement in accident prevention during attack carrier operations."

He further noted that "the accomplishment of this record is a direct reflection on the effort which was required of Intrepid's crew."

Sisterhood Plans Social Activities

Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim planned a new membership tea, rummage sale and dinner at their opening meeting Wednesday evening Sept. 13. In the absence of Mrs. Joel Pollack, president, Mrs. Robert Selinger presided, assisted by Mrs. Jack Blinder, and the officers, Mrs. Irving Rudolph, Mrs. Abraham Werner, Mrs. Nathan Katsky, Mrs. Morton Levine and Mrs. Ira Trast.

The new-membership tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Milton Page. Invitation to attend may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ira Trast.

Chairmen for the October 9, 10 and 11 rummage sale is Mrs. Jack Blinder.

The paid-up membership dinner is scheduled for Nov. 8 with Mrs. Hyman Gardlin as program chairman.

At a suggestion made by Mrs. H. Z. Rappaport, the members will receive the "Newsletter."

Mrs. Morton Levine is in charge of the gift shop. For special requests and many useful items, members are requested to contact her.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of two deceased members, Mrs. Celia Pine and Mrs. Pansy Propp.

Guest speaker, David M. Barnovitz, presented a model of the proposed new synagogue, and commented in detail on the various aspects of the new edifice. The prize winning design combines beauty of structure with the versatility of floor plan, easily accommodating the varied needs of the congregation.

The meeting concluded with an informative discussion by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport on the significance of Rosh Hashana. He reminded the members that an adult education class is being formed and anyone interested in joining can call him for information.

Refreshments were served by the executive board.

The next regular meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 11. The board meeting is slated for Tuesday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Rappaport.

NAACP Plans Tea Sunday, Oct. 8

Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke, assisted by Mrs. Jack McPhail, has selected a committee to plan for the tea that will precede the Membership Mass Meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to take place Sunday, Oct. 8, at the New Central Baptist Church, Kingston.

The tea will be held from 5 to 6:45 p. m. and will be followed by the meeting which will feature Alfred Baker Lewis as the guest speaker.

The members of Mrs. Van Dyke's committee are, in addition to Mrs. McPhail, the Mmes. Everett Hodge, Edward Jones, James Child, James Jackson, DeVail H. Dunbar, Howard Day Jr., Mrs. Ann Waters, Mrs. Lucille Green and Miss Mary J. Crispell.

Mrs. McPhail, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Day are in charge of table arrangements while Mrs. Green and Mrs. Hodge will plan for cakes and cookies. Sandwiches will be provided by Mrs. Waters, Mrs. Child and Miss Crispell. Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Child will also act as hostesses. Mrs. Day has been appointed publicity chairman for the tea.

The public is cordially invited to attend the forthcoming meeting at which local and county officials are also expected to speak. Everett Hodge, chairman of the local branch of the NAACP, is urging area citizens to become members and participate in the organization to aid in solving the numerous problems that exist in Kingston and Ulster County.

Bigger Bottles
NEW YORK (AP) — The American housewife is becoming partial to larger glass bottles and jars, according to a recent report from the Glass Containers Manufacturers Institute.

Quart milk bottles used to be standard; today, two-quart and gallon bottles are featured in supermarkets. Glass containers for applesauce, salad dressing and peanut butter are also getting larger.

The reasons are both economic and sociological. Larger families make it economical to buy household products in bigger containers. And large bottles mean fewer trips to the supermarket.

Mission Meet
The unit missionary meeting will convene 2 p. m. Sunday at the Bethlehem Temple, 155 Tremper Avenue. Dinner will be served. The pastor, Elder Henry Perry extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Widdows, Milton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Samuel Raymond Rizzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rizzo, Marlboro.

Miss Widdows, a 1966 graduate of Marlboro High School, is a stenographer at State University College, New Paltz.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Marlboro High School, is a junior accountant at Hudson River Valley Commission, Tarrytown.

Sisterhood Plans Social Activities

Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim planned a new membership tea, rummage sale and dinner at their opening meeting Wednesday evening Sept. 13. In the absence of Mrs. Joel Pollack, president, Mrs. Robert Seinger presided, assisted by Mrs. Jack Blinder, Mrs. Irving Rudolph, Mrs. Abraham Werner, Mrs. Nathan Katsky, Mrs. Morton Levine and Mrs. Ira Trast.

The new-membership tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Milton Page. Invitation to attend may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ira Trast.

Chairmen for the October 9, 10 and 11 rummage sale is Mrs. Jack Blinder.

The paid-up membership dinner is scheduled for Nov. 8 with Mrs. Hyman Gardlin as program chairman.

At a suggestion made by Mrs. H. Z. Rappaport, the members will receive the "Newsletter."

Mrs. Morton Levine is in charge of the gift shop. For special requests and many useful items, members are requested to contact her.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of two deceased members, Mrs. Celia Pine and Mrs. Pansy Propp.

Guest speaker, David M. Barnovitz, presented a model of the proposed new synagogue, and commented in detail on the various aspects of the new edifice. The prize winning design combines beauty of structure with the versatility of floor plan, easily accommodating the varied needs of the congregation.

The meeting concluded with an informative discussion by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport on the significance of Rosh Hashana. He reminded the members that an adult education class is being formed and anyone interested in joining can call him for information.

Refreshments were served by the executive board.

The next regular meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 11. The board meeting is slated for Tuesday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Rappaport.

Committees Named For Mothers' Club

St. Mary's Mothers' Club held its first meeting of the year Monday, Sept. 18, at the school auditorium. President Mrs. Donald Hastings welcomed the members, and plans for fall events were made. A penny social will be held in October with Mrs. Joseph Bruno acting as chairman. The club will also sponsor a bus trip to New York for the children of the St. Mary's Choral group in December.

Mrs. Hastings named the following committee chairmen: religious, Mrs. Thomas Rundle; program, Mrs. William Robertson; publicity, Mrs. Joseph Jordan; courtesy, Mrs. Joseph DeCicco; and hospitality, Mrs. Michael Pugliese.

Room mothers for the year will be: Grade 1, Mrs. Thomas Joy; Grade 2, Mrs. Leroy Sheffer; Grade 3, Mrs. Emilio Primo; Grade 4, Mrs. Joseph Wenzel; Grade 5, Mrs. Thomas Yonta; Grade 6, Mrs. Frank Misasi; Grade 7, Mrs. James Mancuso; and Grade 8, Mrs. Joseph Duffy.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Joseph G. McIntyre, pastor, is the moderator for the club. The officers for the coming year include: president, Mrs. Hastings; vice president, Mrs. Vincent Berardi; recording secretary, Mrs. Louis Charnello; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Maurice La Bounty; and treasurer, Mrs. Francis Vertetis.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the teaching staff of the school was welcomed and a social hour was held.

Bigger Bottles

NEW YORK (AP) — The American housewife is becoming partial to larger glass bottles and jars, according to a recent report from the Glass Containers Manufacturers Institute.

Quart milk bottles used to be standard; today, two-quart and gallon bottles are featured in supermarkets. Glass containers for applesauce, salad dressing and peanut butter are also getting larger.

The reasons are both economic and sociological. Larger families make it economical to buy household products in bigger containers. And large bottles mean fewer trips to the supermarket.

Mission Meet

The unit missionary meeting will convene 2 p. m. Sunday at the Bethlehem Temple, 155 Tremper Avenue. Dinner will be served. The pastor, Elder Henry Perry extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Housing Industry Woes Are Improving

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After nearly a year of improvement, the housing industry now seems to have climbed from the pit into which it fell during the worst of the tight money woes of late last year.

The all-clear still hasn't been sounded, because a money shortage still could threaten the mortgage market, but most builders and potential buyers seem to be recovering from the trauma.

Last October housing was being built at an annual rate of $45,000 units, the lowest in 20 years. Money was unavailable for home buying; it went instead to the big corporate customers who were willing to pay dearly.

At almost the same time as the bottom was reached, the Federal Reserve, which controls the spigot through which money flows to the economy, reversed itself. Money poured upon the parched housing field.

As a result, housing began to sprout like a crop after rain, reaching an annual rate this year of 1,831,000 units in August.

With forecasts calling for continued growth, the housing industry is beginning to see the light at the end of the tunnel. So great is the potential, therefore, that some economists have placed the demand for new housing at close to two million units a year within the next half decade.

The big question is this: Will the demand be for single family houses or for apartments? The answer is eluding building materials dealers, many of whom lean to the belief that multifamily apartment houses will become more popular as the birth rate declines.

They reason that many young families begin life as apartment dwellers and switch to houses only as demanded by their growing number of children. Smaller sized families, they reason, will relieve this pressure.

This trend to apartment living is already clear from housing figures. In 1960 only 17 per cent of all housing starts were accounted for by apartment houses. That figure is now more than 30 per cent and may go higher.

Countering this is the possibility of a growing demand for single-family homes because incomes are growing and more people can afford them, regardless of their space needs.

Such problems are, however, the problems of success. Last year at this time the problems were those of failure.

There is an almost inevitable rise in the long-range prospect, also, especially as the big crop of babies born after World War II begins raising families of its own.

Menacingly close, however, lurks the specter of another money shortage. Last year funds were withdrawn from the mortgage market because yields were higher elsewhere. A repetition is unlikely, but it could occur.

Housing officials at least have been keeping a wary eye on the narrow gap that separates returns on mortgage lending from returns on corporate bonds.

May Withdraw
As long as the mortgage market offers lenders good returns, as it has been, then it is fairly safe. But, if rates elsewhere rise sharply some financial institutions may again withdraw funds for investing in bonds instead.

Aside from this problem, however, there is an almost inevitable rise in prospect for the industry, partly as a direct result of last year's inadequate construction. The nation now has too few houses.

This shortage is reflected in one of the lowest vacancy rates for houses and apartments in several years, a direct result of the failure of construction to keep pace with new family development and replacement needs.

Housing Industry Woes Are Improving

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After nearly a year of improvement, the housing industry now seems to have climbed from the pit into which it fell during the worst of the tight money woes of late last year.

The all-clear still hasn't been sounded, because a money shortage still could threaten the mortgage market, but most builders and potential buyers seem to be recovering from the trauma.

Last October housing was being built at an annual rate of $45,000 units, the lowest in 20 years. Money was unavailable for home buying; it went instead to the big corporate customers who were willing to pay dearly.

At almost the same time as the bottom was reached, the Federal Reserve, which controls the spigot through which money flows to the economy, reversed itself. Money poured upon the parched housing field.

As a result, housing began to sprout like a crop after rain, reaching an annual rate this year of 1,831,000 units in August.

With forecasts calling for continued growth, the industry is beginning raising families of its own.

So great is the potential, therefore, that some economists have placed the demand for new housing at close to two million units a year within the next half decade.

The big question is this: Will the demand be for single family houses or for apartments?

The answer is eluding building materials dealers, many of whom lean to the belief that multifamily apartment houses will become more popular as the birth rate declines.

They reason that many young families begin life as apartment dwellers and switch to houses only as demanded by their growing number of children. Smaller sized families, they reason, will relieve this pressure.

This trend to apartment living is already clear from housing figures. In 1960 only 17 per cent of all housing starts were accounted for by apartment houses. That figure is now more than 30 per cent and may go higher.

Countering this is the possibility of a growing demand for single-family homes because incomes are growing and more people can afford them, regardless of their space needs.

Such problems are, however, the problems of success. Last year at this time the problems were those of failure.

There is an almost inevitable rise in the long-range prospect also, especially as the big crop of babies born after World War II begins raising families of its own.

Memorably close, however, lurks the specter of another money shortage. Last year funds were withdrawn from the mortgage market because yields were higher elsewhere. A repetition is unlikely, but it could occur.

Housing officials at least have been keeping a wary eye on the narrow gap that separates returns on mortgage lending from returns on corporate bonds.

May Withdraw
As long as the mortgage market offers lenders good returns, as it has been, then it is fairly safe. But, if rates elsewhere rise sharply some financial institutions may again withdraw funds for investing in bonds instead.

Aside from this problem, however, there is an almost inevitable rise in prospect for the industry, partly as a direct result of last year's inadequate construction. The nation now has too few houses.

This shortage is reflected in one of the lowest vacancy rates for houses and apartments in several years, a direct result of the failure of construction to keep pace with new family development and replacement needs.

Unusual Platform

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A candidate for sheriff bases his campaign on an unusual platform—do away with the job.

"I would hope that I would be the last sheriff of San Francisco," says David Johnson, 41, field representative for the Bay Area Urban League.

Johnson would turn over county jails to the state Department of Corrections. Since running the jails is one of the sheriff's main jobs, Johnson figures there wouldn't be much else to do.

Vincentian Spoils Debut of Kingston High Gridders, 27-0

Lions Take Advantage Of Mistakes

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Three intercepted passes and a pair of recovered fumbles were the chief weapons for a hard-hitting Vincencian Institute eleven in its 27-0 wallop of Kingston High in the football debut for both sides Friday night at Blecker Stadium.

The defensive-minded Lions completely bottled up the KHS offense, limiting the locals to nine yards on the ground and only 10 in the air. In fact, coach Bill Hurley's gridders managed to cross midfield only once and that was aided by a 15-yard rushing penalty on the part of the home side.

From the time reserve end Charlie St. Lucia pounced on a KHS fumble in the end zone, the Lions were in complete command of the situation. They tallied twice in the opening period, added a field goal and touchdown in the second quarter and finished with a six pointer in the final session.

Early in the game, the VI eleven was forced to punt. Aided by a stiff wind, the ball went to Marshall Byrd, one of the many youngsters in the KHS lineup. Instead of letting the pigskin roll into the end zone for an automatic touch-back, Byrd tried to catch it. The ball slipped from his grasp and rolled into the end zone where St. Lucia pounced on it.

Before most of the 1,000 customers could get settled in their chilly seats, it was a 6-0 game in favor of the Lions. Another KHS mistake gave the winners their second scoring chance in the opening quarter. A bad pass from center on fourth down forced kicker Greg Rios to try and run the ball out of danger. He was tackled on the 25.

Quarterback Chris Rutnik took seven plays to reach yardage for the second time. Halfback Jim Hughes moved to the 15 on the initial play.

It was Hughes to the 12 and running mate Kevin O'Connell to the three. Rutnik then banged his way to the two and Hughes went to the one.

After an apparent TW was nullified by a penalty, Rutnik passed six yards to end John Burke for the score.

In the second period, Vincencian moved from the 37 to the KHS six before the drive stalled. A run of 26 yards by Hughes and a 15-yarder against the defensive club were the big gains.

With the drive stalled, Grant calmly booted a 26-yard field goal and the lead was now 15-0.

Intercept KHS Pass
Grant swiped a pass on the 40 and returned it to the KHS 18 late in the half. Hughes went to the three and to the one before taking it over left end for a score. The kick was blocked and it was 21-0 at intermission.

Neither team threatened in the third period. However, on the second play of the fourth session, O'Connell swiped a pass at midfield and ran it to the 30.

After Hughes moved to the 28, the crafty Rutnik spotted St. Lucia near the end zone. He fired a perfect pass for the score.

Vincencian coach Ed Lynch sent in reserves during the final minutes and the contest ended with the winners in possession on the KHS 34.

Despite the setback, tackle John Berardi excelled for the visitors. He was in the VI backfield on more than one occasion.

Braves Play Winsted Sunday at Cantine's

Kingston Braves play what may be their last game of the 1967 season Sunday when they meet Winsted, Conn. in the second game of the best-of-three semi-final playoff series in the Interstate Baseball League.

Winsted won last week's opener, 14-1, and can terminate the series Sunday. The Nutmeggers will again call star-buwer George Case. Ted Bream or Ken Heppner will pitch for Kingston.

Golden Gloves Here Tonight

Amateur boxing, entertainment, music, politics, personalities, you name it. And you'll find it tonight at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Headlining the variety show is a card of 10 AAU-sanctioned amateur boxing bouts featuring 1967 Golden Gloves champions.

There will be an opera singer, a rock and roll combination, a bevy of former boxing greats and a liberal sprinkling of Democratic politicians.

The whole affair, quite unique in area sports history, is sponsored by the Ulster County Democratic Committee, Dr. Gerald Gorman, chairman.

Remember Spahn and Sain and two days of rain? The Detroit Tigers, suddenly snarling again in the tight American League pennant race, have come up with a similar refrain—Mickey and Earl and one day without toil.

Mickey Lolich and Earl Wilson, the Tigers' southpaw and right-handed aces, respectively, pitched niftily Friday night as Detroit swept two games from Washington and moved to within one-half game of second-place Boston and one game of leading Minnesota.

Lolich hurled a four-hitter as the Tigers took the nightcap 4-0 after Wilson became the major's first 22-game winner in an 8-3 victory in the opener.

In other AL games, Minnesota walloped the New York Yankees 8-2, Boston split a pair with Baltimore, the Orioles winning the first game 10-0 and the Red Sox the nightcap 10-3; Cleveland edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 13 innings and Kansas City beat California 3-1.

Thus, with only nine days remaining in the regular season, the Twins are on top, one-half game in front of Boston, with Detroit third and the White Sox two games off the pace in fourth place.

Spahn, a lefty, and Sain, a right-hander, were the mainstays of the Boston Braves' pitching staff in 1948 when the two consistently worked without the usual three days of rest between starts. The Braves captured the National League pennant that year.

Reduced to Three

The Tigers' starting staff was reduced to three earlier this week when right-hander Denny McLain dislocated two toes in a freak accident. That left it up to Lolich, Wilson and Joe Sparna.

Detroit had the day off today and Sparna, 15-9, is scheduled to oppose the Senators Sunday, with Wilson and Lolich, 12-13, facing the Yankees in New York on Monday and Tuesday nights. Wednesday is another open date for the Tigers, who looked to be on their way out of the race after dropping two straight to the Senators earlier this week.

Catcher Bill Freehan was among the Tigers' batting stars Friday night. His bases-loaded single in the seventh inning of the second game broke a scoreless tie. He also contributed two hits in the opener. Wilson also had two safeties and drove in a run in the first game.

Cesar Tovar walloped two homers while Zoilo Versalles had a homer, a double and a single for the Twins. Minnesota battered Mel Stottlemyre for 10 hits and seven runs in six innings and rode the seven-hit pitching of Jim Kaat to victory.

The triumph was the sixth in a row for Kaat and lifted his record to 15-13. Both runs off him were unearned.

Boston took advantage of three Baltimore errors in scoring five runs in the fourth inning and overcoming a 2-0 deficit in the second game. The Red Sox pounded out 14 hits while Joe Foy, Ken Harrelson and George Scott each drove in two runs. Winning pitcher Jose Santiago collected two hits and scored three times.

Jim Hardin pitched a five-hitter while Brooks Robinson, Larry Haney and Dave Johnson had two RBI apiece in Baltimore's opening game triumph.

Tony Horton provided the winner for Cleveland and the crusher for the White Sox with a home run leading off the 13th inning. He hit reliever Rogers Nelson's first pitch into the left field stands.

Stymied through the first eight innings on three hits by Cleveland's Luis Tiant, the White Sox tied the score in the ninth on a double by Don Buford and a pinch single by Smoky Burgess.

Vincentian Spoils Debut of Kingston High Gridders, 27-0

Lions Take Advantage Of Mistakes

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Three intercepted passes and a pair of recovered fumbles were the chief weapons for a hard-hitting Vincentian Institute eleven in its 27-0 wallop of Kingston High in the football debut for both sides Friday night at Blecker Stadium.

The defensive-minded Lions completely bottled up the KHS offense, limiting the locals to nine yards on the ground and only 10 in the air. In fact, coach Bill Hurley's gridders managed to cross midfield only once and that was aided by a 15-yard roughing penalty on the part of the home side.

From the time reserve end Charlie St. Lucia pounced on a KHS fumble in the end zone, the Lions were in complete command of the situation. They tallied twice in the opening period, added a field goal and touchdown in the second quarter and finished with a six-point lead in the final session.

Early in the game, the V.I. eleven was forced to punt. Aided by a stiff wind, the ball went to Marshall Byrd, one of the many youngsters in the KHS lineup. Instead of letting the pigskin roll into the end zone for an automatic touch-back, Byrd tried to catch it. The ball slipped from his grasp and rolled into the end zone where St. Lucia pounced on it.

Before most of the 1,000 customers could get settled in their chilly seats, it was a 6-0 game in favor of the Lions.

Another KHS mistake gave the winners their second scoring chance in the opening quarter. A bad pass from center on fourth down forced kicker Greg Rios to try and run the ball out of danger. He was tackled on the 25.

Quarterback Chris Rutnik took seven plays to reach yardage for the second time. Halfback Jim Hughes moved to the 15 on the initial play.

It was Hughes to the 12 and running mate Kevin O'Connell to the three. Rutnik then banged his way to the two and Hughes went to the one.

After an apparent TV mullified by a penalty, Rutnik passed six yards to end John Burke for the score.

In the second period, Vincentian moved from the 37 to the KHS six before the drive stalled. A run of 26 yards by Hughes and a 15-yarder against the defensive club were the big gains.

With the drive stalled, Grant calmly booted a 26-yard field goal and the lead was now 15-0.

Intercept KHS Pass

Grant swiped a pass on the 40 and returned it to the KHS 18 late in the half. Hughes went to the three and to the one before taking it over left end for a score. The kick was blocked and it was 21-0 at intermission.

Neither team threatened in the third period. However, on the second play of the fourth session, O'Connell swiped a pass at midfield and ran it to the 30.

After Hughes moved to the 28, the crafty Rutnik spotted St. Lucia near the end zone. He fired a perfect pass for the score.

Vincintian coach Ed Lynch sent in reserves during the final minutes and the contest ended with the winners in possession on the KHS 34.

Despite the setback, tackle John Bevardi excelled for the visitors. He was in the VI backfield on more than one occasion.

Braves Play Winsted Sunday at Cantine's

Kingston Braves play what may be their last game of the 1967 season Sunday when they meet Winsted, Conn. in the second game of the best-of-three semi-final playoff series in the Interstate Baseball League.

Winsted won last week's opener, 14-1, and can terminate the series Sunday. The Nutmeggers will again call on star hurler George Case. Ted Bream or Ken Heppner will pitch for Kingston.

Golden Gloves Here Tonight

Amateur boxing, entertainment, music, politics, personalities, you name it. And you'll find it tonight at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Headlining the variety show is a card of 10 AAU-sanctioned amateur boxing bouts featuring 1967 Golden Gloves champions.

There will be an opera singing, a rock and roll combination, a bevy of former boxing greats and a liberal sprinkling of Democratic politicians.

The whole affair, quite unique in area sports history, is sponsored by the Ulster County Democratic Committee, Dr. Gerald Gorman, chairman.

Buchek Earns Split for Mets

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Jerry Buchek's bat gaveth and his glove tooketh away. But his bat gaveth it right back again.

With the New York Mets trailing Houston by three runs in the eighth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with Houston Friday night, Buchek blasted a three-run homer, putting the Mets on top.

In the ninth, the Astros tied it up when Dave Adlesh singled off Buchek's glove at shortstop, Rusty Staub scoring when the ball rolled into foul territory. So in the 10th, Buchek calmly hit another three-run homer. The Mets won 8-5, having lost the opener 8-0.

In other National League action Friday, St. Louis outlasted Atlanta 5-4 in 12 innings, Cincinnati edged Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings, San Francisco nudged Pittsburgh 1-0 and Los Angeles swept past Philadelphia 7-1.

Mike Cuellar pitched a five-hitter in the Mets-Astros opener and Ron Brand drove in three runs. Buchek's homers in the nightcap gives him 13 for the season.

Mike Shannon's two-out single in the 12th drove in the winning run for the Cards. The Braves tied the game with three runs in the ninth, two coming on Clete Boyer's homer.

Ted Abernathy unloosed a wild pitch with the bases loaded in the 10th, allowing the Cubs' winning run to score. Billy Williams was safe on an error, moved up on Ron Santo's single, went to third on Billy McCool's wild pitch and came in on Abernathy's lapse.

Tom Haller homered leading off the bottom of the ninth for the Giants' victory. Ray Sadecki stopped the Pirates on four hits, while loser Al McBean gave up only eight to San Francisco.

Don Sutton held the Phillies to just five hits and Len Gabrielson hit his seventh homer in the Dodgers' triumph. Tony Gonzalez homered for the Phils.

Vikings Meet Los Angeles Rams In Top Pro Tilt

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Bud Grant of the Minnesota Vikings is quite willing to concede the Los Angeles Rams' front defensive line is most impressive, but he'd like to add that the Rams' great defense extends back through the secondary troops.

The new Vikings' coach so reflected today after Los Angeles had sunk his team 39-3 to remain unbeaten in two National Football League regular season games and eight for summer-fall play.

Los Angeles' defense accounted for two pass interceptions and two Vikings fumbles, and the offense turned all four breaks into scores before 52,235 in Memorial Coliseum Friday night.

"Of course," said Rams' coach George Allen, "I'm very proud of our defense. We haven't allowed a touchdown in two league games."

The Ram-Viking game was a prelude to a busy weekend in the NFL.

The rest of the NFL schedule, and all the American Football League slate, is set for Sunday afternoon.

The NFL has Baltimore, 1-0, at Philadelphia, 1-0; New York, 1-0, at Dallas, 1-0; Chicago, 0-1, at Green Bay, 0-1; Cleveland, 0-1, at Detroit, 0-1; St. Louis, 0-1, at Pittsburgh, 1-0; Atlanta, 0-1, at San Francisco, 1-0; and Washington, 0-1 at New Orleans, 0-1.

Port Topples Nyack, 13-6

Quarterback Bill Gastmeyer

passed for a touchdown and ran for another in leading Port Jervis to a 13-6 win over visiting Nyack Friday night in the grid opener for both schools.

The veteran signal caller tossed 32 yards to flanker Bill Lane for a second period TD. Carl DeGroot booted the extra point.

The losers stormed right back as Bob Smith galloped 78 yards on a quick opener. The kick was wide and the Porters led, 7-6, at halftime.

Late in the fourth quarter, Gastmeyer started a drive. He tossed two passes for 26 and 23 yards and Garrett Hill ran 17 yards to the four. Three plays later, Gastmeyer sneaked over from the one.

It was an impressive debut for the Raiders, who hope to rebound from a fourth place finish in the DUSO League.

Score by quarters: Port Jervis 7 0 6-13 Nyack 0 6 0-6

Mother of Six Indicted in Murder

MAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A

Chautauque County grand jury has indicted a one-armed mother of six on a murder charge in the shotgun death of her husband at their rural home near this village.

The jury ordered Mable J. Beltroni, 35, held Friday for trial in the death Sept. 10 of her husband John, a 37-year-old construction worker.

Sheriff's deputies said Beltroni was struck in the head and neck by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun after the couple argued. Mrs. Beltroni lost her right arm as a child, they said.

Jerry Buech's bat gavel and his glove took away. But his bat gavel it right back again.

With the New York Mets trailing Houston by three runs in the eighth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with Houston Friday night, Buech blasted a three-run homer, putting the Mets on top.

In the ninth, the Astros tied it up when Dave Adlesh singled off Buech's glove at shortstop, Rusty Staub scoring when the ball rolled off foul territory. So in the 10th, Buech calmly hit another three-run homer. The Mets won 8-5, having lost the opener 8-0.

In other National League action Friday, St. Louis ousted Atlanta 5-4 in 12 innings, Cincinnati edged Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings, San Francisco nudged Pittsburgh 1-0 and Los Angeles swept past Philadelphia 7-1.

Mike Cuellar pitched a five-hitter in the Mets-Astros opener and Ron Brand drove in three runs. Buech's homers in nightcap gives him 13 for the season.

Mike Shannon's two-out single in the 12th drove in the winning run for the Cards. The Braves tied the game with three runs in the ninth, two coming on Cleto Boyer's homer.

Ted Abernathy unloaded a wild pitch with the bases loaded in the 10th, allowing the Cubs' winning run to score. Billy Williams was safe on an error, moved up on Ron Santo's single, to third on Billy McCool's wild pitch and came in on Abernathy's lapse.

Tom Haller homered leading off the bottom of the ninth for the Giants' victory. Ray Sadecki stopped the Pirates on four hits, while lower Al McBean gave up only eight to San Francisco.

Don Sutton held the Phillies to just five hits and Len Gabrielson hit his seventh homer in the Dodgers' triumph. Tony Gonzalez homered for the Phils.

Vikings Meet Los Angeles Rams In Top Pro Tilt

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Bud Grant of the Minnesota Vikings is quite willing to concede the Los Angeles Rams' front defensive line is most impressive, but he'd like to add that the Rams' great defense extends back through the secondary troops.

The new Vikings' coach so reflected today after Los Angeles had sunk his team 38-3 to remain unbeaten in two National Football League regular season games and eight for summer play.

Los Angeles' defense accounted for two pass interceptions and two Viking fumbles, and the offense turned all four breaks into scores before 52,255 in Memorial Coliseum Friday night.

"Of course," said Rams' coach George Allen, "I'm very proud of our defense. We haven't allowed a touchdown in two league games."

The Ram-Viking game was a prelude to a busy weekend in the NFL.

The rest of the NFL schedule, and all the American Football League slate, is set for Sunday afternoon.

The NFL has Baltimore, 1-0, at Philadelphia, 1-0; New York, 1-0, at Dallas, 1-0; Chicago, 0-1, at Green Bay, 0-0-1; Cleveland, 0-1, at Detroit, 0-0-1; St. Louis, 0-1, at Pittsburgh, 1-0; Atlanta, 0-1, at San Francisco, 1-0, and Washington, 0-1 at New Orleans, 0-1.

Finley, KC Feud Seems Finished

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The running feud between the Kansas City Athletics and their owner, Charles O. Finley, reached an official end Friday when pitcher Lew Krausse, a central figure in the dispute, withdrew his request for a hearing before Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert.

But embers of discontent still were smoldering as player representative Jack Aker, a red-pitcher, declared he would not play for Finley next year.

Krausse, whose fine and brief suspension had triggered the player uprising, said:

"I don't know what is going to happen to me. I still think Finley will trade me."

He added he had asked dismissal of the hearing, because "I didn't want any more dirt to be thrown around... I wasn't drunk on that plane ride from Boston, but I was taking the brunt of everything. The whole load was on me."

It was Finley's firing Krausse $500 on Aug. 18 and later suspending him that triggered the chain of charges and counter charges.

Finley said he was "not a quitter" and "I don't know what is going to happen to me. I still think Finley will trade me."

Port Topples Nyack, 13-6

Quarterback Bill Gastmeyer passed for a touchdown and ran for another in leading Port Jervis to a 13-6 win over visiting Nyack Friday night in the grid opener for both schools.

The veteran signal caller tossed 32 yards to flanker Bill Lane for a second period TD. Carl DeGroot booted the extra point.

The losers stormed right back as Bob Smith galloped 78 yards on a quick opener. The kick was wide and the Porters led, 7-6, at halftime.

Late in the fourth quarter, Gastmeyer started a drive. He tossed two passes for 26 and 23 yards and Garrett Hill ran 17 yards to the four. Three plays later, Gastmeyer sneaked over from the one.

It was an impressive debut for the Raiders, who hope to rebound from a fourth place finish in the DUSO League.

Mother of Six Indicted in Murder

MAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A Chautauque County grand jury has indicted a one-armed mother of six on a murder charge in the shotgun death of her husband at their rural home near this village.

The jury ordered Mable J. Beltrone, 35, held Friday for trial in the death Sept. 10 of her husband John, a 37-year-old construction worker.

Sheriff's deputies said Beltrone was struck in the head and neck by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun after the couple argued. Mrs. Beltrone lost her right arm as a child, they said.

The U.S. carpet industry retail sales amount to some $1.4 billion annually.

Cries for Cultured Things

By MARC DROGIN

Chicago Daily News Service

Ray attracted my attention this morning. From my lawn I could see him slide off his roof and disappear into the hydrangea.

What inspired me to walk over was the fact that he'd done it head first.

"You in there, Ray? Whatcha doing?"

"Practicing for Titwillow in the PTA 'Mikado.' Help me out of this stupid bush!"

"I can hear you better without hydrangea blossoms in your molar."

"My friends like me the way I am. Hold this wire—I just knotted it to the top of the TV antenna."

To the gentle accompaniment of breaking branches and hydrangea fallout, Ray untangled himself and the mystery.

"I've got a soul, see. People don't notice it, but I got one. It cries out for the good things, the cultured things. So what does it get?"

"What?"

"On the radio it gets the Beatles, the Animals, the Unburied Dead, the Jefferson Airplane, and Peter, Paul and Malignant. And television is just as bad! The Untouchables, The Unmarrieds, Love on a Rooftop, Love in a Floodlit Basement, Chet, Hunt and the Gang..."

"So the answer is to hang yourself from the roof antenna?"

"Not my soul cries for real music, real entertainment. I want Bach, Beethoven, I want Handel and his 'Messiah' instead of Frankie and his adenoids. So I have just installed a giant multiplex frequency modulation stereo—component system!"

"Sounds great!"

"Exactly! And you know why? Because I have 6-inch woofers, 12-inch woofers, a 36-inch woofer under the couch, tweeters in the drapes, in the bookcase, behind the lamps, inside the humidifier. And as soon as I bind my wounds and hook up this wire, my world will be filled with grace and charm! Sonatas, concertos, symphonies, cantatas, a little obligato here, a contrapuntal there, a fugue, a fandango, the sound mixing and swelling and bubbling through my home, my veins, my soul!"

That was this morning. Precisely an hour later, he showed up at our back door.

"What's new, Leonard Bernstein?"

"Shut up."

"Gee, you're full of sunshine. How come you're not home, blotting up the baroque? You did get it hooked up, didn't you?"

"Yeah."

"So how come you're over here with us peasants?"

"My wife says she gets first try on it."

"So listen with her. What's she got on?"

"It's too painful to say."

"Try."

"Well, she's got 6 giant woofers and 11 stereophonically set tweeters all synchronized. She's got maximum feed, perfect tone and full range on the frequency modulation stereophonic input. She's even got the automatic bunny club costumes."

Bridge

Duplicate Fluke in Slam Bidding

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Hideous Hog and the other members of Victor Mollo's bridge menagerie were primarily rubber bridge players. Today we find the Hog engaged in match point duplicate.

Most players would rebid three diamonds over their partner's two spades, but not the Hog. The hand just might play in hearts and in that case he wanted to be the first to bid that suit.

Looking over dummy carefully, he remarked, "We might have bid a little more," and proceeded to take dummy's ace. Then he ruffed a spade with the ace of trumps, entered dummy with the queen of clubs, ruffed another spade; entered dummy with the ace of clubs, ruffed dummy's last spade, led his last trump, overtook in dummy, drew the rest of the trumps, led dummy's ace of diamonds, showed off and explained that he had just made an overtrick for an absolute top.

His reasoning was that for a grand slam in either trump, hearts or diamonds unless all four diamonds showed up in one hand the grand slam would be on, and that he had played so as to make seven against that 4-0 diamond break.

Percy Believes New 'Face' Would Help in Viet Talks

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—North Vietnam might be more willing to negotiate the war if the United States had "a different face, a different party" in the White House, says Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

"Face Saving Device"

A change of administration might provide a "face-saving device" to help end the fighting, Percy told a news conference in the state Capitol Friday.

Asked if he thought it would be a significant step, Percy replied, "Yes, I think so."

Percy said a scholar who recently returned from North Vietnam was asked by a "high-ranking" Communist official, "Why would you think we could negotiate in good faith

when the American people don't have faith in him?"

The scholar was not identified. Nor did Percy say if the North Vietnamese spokesman specifically indicated there would be a better chance for negotiation if a Republican was elected president.

Percy added, "I think they feel it (the Johnson administration) has misrepresented what was going on in Vietnam to the American people and if so, it certainly would misrepresent it to the enemy."

Percy said Johnson had failed to make a "really credible, serious attempt to negotiate."

Against Regan's Stand

Meanwhile, Percy put himself in opposition to Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California by rejecting further escalation of the war.

Both men are considered potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination next year, but both say they are not running. Reagan has called for "sharp escalation" of the war.

Percy later told a Republican fund-raising dinner, his only public appearance on the California trip, that "it seems to be that the slums of Newark and Chicago and Watts deserve our attention and our resources first."

"The Great Society lies buried in the rubble of Newark and Detroit,"

Reagan and Percy did not meet since Reagan was in Los Angeles for a session of the University of California regents.

Ideas for Proposed County Charter Are Exchanged With Three in Field

By LYNN MULVANEY

Three men, well-rounded in government planning and law revision, were called in by the newly-formed Ulster County Charter Commission this week for a three-hour exchange of ideas pertaining to the proposed charter for Ulster County.

Speaking before the commission were: Wilbur Hanawalt, whose firm, Hanawalt Associates of New York City is now engaged in a salary and efficiency study of Ulster's county government including a review of all department operations; Albert Playdell, also of Hanawalt Associates, who was director of research for the Moore

Commission; New York City Charter Commission member J. J. Lippas of Dutchess Community College, who served as chairman of the recent Dutchess County Charter Commission; and a representative of the county's property tax commission, which had its own standards presented to the legislature.

A county charter law, which was called for in an April resolution of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors asking for a county executive form of government, is required to set forth the structure of the government. It will provide for an elective board to determine county policy and exercise powers of local legislation. It will prescribe the agencies and officers responsible for the performance of functions, powers and duties of the county and its departments, the manner of election and appointment, terms of office and removal of county officers. The law requires equalization of property taxes, pre-emptive standards for the legislature.

A county charter commission may contain: provision for the selection of county officers by any method of nomination and election; assign executive or administrative functions, powers and duties to elective or appointive officers. Provide for a county executive who may be either elective or appointive. However, only an executive elected on a county-wide basis may be given power to veto actions of the Board of Supervisors, and there may be provision for overriding of such vetoes by specified percentages of votes of the board.

county and units of government in the county of local government functions and duties. This may include abolition of offices or agencies of government where all their functions are so transferred.

It may provide for an administrative code setting forth details of administration of county government and provide for termination of terms of office of existing officers.

Gromyko Sees Viet For Big 4 Huddle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Vietnam war could be a topic at the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting next week, the Soviet Union's Andrei A. Gromyko said today. But he indicated someone else would have to bring it up.

Invitations to the parley have also been accepted by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary George Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couvreur de Murville. Their chief U.N. delegates will also attend.

Thant, in his diplomatic efforts to end the war in Vietnam, has said he is acting in his personal capacity. Vietnam was not introduced as a topic for the current General Assembly. But it is expected to be a prime topic throughout the general policy debate.

Gromyko was asked if he would object to discussing Vietnam. His reply was simply: any side could raise any issues it pleased at the dinner.

Should Vietnam come up, Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg could go into the question they each referred to before the General Assembly the last two days: if the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam, would North Vietnam negotiate?

On Thursday, Goldberg noted that North Vietnam had said that if the bombing stopped, talks "could" begin not that they "would" begin.

Refers to Hanoi

On Friday Gromyko referred to a North Vietnamese statement on Jan. 28 "about readiness to begin negotiations on a settlement of the Vietnam problem after the cessation of the United States of the bombing and other aggressive acts" against it.

The Soviet foreign minister said the American reply to this statement was "barbarous bombings" in the North and a troop buildup in the South. North Vietnam's standard position has been that the United States is the aggressor and must take all its troops out of South Vietnam.

Gromyko told the assembly that "peace may be brought about in Vietnam solely as a result of the withdrawal of the aggressors."

Vote on Sale of Two Old School Properties, Oct. 9, 18

Saugerties voters in the old Cedar Grove and Katsbaan districts, eight and six will be given opportunity to vote on the sale of the school buildings and property in each district.

The meetings will be held at Cedar Grove school house, Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p. m. and at Katsbaan school house, Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 7:30 p. m.

In other business conducted at the regular meeting of the Saugerties Central School Board earlier this week, the board appointed Mrs. Barbara Griner of Woodstock as kindergarten teacher at the Morse School. Mrs. Griner, who holds a BA degree from Brooklyn College and an MFA from Columbia University, has had previous experience in New York City schools.

A continuing education program for adults, directed by

Serving as faculty members are: Edward Ehrmann, Patrick Buonfiglio, Thomas Zulick, Patrick Rodden, Mrs. Marian Heermance, Lawrence Keane, Charles Schumacher, H. Graham Barkhuff, David Goble, Miss Nancy Whatman, Miss Rosemarie Burns, Mrs. Frances Bailey, Mrs. Edward Zietek, Mrs. Charles Cosma, William Brimmer, Mrs. John Kchoe, Mrs. Lucy Keane, and William Patnam.

Registration for courses will take place on Monday, Sept. 25, at the senior high school, with the exception of the English for the foreign born class which will register at the Glasco School at the same time. Two courses which will be offered in conjunction with the Saugerties program by the Ulster County Community College are Business Principles and Practices and Principles of Data Processing.

Board Member Charles Emrick will serve as voting delegate for the Saugerties delegation at the New York State

School Boards Association Conference to be held in Syracuse, Oct. 22, 23, 24.

Representatives of the Saugerties Association were present and submitted a revised statement of membership to supplement their earlier request for recognition as exclusive bargaining agent for Saugerties teachers.

Mrs. Roselyn Riccio, John Bonelli, and Mrs. Geraldine Spada, of RD 4, were present to protest changes made in bus stops on Route 32 between Fuller's Corners and Route 9W. They were informed that Director of Transportation Gerald Snyder is reviewing bus stops throughout the School District and as soon as possible will recommend established bus stops for Board approval.

Dartball Loop

Saugerties Dartball League opens its fall season Monday at 8 p.m.

Resume Program

The First Baptist Church of Saugerties announces the resumption of its week-night program of Pioneer Girls and Christian Service Brigade for young people ages 8 through 18.

Pioneer Girls meet every Monday night from 7 to 8:30 p.m., the first meeting of the fall being Sept. 25. Christian Service Brigade meets every Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p.m., the first meeting being Sept. 26.

Fishing Derby Set on Saturday

All children in the town of Saugerties between the ages of 3 and 15 are urged to attend the annual Saugerties Jaycee Fishing Derby Saturday, Sept. 23. Saugerties Municipal Beach on the Esopus Creek between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m.

Registration forms are available at the following establishments: P. C. Smith's Hardware, the Corner Store, Paramount Pharmacy and Saugerties Pharmacy. The forms will also be available at the Derby.

Prizes will be given for the following: the heaviest fish, the longest fish, youngest child to catch a fish, first legal size fish, second heaviest fish and second longest fish.

Congregational Church Notes

The First Congregational Church of Saugerties church school classes for all age groups meet at 10 a.m. each Sunday. Due to the illness of Thomas Cole, Wendy Walker led the opening devotions last Lord's Day. Timothy Hocking will be in charge on Sept. 24.

Morning service for worship and prayer is at 11 a.m. The sermon for Sept. 24 will be "Waiting and Needing. Visitors are always welcome."

Rally Day in the church school will be on Oct. 8.

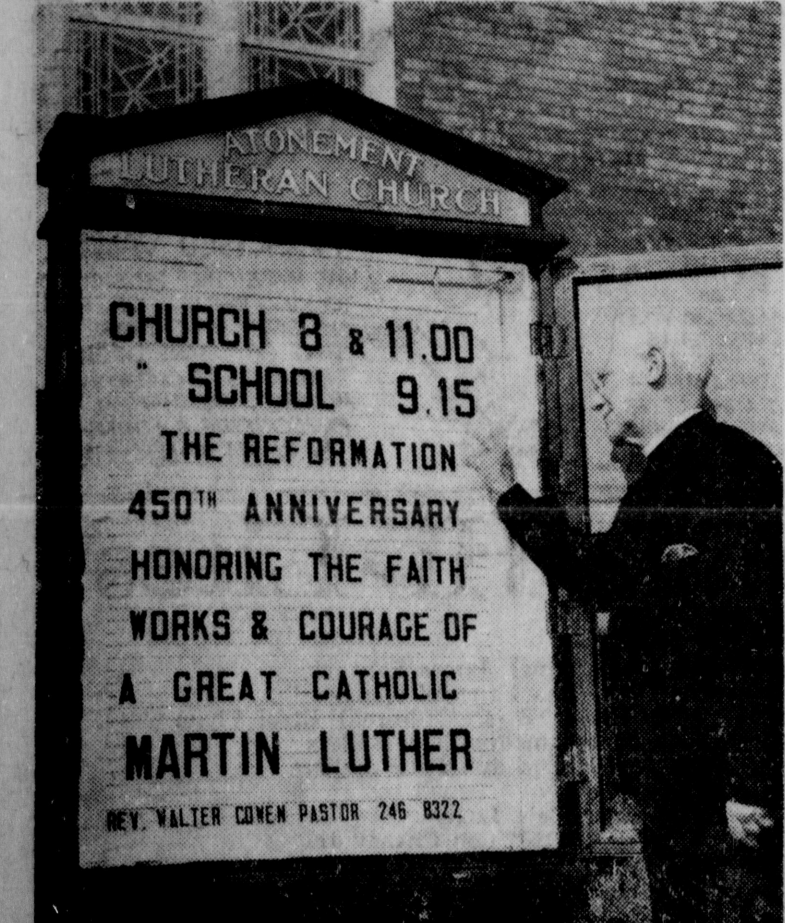

Junior Chort meets at the church Tuesday from 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. The Youth Choir meets on Saturday afternoon at 3.

Women's Fellowship food sale at the church will be Saturday, Sept. 30. A turkey dinner will be served on Oct. 28 at the church and the annual Christmas sale will be Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. The Women's Christmas party-meeting will be on Dec. 10 and the next women's meeting will be Oct. 5, at the church school rooms.

For Period Ending 7 A.M. Sunday

Today, showers and thundershowers are expected over the Southern Plateau and the mid and lower Plains. Elsewhere, generally fair weather should prevail with skies ranging from clear to partly cloudy. Cooler air is expected over the Northeast and turning much colder along the Northern tier of states from the Pacific to the Great Lakes. A warming is due in the Ohio-Tennessee valleys. Minimum temperatures include: Atlanta 54; Boston 46; Chicago 52; Denver 42; Duluth 34; Ft. Worth 63; Jacksonville 65; Kansas City 53; Los Angeles 63; Miami 74; New Orleans 70; New York 53; San Francisco 55; Seattle 47; St. Louis 55 and Washington 48.

Y Names Susan Beatty Health Club Director

The YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County has announced the appointment of Mrs. Susan Beatty as the director of the Women's Health Club.

Mrs. Beatty has a varied background in exercise, aquatics, and physical education. While in high school, she was on a touring gymnastics team that put on exhibitions and demonstrations. Susan lived in Puerto Rico for a time and taught in schools and orphanages. Her apparatus and exercise courses were attended by both children and adults.

The Women's Health Club program, which meets Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Tuesday and Friday nights will be composed of many activities. A typical schedule would start in the newly-constructed locker room. There the women can enjoy a professional massage, ride the bicycle and use the vibra-tor. They then go to the gym for group exercises and individual workouts. A refreshing dip in the pool is the next order of business. To round out an invigorating session, the ladies take a sauna or steam bath.

Mrs. Beatty has one child, Todd, age 4 who attends the 'Y' nursery school mornings with the other club members' children.

Truck Abandoned

An abandoned truck was discovered early today on Route 212, Centerville, by sheriff's deputies. It was learned. Deputies said they were on routine patrol when they noticed the truck. Several guard rails had been knocked over beside the road, deputies concluded.

Nab Brothers In Raid, Tied To $10,000 Haul

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two brothers, one described by police as a leading gambling figure here, have been arrested in a raid that detectives said netted about $10,000 in stolen merchandise.

Joseph Lipka, 51, and his 46-year-old brother, Bernard, were taken into custody Friday after the raid at a food market they own here, police said. Both were held without bail for arraignment today on charges of second-degree criminal possession of stolen property and unlawful possession of a sawed-off shotgun.

Det. Capt. James Cavotti said police seized merchandise that included 1,200 cartons of cigarettes worth $3,000, various firearms, radios, televisions sets, record players, power tools and musical instruments.

The items comprised loot taken in more than 200 thefts, he said.

Police described Joseph Lipka as a convicted gambler who is a leader in Rochester's policy-betting operation.

The Lipkas' address was listed as 44 Madison St. The market is at 93 Prospect St.

Ideas for Proposed County Charter Are Exchanged With Three in Field

By LYNN MULVANEY

Three men, well-rounded in government planning and law revision, were called in by the newly-formed Ulster County Charter Commission this week for a three-hour exchange of ideas pertaining to the proposed charter for Ulster County.

Speaking before the commission were: Wilbur Hanawalt, whose firm, Hanawalt Associates of New York City is now engaged in a salary and efficiency study of Ulster's county government including a review of all department operations; Albert Playdell, also of Hanawalt Associates, who was director of research for the Moore

Commission; and John G. O'Connell, chairman of the recent Ulster County Charter Commission, who was chairman of the recent Ulster County Charter Commission, who was chairman of the recent Ulster County Charter Commission.

A county charter law, which was called for in an April resolution of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors asking for a county executive form of government, is required to set forth the structure of the government. It will provide for an elective board to determine county policy and exercise powers of local legislation. It will prescribe the agencies and officers responsible for the performance of functions, powers and duties of the county and its departments, terms of office of county officers, and the manner of election of county officers.

The charter also may not contain provisions relating to the division of the county into townships or into school districts.

county and units of government in the county of local government functions and duties. This may include abolition of offices or agencies of government where all their functions are so transferred.

It may provide for an administrative code setting forth details of administration of county government and provide for termination of terms of office of existing officers.

—Requires that functions of the Office of Local Government for the State of New York, outline what a county charter may not do:

Except when authorized by the Legislature, it may not contain provisions relating to taxation of property, exemptions from taxation, state aid to units of local government, compensation of members of the judiciary fixed by the legislature.

Exceptions The charter also may not contain provisions relating to the division of the county into townships or into school districts.

two or more counties or the creation, enlargement, diminution, or abolition of a city, town, village or school district. Also composition of members of the judiciary fixed by the legislature.

Except as authorized by the legislature, a county charter may not supercede an act of the legislature which: Relates to the imposition, judicial review or distribution of taxes or benefit assessments.

—Relates to the education government to be performed by or financed by units of local government, except transfers of functions to other units of local government.

—Relates to the function of the state which is financed by the state.

—Is a provision of law contained in one of 19 specified laws.

Gromyko Sees Viet For Big 4 Huddle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Vietnam war could be a topic at the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting next week, the Soviet Union's Andrei A. Gromyko said today. But he indicated someone else would have to bring it up.

Invitations to the party have also been accepted by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary George Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couvreur de Murville. Their chief U.N. delegates will also attend.

Thant, in his diplomatic efforts to end the war in Vietnam, has said he is acting in his personal capacity. Vietnam was not introduced as a topic for the current General Assembly. But it is expected to be a prime topic throughout the general policy debate.

Gromyko was asked if he would object to discussing Vietnam. His reply was simply: any side could raise any issues it pleased at the dinner.

Should Vietnam come up, Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg could go into the question they each referred to before the General Assembly the last two days: if the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam, would North Vietnam negotiate?

On Thursday, Goldberg noted that North Vietnam had said that if the bombing stopped, talks 'could' begin not that they 'would' begin.

Refers to Hanoi On Friday Gromyko referred to a North Vietnamese statement on Jan. 28 "about readiness to begin negotiations on a settlement of the Vietnam problem after the cessation of the United States of the bombing and other aggressive acts against it."

The Soviet foreign minister said the American reply to this statement was "barbarous bombings" in the North and a "gross building in the South." North Vietnam's standard position has been that the United States is the aggressor and must take all its troops out of South Vietnam.

Gromyko told the assembly that "Peace may be brought about in Vietnam solely as a result of the withdrawal of the aggressors."

The Weather

SATURDAY, SEPT. 23, 1967

Sun rises at 5:43 a. m.; sun sets at 5:55 p. m., E.S.T.

Weather: Mostly sunny.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 38 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 57 degrees.

Lower Hudson Valley:

Upper Hudson Valley:

Variable cloudiness this morning and becoming mostly sunny this afternoon. Chance of a few brief showers over higher terrain. Cool with highs in mid 50s to low 60s. Fair and quite cool tonight with scattered frost. Low in 30s. Sunday, fair to partly cloudy and warmer. High in 60s and low 70s.

Winds, north, northwest, 8 to 20 mph today, diminishing this afternoon and becoming light variable tonight and early Sunday, then slowly increasing southerly winds Sunday afternoon.

Western New York: Northern Finger Lakes: East of Lake Ontario: Southern Finger Lakes:

Continued cool with variable cloudiness and sunshine today. High temperature 60 to 65. Fair and chilly tonight. Low in the mid 40s, cooler in some valleys. Sunday, increasing clouds and warmer. West to southwest winds, 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Mohawk Valley: Western Catskills: Agricultural Outlook: Generally good to excellent drying through Sunday. Chance of a few showers developing Sunday night or Monday.

Northeastern New York: Considerable cloudiness this morning and partly cloudy this afternoon. A few brief showers likely. Cool with highs in 50s to near 60 south. Fair and quite cool tonight. Low mainly in the 30s to a few 20s in colder spots. Sunday, fair to partly cloudy and warmer. High in the 60s. Scattered frost likely tonight.

Winds, northwesterly, 8 to 20 mph today, becoming light variable tonight and early Sunday, then slowly increasing southerly winds Sunday afternoon.

Agricultural Outlook: Generally good to excellent drying through Sunday. Chance of a few showers developing Sunday night or Monday.

Their Difference The religious holidays of Easter and Passover vary from year to year in their dates, and often in their sequence, because of the different calendars followed by Christianity and Judaism.

Percy Believes New 'Face' Would Help in Viet Talks

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—North Vietnam might be more willing to negotiate the war if the United States had "a different face, a different party" in the White House, says Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

'Face Saving Device' A change of administration might provide a "face-saving device" to help end the fighting, Percy told a news conference in the state Capitol Friday.

Asked if he thought it would be a significant step, Percy replied, "Yes, I think so."

Percy said a scholar who recently returned from North Vietnam was asked by a "high-ranking" Communist official, "Why would you think we could negotiate in good faith

when the American people don't have faith in him?"

The scholar was not identified, Nor did Percy say if the North Vietnamese spokesman specifically indicated there would be a better chance for negotiation if a Republican was elected president.

Percy added, "I think they feel it (the Johnson administration) has misrepresented what was going on in Vietnam to the American people and if so, it certainly would misrepresent it to the enemy."

Percy said Johnson had failed to make a "really credible, serious attempt to negotiate."

Against Regan's Stand Meanwhile, Percy put himself in opposition to Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California by rejecting further escalation of the war.

Both men are considered potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination next year, but both say they are not running. Regan has called for "sharp escalation" of the war.

Percy later told a Republican fund-raising dinner, his only public appearance on the California trip, that "it seems to be that the slums of Newark and Chicago and Watts deserve our attention and our resources first."

"The Great Society lies buried in the rubble of Newark and Detroit,"

Reagan and Percy did not meet since Reagan was in Los Angeles for a session of the University of California regents.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Vote on Sale of Two Old School Properties, Oct. 9, 18

Saugerties voters in the old Cedar Grove and Katsbaan districts, eight and six will be given opportunity to vote on the sale of the school buildings and property in each district.

The meetings will be held at Cedar Grove, school house, Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p. m. and at Katsbaan school house, Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 7:30 p. m.

In other business conducted at the regular meeting of the Saugerties Central School Board earlier this week, the board appointed Mrs. Barbara Griner of Woodstock as kindergarten teacher at the Morse School. Mrs. Griner, who holds a BA degree from Brooklyn College and an MFA from Columbia University, has had previous experience in New York City schools.

David DeMers, an English teacher in the senior high school, was appointed assistant advisor to the staff of the high school student publication, and William Schirmer was appointed junior high school football coach. Other appointments included Mrs. Dorothy Gade, part-time typist at the junior high school, Miss Eileen Balzarini, typist at the administration building, and Joseph Leal, part-time bus driver.

Serving as faculty members are: Edward Ehrmann, Patrick Buonfiglio, Thomas Zukick, Patrick Rodden, Mrs. Marian Heermance, Lawrence Keane, Charles Schumacher, H. Graham Barkhoff, David Goble, Miss Nancy Whatman, Miss Rosemarie Burns, Mrs. Frances Bailey, Mrs. Edward Zietek, Mrs. Charles Cosme, William Brimmer, Mrs. John Kehoe, Mrs. Lucy Keane, and William Patnam.

Registration for courses will take place on Monday, Sept. 25, at the senior high school, with the exception of the English for the foreign born class which will register at the Glasco School at the same time. Two courses which will be offered in conjunction with the Saugerties program by the Ulster County Community College are Business Principles and Practices and Principles of Data Processing.

Board Member Charles Emrick will serve as voting delegate for the Saugerties delegation at the New York State

School Boards Association Conference to be held in Syracuse, Oct. 22, 23, 24.

Representatives of the Saugerties Association were present and submitted a revised statement of membership to supplement their earlier request for recognition as exclusive bargaining agent for Saugerties teachers.

Mrs. Roselyn Riccio, John Bonelli, and Mrs. Geraldine Spada, of RD 4, were present to protest changes made in bus stops on Route 32 between Fuller's Corners and Route 9W. They were informed that Director of Transportation Gerald Synder is reviewing bus stops throughout the School District and as soon as possible will recommend established bus stops for Board approval.

Dartball Loop Saugerties Dartball League opens its fall season Monday at 8 p.m.

The opening schedule includes Cementon Sportsmen's Club at Trinity; Quarryville at Saugerties Contractors; St. Mary's at West Camp; Malden-West Camp Vols at Golden Eagles; Centerville at High Woods Sportsmen's Club, and American Legion at Centerville Vols.

Resume Program The First Baptist Church of Saugerties announces the resumption of its week-night program of Pioneer Girls and Christian Service Brigade for young people ages 8 through 18.

The woman is on the left, smiling, and the man is on the right, looking on. Below them, a young boy is seated at a desk, focused on writing in a notebook with a pen. A girl stands behind him, leaning over his shoulder and smiling. The desk is illuminated by a desk lamp, and various school supplies like a pen holder, an eraser, and a small container are visible. The background is dark, suggesting a night scene. The style is a simple, clean line drawing with some shading.

Local Business and the Arts

Across the length and breadth of the land, the business world is increasingly if somewhat slowly, becoming a patron of the arts. But despite the growing interest of commerce in this enterprise of culture, some areas still lag badly in their roles, say a considerable number of concerned artists, need to be played on a bigger and broader scale.

One such area, some note sadly, is very possibly our own. In conversations with working artists, drama group members, teachers, musicians and writers around Ulster County, we found more than a few professions and amateurs who feel strongly that business in this community could do more to support the arts.

Their point is conceivably well taken and particularly appropriate locally in view of a recent report on the performing arts by a special New York State panel created by Governor Rockefeller. That report showed that only 55 per cent of a hundred corporations surveyed were making any contributions at all to the arts.

The same panel found that half of those that gave devoted less than one per cent of their total philanthropic and charitable contributions to cultural activities. During a five year period individual giving increased 30 per cent; foundation giving, 62 per cent, and bequests, 77 per cent, while corporate contributions rose only a mere 2 per cent, despite the fact that the same period saw a rising level of business prosperity.

Where the Money Goes

With this in mind it came as no surprise to hear a New Paltz painter make the pungent comment that he is "weary of the earnestness" of local press photographers who annually record the presentations of contributions by area firms to hospital building funds, children's groups and other worthy and charitable causes, including the drives against diseases and illness. The Paltz artist, with wry countenance, notes that never in his memory has he seen comparable publicity of corporate giving, bequests and contributions to support the arts.

He went so far as to suggest that in this age of high finance, burgeoning inventories and booming business, which has seen only a minute rise in industrial cultural support, forward looking businessmen, encouraged and aided by others, should strive to arouse their colleagues to take a greater role in financing talent and its by-products here.

The consensus of most Ulster County businessmen we approached with this idea seemed somewhat negative by more than half (although those who did agree in theory did so with rare enthusiasm). Boiling down their disinclinations to the one basic objection as to why they felt they did not have a responsibility to support the arts, we would have to report they felt the backing of culture is an individual and not a business matter.

Italy and the Medici

Such thinking was upsetting to a prominent Woodstock teacher and artist to whom we talked. He wondered aloud where the Italian artist of old would have been without a Medici in his corner. It is his own firm belief (his numerous awards notwithstanding) that expenditures on the arts for business-supported projects could contribute vastly to culture.

A prize-winning distaff painter, who also works as a full-time instructor in the public school system in this county, agrees with him. She lobbies tirelessly and constantly for student exposure to paintings and sculpture. It is not inconceivable to her that the time will come when the school itself will use a portion of its building money to purchase art for the school. Through the exhibition of murals, paintings, indoor and outdoor sculpture and other works of art within the school environment, she is convinced such expenditures on the arts would justify themselves in terms of intellectually stimulated pupils.

The owner of an area crafts shop also agrees with both painters. And adds that businessmen should begin to realize that a healthy cultural environment is in the self-interest of the business community.

While he readily admits that Ulster County businesses could not make the monetary contributions that a firm such as the mammoth Eastern Airlines might make, for example, he feels a forward looking area, such as this, should consider the question of how best to begin bringing culture to all segments of the public.

One way to begin, it has been suggested would be to hold a conference on Business and the Arts locally. Shop owners, department store executives, supermarket representatives and delegates from large industrial firms, among others, would hopefully attend and examine the role of business in supporting the arts. Policies and responsibilities for giving and making contributions and donations could be set up and discussed.

C of C Could Help

Another suggestion has been that area Chambers of Commerce set up awards to businesses for sponsoring concerts, opera presentations, dramatic offerings, art exhibitions, musical and literary competitions, arts festivals and architectural achievements.

While these suggestions would seem to have substantial merit, some businessmen we surveyed were somewhat suspicious of becoming their "brother's keeper"—so to speak. Others, however, seemed caught up in and intrigued by the idea of becoming just that—and the keeper of the humanities, as well.

Certainly, not everyone can be expected to say "Hurrah!" in eager anticipation of such an undertaking. Among these would be some artists and musicians, who are themselves quick to suggest that unfortunate by-products of the idea expounded might well be interference, unsolicited suggestions or pressures brought to bear by business "benefactors" . . . and loss of personal artistic freedom. They are wary that the individual musical, theatrical and artistic tastes of the art "patrons" could become ploys . . . or that commercial tie-ins might well result . . . or that talent would run the risk of being used for ulterior motives.

Still, there are more than a

Toward Stimulation

Artists are more than attuned to and understanding of business today than ever before . . . and more businessmen today are more genuinely interested in the arts. A sense of civic responsibility could well lead to a wedding of Ulster County business and the arts. This marriage could take place if area businesses could become convinced there are advantages to regularly or annually contributing sums of money to area cultural organizations such as artists associations, musical and drama groups. To keep pace with the ideals of such stimulating community thinking, donations could run the gamut from little theatres and one-time concerts to larger art councils and week-long festivals and conferences.

Actually, no one is talking about "wholesale assistance" at this stage in any such contemplated project. But some assistance seems to make good and necessary sense to those most vitally interested.

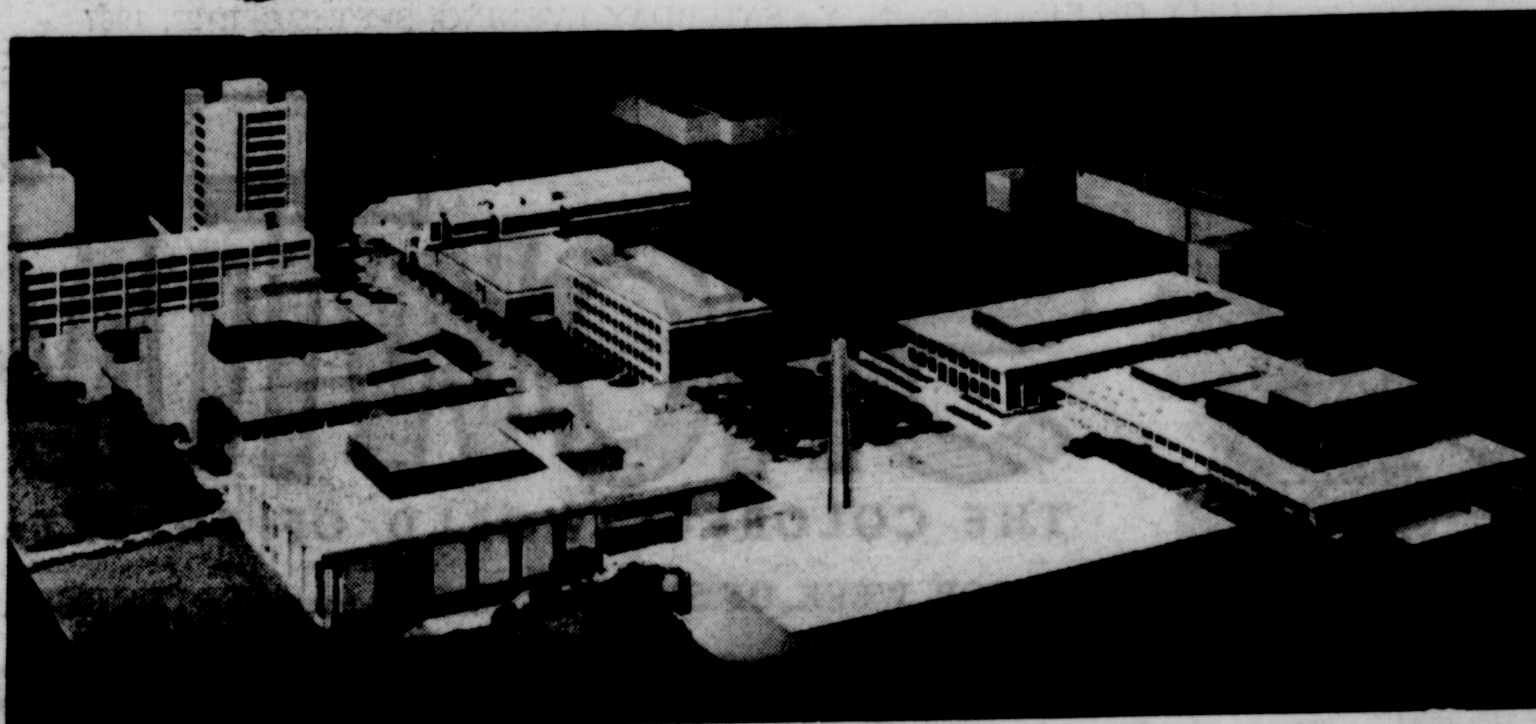

It can be hardly be argued that this area is indeed unique in its cultural background and that it boasts an unusual number of experienced artists in all fields. And it can hardly be argued that our area is indeed lagging behind in using both these sources of cultural wealth to more advantage in its everyday life.

What We Have

Endowed with several colleges which are natural cultural centers, with the art colony of Woodstock, with summer and year-round theatres in more than one community, with opera, a brand new repertory group and various amateur theatrical companies, this area abounds with cultural possibilities realized and the promise of more to come. Much of what has already been achieved here is excellent but there are those who feel it could be helped toward greater excellence and achievement if business lent a further helping hand to artists, theatre subscriptions series,

The owner of an area crafts shop also agrees with both painters. And adds that businessmen should begin to realize that a healthy cultural environment is in the self-interest of the business community.

While he readily admits that Ulster County businesses could not make the monetary contributions that a firm such as the mammoth Eastern Airlines might make, for example, he feels a forward looking area, such as this, should consider the question of how best to begin bringing culture to all segments of the public.

One way to begin, it has been suggested would be to hold a conference on Business and the Arts locally. Shop owners, department store executives, supermarket representatives and delegates from large industrial firms, among others, would hopefully attend and examine the role of business in supporting the arts. Policies and responsibilities for giving and making contributions and donations could be set up and discussed.

C of C Could Help

Another suggestion has been that area Chambers of Commerce set up awards to businesses for sponsoring concerts, opera presentations, dramatic offerings, art exhibitions, musical and literary competitions, arts festivals and architectural achievements.

While these suggestions would seem to have substantial merit, some businessmen we surveyed were somewhat suspicious of becoming their "brother's keeper"—so to speak. Others, however, seemed caught up in and intrigued by the idea of becoming just that—and the keeper of the humanities, as well.

Certainly, not everyone can be expected to say "Hurrah!" in eager anticipation of such an undertaking. Among these would be some artists and musicians, who are themselves quick to suggest that unfortunate by-products of the idea expounded might well be interference, unsolicited suggestions or pressures brought to bear by business "benefactors" . . . and loss of personal artistic freedom. They are wary that the individual musical, theatrical and artistic tastes of the art "patrons" could become ploys . . . or that commercial tie-ins might well result . . . or that talent would run the risk of being used for ulterior motives.

Still, there are more than a

Toward Stimulation

Artists are more than attuned to and understanding of business today than ever before . . . and more businessmen today are more genuinely interested in the arts. A sense of civic responsibility could well lead to a wedding of Ulster County business and the arts. This marriage could take place if area businesses could become convinced there are advantages to regularly or annually contributing sums of money to area cultural organizations such as artists associations, musical and drama groups. To keep pace with the ideals of such stimulating community thinking, donations could run the gamut from little theatre and one-time concerts to larger art councils and week-long festivals and conferences.

Actually, no one is talking about "wholesale assistance" at this stage in any such contemplated project. But some assistance seems to make good and necessary sense to those most vitally interested.

It can be hardly be argued that this area is indeed unique in its cultural background and that it boasts an unusual number of experienced artists in all fields. And it can hardly be argued that our area is indeed lagging behind in using both these sources of cultural wealth to more advantage in its everyday life.

What We Have

Endowed with several colleges which are natural cultural centers, with the art colony of Woodstock, with summer and year-round theatres in more than one community, with opera, a brand new repertory group and various amateur theatrical companies, this area abounds with cultural possibilities realized and the promise of more to come. Much of what has already been achieved here is excellent but there are those who feel it could be helped toward greater excellence and achievement if business lent a further helping hand to artists, theatre subscriptions series, dance groups, symphonic and choral organizations and cultural programs. High standards in business support of the arts and encouraging the public to take advantage of offerings seems to be the dream. Persuading artists in all fields to leave their studios oftener to teach special classes and converse with the public appears to be the handmaiden of that dream.

Local Business, the Arts

The business community might very well follow any such leads given. Already at least one national food chain store locating in the area recently commissioned home based artists to execute a mural for its walls. Where older, established businesses had almost always feared to tread, a newcomer pointed the way. Some banks also boast such murals or sponsor rotating exhibitions of paintings, but many others do neither. Some department stores offer wall space for exhibits on occasion but could provide added backing of another sort. Marketing and automobile firms and enterprises of other types could be encouraged to follow suit.

Although the New Paltz artist mentioned early in this article was firm in his convictions, it would be unfair to say he was entirely accurate. The contributions of local business have been quite considerable in some cultural areas as well as in the area of charity.

Sponsored Art

IBM and Rotron Manufacturing Company have long advocated and sponsored the arts. Ferroxcube has encouraged its employees to exhibit within its plant. Still, a spokesman for the Woodstock Artists Association, for example, says only one or two businessmen are numbered among its members. The Board of Directors of the new Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre, Inc. lists only one businessman on its roster. While some businessmen do support the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, the orchestra could use and needs more contributions from individual businesses. Community Concerts locally is based on individual subscription and seemingly needs no help—but, if offered support from commercial sources, would or could those who guide the destiny of the concerts refuse?

"Encouragement" would seem to be the missing ingredient necessary from the point of view of the artist in any discussion involving local business and the arts. Such "encouragement" is needed in every quarter, the artist feels, and the question at the moment is whether it should and will be given.

But the artist feels, too, that this "encouragement" must not lead to a watering down of excellence. Should culture become "the thing to do" or the fad of the moment, many artists fear "dabblers and the fringe element" will rush in to set up theatre-subscription series, dance groups symphonic and choral organizations and cultural programs on whatever strikes their fancy. Any move to go off in all directions with the result that culture "runs out of our ears" and nothing is any good is to be avoided, they say. Rather, the artists who live and work here and the results of their labors should be more widely supported, it is felt.

With what facts are now available finally exposed to public view, will the bulk of the business community be persuaded to follow the line of reasoning expounded above by those with whom we spoke? The answer, inevitably, remains somewhere in the future.

NEW YORK (AP) — After a 15-year absence, "Cyrano de Bergerac" is returning to Broadway.

The Nose Returns

NEW YORK (AP) — After a 15-year absence, "Cyrano de Bergerac" is returning to Broadway.

The Edmond Rostand play is scheduled as part of the Lincoln Center Repertory Company's agenda, opening next April. Richard Basehart, last seen on stage here 10 years ago, is to portray the impetuous star-crossed lover.

NEW YORK (AP) — Even before arriving on Broadway, the Jewish National Theater of Poland is extending its engagement.

Originally booked for six weeks, the management rearranged the tour schedule so that two more weeks could be added.

Harold Leventhal and Marie Desmarais, co-sponsors of the visit, said the change was made because the Polish government was impressed with the strong advance ticket sale.

Cameron Mitchell Speaks Out

An hour's conversation with Cameron Mitchell can be an exhausting experience.

The big, brawny and voluble star can talk up the old blue streak. But more than that, he talks with an intense conviction and laces his conversation with verbal punches and vivid gesticulations.

As the star of the new NBC-TV series The High Chaparral, he has the opportunity to pursue one of his favorite subjects, the American Indian.

"The situation of the Indian today is really a national disgrace," he said. "While everybody in the country is fighting for more and better of everything for almost everybody, nobody really cares about the most deserving group in the country."

"In fact, it is just the reverse. They are exploited and deprived and on television they are almost always the vicious and violent bad guys."

"Nothing boils me more than to see a show where the settlers are being mercilessly butchered by the sadistic redmen. Of course there were renegade Indians but they were the exception rather than the rule."

"More often than not it was the Indians, women and children included, who were being butchered."

"One of the things that sold me on The High Chaparral is a truer depiction of what the Indian situation really was."

"The white settlers were literally invaders. They came to take the land away from the first settlers, who fought back."

"And that's what we say. Of course there is fighting just like there was in those days, but we don't blame everything on the redmen. We take their side into consideration too."

CAMERON MITCHELL

Mitchell is highly incensed too about the miserable conditions existing among the majority of Indians today.

"All we talk about is poverty and welfare, but who gets the least of any of these benefits? The Indians."

"If television really wants to present the true picture of the Indians let them take their cameras to some reservations where the most important benefit you can give them is bread."

Getting back to his series role, Mitchell defended the raw characterization he gives.

"Sure I'm dirty and raunchy. To me the television viewer is up to here with the phony cowboys with the clean fingernails and groomed hair."

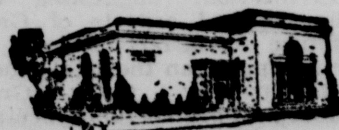

"You have to give them more truth and the truth is, that's the way it was."

First Concert For Festival

The first concert of a Hudson Valley Philharmonic Festival to be held at Orange County Community College during 1967-68 will take place Wednesday, Sept. 27. The program is part of the college's annual Lyceum Series.

A Little Symphony Concert featuring Mozart's Symphony number 41 in C Major, K.551 (Jupiter) will begin at 8:30 p. m. in OCCC's Orange Hall auditorium. Also on the program are the Concerto in E-flat, "Dunbarton Oaks," by Stravinsky and "The Battle of Human Passions" by Karl Ditters von Dittersdorf.

Tickets to the concert are available at the Office of the Dean of Students at OCCC or at the door.

Earlier that day at 4 p. m. in the Orange Hall auditorium, conductor Claude Monteux of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic will conduct a demonstration workshop for students and the public during which the Stravinsky and von Dittersdorf works will be studied in depth. Admission to the workshop session is free and all are invited.

CLAUDE MONTEUX

Five additional concerts, a flute recital and two lecture demonstration workshops will be held in conjunction with the Philharmonic during the year at OCCC.

The Giant of Journalism

PULITZER. By W. A. Swanberg. Scribners, $8.95.

No history of the fight for social justice and honesty in government in America could be complete without an account of the contributions made by Joseph Pulitzer, a true giant of journalism.

But with the passage of time, the man himself has been almost lost in the huge shadow cast by his legend. In this massive, well-documented and excellently written biography he is brought to life again in all his quixotic genius and restless integrity.

Fresh out of the Union Army, the penniless 18-year-old Hungarian immigrant rode a boxcar to St. Louis in 1865. He worked as a waiter and hack driver before he found his true love—journalism. At his death aboard his private yacht in 1911 he owned two famous newspapers—the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch—and left a fortune valued at $185 million.

Several poor young men started as obscurely as Pulitzer did during America's Gilded Age and became even richer. What made him stand out? Chiefly, an iron conscience.

A lover of luxury himself—his yacht alone cost $200,000 to maintain—Pulitzer had only contempt for men who became wealthy by shabby methods or who wound up selfish prisoners of their own dollars.

With the zeal of a born reformer and the exuberance of a born showman, he waged a lifelong struggle against corrupt public officials, hypocrisy and entrenched privilege of all kinds. He advocated the income tax and the inheritance tax at a time when a rich man who did so was regarded as a traitor to his class.

This endless controversies he waged took their toll in physical and nervous exhaustion; although he lost his eyesight he never lost his vision. His example remains one of the glories of newspaperdom. His New York World survived him by only 19 years, but the St. Louis Post-Dispatch still exists to carry on his foresighted admonition to combat "predatory wealth" or "predatory poverty."

Ironically, this definitive biography could well win for author Swanberg—a Pulitzer Prize, an honor he almost gained with an earlier biography, "Citizen Hearst."

Incidentally, PUH-lease, Mr. Pulitzer's name is pronounced PUH-litzer, not PUGH-litzer. (Reviewed by Hal Boyle)

Scholars Beware Of These Gifts Born by Greeks

THE PRAEGER ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ANCIENT GREEK CIVILIZATION. Praeger, $15.

Four French scholars collaborated in this work, which isn't much manpower for an encyclopedia—but then, this handsome and well-illustrated book isn't much of an encyclopedia.

It covers much ground, but in such a thin and superficial way that it's hard to see just for whom the volume is intended; certainly not specialists or scholars. Even the educated general reader will find much of it elementary.

In the article on the Greek city, for example, there is the solemn statement that it "did not suddenly spring into being like Athena out of Zeus' forehead, fully developed without any preparatory period." Does anyone imagine that complex institutions arise that way?

In the article on Alexander the Great, the reader is first assured, with superfluous emphasis, that the conqueror is "not an enigma." Then he finds this: "Alexander possessed something that is rarely found in the Greeks, and that is the quality of imagination."

It's a curious observation about a people that produced Thales and Heraclitus, Pindar and Euripides, Plato and Aristophanes, among other such unimaginative persons. About the only explanation would be a mistranslation from the French.

On other levels, knowledgeable readers are apt to take issue with the perspective and presentation of a variety of subjects. What is one to make of the judgment in the article on "Civilization," suggesting that the physical aspects of Greek culture are in fact closer to our own times than the intellectual? Indisputably, many Greek concepts differed fundamentally from our own. But this is hardly enough to invalidate the subtle and enduring relationship between ancient Greece and Western civilization, however refracted by the prisms of Rome, the Middle Ages and the Renaissance.

Perhaps the best thing in the book are the illustrations, which speak for themselves.

Rector Show at Point

The United States Military Academy Library at West Point has a current show of the art works of Lois Rector. The exhibit opened this week in the library's third floor audio-visual lounge and will run through Oct. 22.

The show includes 32 works in ink, oil and acrylic, chalk, pastel and casine. Canvas subjects vary from boats and buoys to impressions of local lakes and woods. Of particular interest are the artist's renditions of Lake Placid and Lake Minnewaska.

Miss Rector studied painting at Woodstock's Art Students League and State University of New York at New Paltz. She has been widely exhibited at institutes and galleries throughout the east and has run up an impressive list of one-man shows.

Numerous art awards have been accorded the artist, who presently resides in Poughkeepsie and is active in the real estate business there and in the Red Hook area.

Repeat Concert

Having just closed its busy summer season, Performing Arts of Woodstock heads into fall with a repeat by request concert tonight. First heard over the Labor Day weekend, the concert brings Patricia Tilgers and Hasbrook Dougherty back to the art colony's Little Theatre stage.

Contralto Tilgers and lyric baritone Dougherty will perform for the benefit of Ars Choralis, musical branch of PAW, and will be heard in a program of lieder, baroque and contemporary compositions. Providing piano accompaniment will be concert pianist Beatrice Bright of Saugerties.

Tonight's concert begins at 8:30 p. m. and tickets will be available at the door.

A Frank Converse-Atonalist

NEW YORK — Consider the case of Frank Converse, one of the oddest in the annals of television.

Five months ago when he signed with Talent Associates to star in ABC-TV'S N.Y.P.D., he was a struggling journeyman actor, delighted to get the role.

Two months later, a series titled Coronet Blue became a summer replacement and its leading man, Converse, became an overnight star.

"If Coronet Blue had gone on before I signed for N.Y.P.D. I never would have gotten this part. They couldn't afford me."

The tall, blond, soberly handsome young actor spoke with the square-jawed solidity of a man not often given to humor.

"That's no joke," he connoted that he is not THE star of Coronet Blue that I know. "Between Jack Warden, Robmy price would have been too much for them to meet. There would be someone else in this part today. Not me."

The part Converse referred to is that of a detective on several episodes had been N.Y.P.D. (New York Police Department) which he talked about while waiting for a camera call. We stood outside a rickety Hudson River pier where longshoremen mingled with camera crews and you couldn't tell the film cops from the real ones.

"There's a lot of confusion right now," he noted. "The production crew isn't settled into this thing yet. It isn't easy shooting on the streets of New York in the first place, and particularly with this type of show."

Asked what made the show different from a Dragnet or Naked City, Converse said: "Well Dragnet is sort of a narration of a case while Naked City tended to bring out the police characters much more."

"The case itself is the more important part blended with the police characters who are working on the case."

Frank acknowledged that the show did have a built-in plus with him in the cast, but also noted that he is not THE star of the show.

"Between Jack Warden, Robmy price would have been too much for them to meet. There would be someone else in this part today. Not me."

We stood outside a rickety Hudson River pier where longshoremen mingled with camera crews and you couldn't tell the film cops from the real ones.

"In other words, whichever character emerges as the show's strongest, both in performance and in audience acceptance, will become the star of the show."

"There's a lot of confusion right now," he noted. "The production crew isn't settled into this thing yet. It isn't easy shooting on the streets of New York in the first place, and particularly with this type of show."

Asked what made the show different from a Dragnet or Naked City, Converse said: "Well Dragnet is sort of a narration of a case while Naked City tended to bring out the police characters much more."

"The case itself is the more important part blended with the police characters who are working on the case."

Frank acknowledged that the the square-jawed solidity of a show did have a built-in plus man not often given to humor, with him in the cast, but also "That's no joke," he continued. "So much has come out of the show, of Coronet Blue that I know, my price would have been too much for them to meet. There, any one of us could evolve as would be someone else in this part today. Not me."

Local Nurses Offered TV Refreshers

An effort will be made this fall to alleviate the critical shortage of registered professional nurses here in the Kingston area and elsewhere with the presentation of a TV refresher course for inactive nurses. It will be broadcast beginning in October on Channel 13, Oct. 2 at 12:30 p. m.

The series of 25 half-hour TV lessons, titled Return to Nursing, has been produced for the State University of New York by WMHT in Schenectady in cooperation with the Russell Sage College Department of Nursing and offices of the New York State Health and Education Departments.

In order to enroll in the course, inactive nurses locally must contact Sister Gabrielle, Inservice Director, Benedictine Hospital, and view the TV lessons as part of the hospital's refresher program. In some cases, the course will be used by hospitals to inform staff registered nurses of new techniques and procedures in medicine.

In the Albany-Schenectady area, where the course was presented with great success in the spring, 107 returning nurses enrolled in 10 hospitals for the combination TV-classroom curriculum. In reply to a questionnaire, more than 75 per cent of the returning nurses felt the course increased their interest, enthusiasm, and desire to return to nursing and gave them more confidence in their capability and knowledge. Many had indicated candidly that lack of self-confidence was a chief concern before enrolling in the course.

Interviewing: Charles Boswell

A Conversation With the Noted Woodstock Author

The prolific author or co-author of more than 500 magazine articles and a dozen books on real life crimes and trials, Woodstocker Charles Boswell has now written the factual story of the America. Just published, the timing on his latest tome could not have been more fortuitous. "The America," Boswell's story of the world famous yacht, went on sale across the country only days before the 20th defense of The America's Cup.

As those who follow the excitement generated by yachting know, this country has never relinquished that sport's famous prize—the trophy cup won by the America and kept in the custody of the New York Yacht Club since 1851. This week, the 20th challenge since 1870 proved to be no exception. Intrepid, the American defender, made history as had the America before her, by outperforming Dame Pattie, the Australian challenger.

Twedy, sometimes bespectacled, sometimes not, author Boswell talked to us one recent afternoon in his Glasco Turnpike home in Woodstock (in front of a huge brick fireplace) about the career that has taken him from his native Richmond, Va., where his father was a banker, to these Catskills and a variety of other places. After studying architecture at the University of Virginia, he began his career as an investigator for various insurance investigating agencies in New York City, worked for the U.S. Treasury Department in Washington, served with the Army Air Forces Material Command during World War 2, and eventually turned to editing and writing.

All of his books prior to "The America" dealt with some of the world's most famous criminal trials and one, The Girl with the Scarlet Brand, brought him honors as the co-winner with Lewis Thompson of Mystery Writers of America Edgar Allen Poe Award for 1955. His reputation in the field of fact-crime writing has long been established. With his newest endeavor, he has turned commentator in another field of research with exceptional results. The interview, during which he talked with only the slightest trace of a Southern accent, offers a glimpse into the personal life and thoughts of this persuasive local writer.

QUESTION: Early in The America, we were intrigued by your statement that no story worth the telling should begin at the beginning. Why do you feel this is so?

BOSWELL: "I think that if you start off by saying, for instance, in a biography, that such and such a person was born in such and such a place on such and such a day, you fail to capture your reader's interest. After all, everybody is born at some time or another and must be born some place, but these things should enter naturally into the story. On the other hand, if you start off with some incident that has some element of drama in it, you are much more likely to pull in your reader, which is the reason news stories have headlines."

QUESTION: The America seems to us to be an excellent vehicle for the movies. The reader can almost feel the scenario building. Have you any feelings about seeing it on the screen?

BOSWELL: "Yes, I would very much like to have some movie company make an offer for this book but I fear it will probably not happen because of Rudy Schaefer of the brewing company of the same name. Schaefer has built a full size replica of the vessel and is using it for his own purposes, largely to sell his beer."

"The replica is accurate in every detail of length, width, etc., and varies only in that it has a diesel engine. It was at Newport during the cup races this year and was used in an hour long documentary, Sail to Glory, in late August on NBC-TV."

"I first heard of Schaefer's plan to build a replica last fall and, at that time, I had been working on the book steadily for a year and had begun research on it in 1961. I had received a contract for the story from David McKay Company early in 1965 after the MacMillan Company had seen the outline and felt it would have some appeal as a book for children, and after another publisher viewed the idea as not substantial enough to sustain an entire book. (The published work in its final form proves conclusively that both firms were entirely wrong.)"

"While the TV documentary dealt with the races held in England while the America was in the hands of her New York owners, I cannot help but feel that the film has hindered my chances for a Hollywood production, as has Schaefer's replica and the publicity campaign it has inspired for his company's product."

QUESTION: There must be a story, an incident or a change in thinking behind your decision to write on a new subject after exploring the topic of criminal trials for so many years. Why the switch at this point in your career and has it anything to do with your being a yachting enthusiast?

BOSWELL: "Well, it's like this. I was doing research on a book I am still researching having to do with the Civil War and especially Confederate espionage and sabotage out of Canada. There were a number of raids made by Confederates based in Canada—one into St. Albans, Vt., another to free Confederate prisoners on Johnson's Island off Sandusky, Ohio, and other raids into New York State and New York City, where much of that metropolis was set afire."

"Johnson's Island interested me most because my grandfather was a prisoner there. In reading about this raid and the efforts to free those prisoners, I accumulated several cartons of material about the wild schemes of the Confederates to further their cause. In the course of that research, which involved the study of an awful lot of Civil War material, I encountered information to the effect that the yacht America was in the hands of the Confederacy at an early stage of the war. I couldn't understand how she ever got there. So, for the time being, I switched my interest from the espionage system to the yacht and got deeper and deeper in it, beginning correspondence with certain people in Georgia and turning up some material that had always been a great mystery."

QUESTION: We get the impression that The America is a social commentary on this country. Are we right?

BOSWELL: "I think so. Surely I am not very kind to the syndicate of men who bought her from her designer and builder, George Steers, for only $20,000. There is a vast discrepancy in that price and the price that it has cost Schaefer to build a replica, which is $500,000—according to the published account. Then, too, the original syndicate did sell her in England for what amounted to about $25,000. Yes, I think there are a few cracks take in at the establishment in the book."

QUESTION: In one section you have reference to the Edgar Allen Poe story, "The Mystery of Marie Roget," based on the true case of Mary Cecilia Rogers. Was this because you really felt it was integral to the story of the America—or might it have had something to do with our lifelong fascination for themes involving crime... a habit hard to break... to speak?

BOSWELL: "I think that was probably so. I was familiar with the story and it did involve property in Hoboken owned by one of the syndicate heads, and it did involve Steers and a mutual friend of both. It may be, too, that I was looking for a sort of bridge in order to switch from one line of thought or subject to another. I find it very difficult in writing almost anything to smoothly effect a change from one scene to another or one period of time to another without being abrupt and awkward."

QUESTION: In researching the book, how difficult was the task of weeding out gossip, legend and fact?

BOSWELL: "Like any event in American history, this story has been handed down by word of mouth or by word of print—and people elaborate as they go along and everyone adds a little bit of color to what they're doing or saying. Or they add something from their imagination and, before long, you hardly recognize the truth."

"I make reference for instance, to the business of Queen Victoria supposedly turning to her signal master as the America crossed the finish line far ahead in her first race and saying, 'Who is second?' And he is reported to have replied, in tribute to her speed, 'Your Majesty, there is no second.' Actually, there was a second since the Aurora arrived eight minutes later."

"All in all, I would have to say I found the research easier and more entertaining for me to do than the writing of it. For one thing, I didn't have to think all the time. I think everybody hates to think for extended periods of time."

QUESTION: Which of all your books would you say was the most difficult to write?

BOSWELL: "This one took me longer and I really worked harder on it than any other. The books about criminal trials were considerably easier for the reason that I had before me a trial transcript. Moreover, a criminal trial is orderly in that there are opening remarks of counsel, the prosecution and defense present their cases, there is a summing up and a charge by the judge and, finally, there is the finding of the jury. A trial book has a form that is already present, whereas this book is formless with the exception of the orderly passage of the years."

QUESTION: Though born in Virginia, you have lived and worked for many years in Woodstock and have resided in other places. Do you feel any strong sense of community identity?

BOSWELL: "I have really lived here in Woodstock longer than anywhere else. We came here in 1946, bought a house in Bearsville, have also lived in several others, including our present one, which we bought in 1965 and have found very satisfactory."

QUESTION: How do you spend a normal day?

BOSWELL: "I rarely ever work in the mornings. To start with, I get up late which is sort of a lifelong habit. I think that the thing that stands in my way of working in the morning more than anything else is the fact that the mail doesn't get here until late. Of course, I COULD get a post office box and drive down to the village every morning."

"Still, I think every writer in the world, in all probability, lives by the mail. Writers are always expecting to find some money which isn't there. At the moment I'm expecting a check for the Scandinavian rights for books I did long ago and a firm in England is also bringing out some of my old books."

"Even if I got the mail early in the morning now, I don't think I would go to work until some time in the afternoon. I work a great deal at night for the obvious reason that everything is quiet. Often I watch the 11 o'clock news and then work until 3 a.m."

QUESTION: We hear so many stories of authors who write or wrote standing up (Vladimir Nabokov and Thomas Wolfe, for example) — or others who write in longhand rather than on a typewriter... or who dictate to a secretary or into a machine. How about you?

BOSWELL: "Hemingway also wrote standing up at a high shelf but I do not write standing up. I write sitting down at a typewriter, an L. C. Smith office model, probably not the first ever turned out but to give you an idea of its vintage... If it were a Ford, they would call it a Model T. It has never been cleaned and was bought secondhand easily 30 years ago. Every now and then I brush off the keys but only in order to be able to tell the difference between a p and a b."

QUESTION: Your attention to the phrasing and connotation of words in connection with the manners and mores of a period interests us. For instance, in The America, you point out the social differences significant in the signing of correspondence between one of the syndicate heads commissioning the yacht and her builder. It is your observation that the wealthy prospective owner uses "Very truly yours" and the hired builder "Respectfully yours" as indications of their respective status. Where would you place the simple signature "Sincerely," on the social scale both now and a century ago?

The America Sails Again

By Charles Boswell

David McKay Co., Inc. $6.95

A master hand at putting together a story marked by both lucidity and excitement, Woodstock author Charles Boswell has just finished devoting several years of his career to describing the historical role of the world's most famous yacht. While many boats may have several faces, none has worn so many countenances so well as the America—a nautical legend that made history for nearly a century in numerous roles.

And Boswell has caught her promise from the day she was first conceived in the imaginations of a handful of New York Yacht Club members (as the means of wrestling world yachting honors from the British) as well as her fulfillment of more than a half dozen other assignments.

Mr. Boswell's latest book, just published by David McKay Company, Inc., and titled simply "The America," gives a panorama of the proud vessel named for this country and the country's history, as well . . . and proves to be entertaining in the process.

Sentimental and Subtle

Boswell has, of course, written many excellent books over the past two decades but "The America" is one for which we cannot be grateful enough. For "The America" is many things. It is a sentimental salute to a gallant vessel and to a more gentlemanly way of life. It is a book of dedicated research mixed with subtle humor. It is a delving into the human emotions of those who came in contact with the racing yacht that is fully satisfying and up to all the expectations of a fully professional product. It is a finely sustained, factual and objective story that, quite properly, become a social commentary of modern and not-so-modern America.

Boswell's witty, historical prose style is so surely wedded to his subject that all the humor, tragedy and sense of pace of a bygone culture flows across his pages. He is credible because he has used his considerable imagination to ferret out fact from gossip and legend—and because his intense feeling for people and his diligence in research bring the America and those involved with her fortunes into perspective.

The author's choice of theme will appeal to a wide variety of readers and the book was not conceived for yacht owners alone. Civil War buffs will find his exactitude and perspective in dealing with the America's military operations as a Confederate blockade runner and Union blockader illuminating. Anyone who has ever gone anywhere near the water will see still another story in the yacht's winning of the first America's Cup and her other racing accomplishments. Armchair historians of the Victorian era will find much to interest them in this tale of the sea. And those of us who live here in the Mid Hudson Valley will recognize the scenes set in Rhinebeck, Hyde Park and Dutchess County, those laid along the river from New York to Albany, and those related to the family histories of the Wilkes and Schuyler clans, some of whose members were involved in the building of the America.

A Sort of Valentine

The book, with two sections of illustrations and maps, is a non-floury valentine to a remarkable lady of the high seas, and an admirably wrought monument to a vessel like none other.

Once Boswell has made, with remarkable skill, the point that the America was expected to be different even before she was conceived as a carved model by George Steers, her builder, he goes on, more remarkably, to show that her later history was far more interesting than the accounting she gave of herself in the world of yachting. True, she won the most cherished prize in that world—the ornate silver trophy since called "The America's Cup"—but her Civil War accomplishments and her later sale to a scheming politician, among other adventures, make for an even greater story.

Mr. Boswell has a way of putting new life into an old tale and, in this case, a tale that has never been fully told before. On one page, for example, we meet a gentleman who christens his infant son from a cutter (holding him by a leg and dipping him head first into the water). On another, we encounter the gustatory menu of a Victorian banquet and can only marvel at the manners and mores of the wealthy class before frozen TV dinners and quick hibachi cooking became the norm.

A vignette of Waterloo brings home with blazing clarity how the course of war has quickened; incidental reference to such men as Keats, Tennyson and Theodore Roosevelt help to raise the curtain on another age; and a finely etched portrait of Queen Victoria adds new insight into the personality of his monarch.

Within the Pages

We meet skeptics who are convinced the America's speed is directly attributable to a hidden propeller; we keep company with one of the most amazing men of an era—James D. Bulloch, the chief Confederate agent in England during the Civil War; we are there when the fabled cup narrowly misses being consigned to the rubbish pile by an unsuspecting maid; and, through newspaper accounts of the 1800's, we cannot help but observe how journalistic styles have changed.

Boswell's book came out of massive interviewing and a mountain of reading here and elsewhere. His interpretation is as authoritative as it is exciting. Where he speaks of men and events of which readers have had no previous knowledge, he seems virtually faultless.

This is a topnotch account of the life and times of a noble experiment. And at the end of that life, bounded by the oceans and rivers of the world, the America managed to survive retirement for two decades before falling victim to an ironic blizzard. Still, she had lived her life with courage and dignity, the latter achieved almost totally through her own accomplishments.

This story of the world's most famous yacht is a great story—made greater by Boswell's talent as researcher and writer—and by his obvious love for the human tide as well as those tides and winds that govern the fate of a sailboat such as the America. (Reviewed by Tobie Geertsema)

Columnist Blasts Sex Mood of TV

Columnist Harriet Van Horne has attacked television for being "as preoccupied with sex as a bridegroom . . . a thoroughly modern bridegroom whose mood is less romantic than clinical, cool and faintly obsessive."

"Unmarried sex, as all those TV programs are at pains to tell us, is no longer premarital or extramarital sex," Miss Van Horne wrote in a national magazine. "It is simply sex for its own sake. It is sexual pleasure without sexual responsibility."

"And a school of false prophets and bogus scientists has hailed these developments as leading the turned-on generation toward a more meaningful, more rewarding way of life," she charged.

Miss Van Horne said "to speak bluntly, we are fed up to the eyes with all this pseudo-scientific, pseudosociological voyeurism on the part of TV's documentations."

She accused television of not being "content with merely holding up a mirror to life," saying the medium "often adjusts the view in the mirror to its own sensational purposes," with documentaries on topless waitresses, nude girlie shows in Las Vegas and New York's grind houses.

"What we who are a few years removed from campus revelry—and a few light-years from nude girlie shows—wish TV would explore is the reason behind this sexual revolution," Miss Van Horne wrote. "What caused it? And how much damage has it done to youthful, still-plastic personalities?"

She suggested that many many viewers may long "for the old-fashioned sentiment that held certain matters to sacred for public discussion—especially on national television."

"It isn't enough to tick off the obvious changes in American life, as if each one set off shock waves, ending in the boudoir," she said. "Shouldn't we also mention the increasing vulgarization of sex by the mass media and the wanton misreading of Freud's dicta on the dangers of repression?"

Interviewing: Charles Boswell

remained with us because of the large mass of commercial correspondence. I say "sincerely" when I'm writing to Central Hudson protesting the size of a bill, or when I'm writing to my agent or whatever."

QUESTION: We have read what we thought to be a considerable amount of historical writing on the Civil War. Yet, until your book was published, we knew nothing of the part the America played under the name of Camilla. Has our reading been more limited than we thought or do Civil War historians tend to ignore or minimize the yacht's use in that conflict and the entire naval side of the war?

BOSWELL: "They certainly have not minimized the naval part of the war because there has been a considerable amount written on this, including more than 100 volumes published by the U.S. government. For instance, I once thought of doing a book on the Alabama but there was a book only three years ago, so that's out."

"While I found references to the America in a cumulative volume of books in print at the bookshop here in Woodstock, very little has been said about the America—about her part in the war, especially from the point that she was raised from a creek in Florida and from that time on. There has been quite a bit written about her during those few months in 1861-1862 when she was owned by the Confederacy. But there has been little about her later life and I was fortunate in being able to uncover totally new information with the assistance of Alexander A. Lawrence, who wrote A Present for Mr. Lincoln and with whom I went to prep school along with songwriter Johnny Mercer. He put me on to two journals by Confederate agents which had been kept as family heirlooms for many years until their recent acquisition by the University of North Carolina library."

QUESTION: "Digressing from The America for the moment to your earlier works, what do you think of the veritable run today on the type of writing we have always felt you did much to pioneer? Such factually inspired books as Truman Capote's In Cold Blood, Gerold Frank's The Boston Strangler, Harry Golden's A Little Girl Is Dead, Martin's Why Did They Kill? and dozens of tomes on the Kennedy assassination have had fantastic success recently. In view of this, do you ever feel you were somewhat ahead of the literary times?"

BOSWELL: "Well, no, I don't think I was ahead of the times because books of that character have had lengthy popularity in England in a long series called 'Notable British Trials.' They run to probably 100 volumes, are still being turned out and are written by barristers and queen's counsels, among others. Rebecca West has done an awful good job in England and she has been the author of a great many books that have a certain crime angle although, in the main, she has written about treason. In this country a hundred years ago almost every criminal trial of any wide importance or interest was published in paperback even then... sort of pamphlet books. Also, in the 1920s, there were a good many books written on so-called true crime by Edmund Pearson, who delved into the story of Lizzie Borden and others."

QUESTION: Why have you never written anything on organized crime or mobsterism?

BOSWELL: "I have dealt with the individual case because, to my way of thinking, there is simply no romantic interest in organized crime. There have been some very attractive murderers who have committed crimes of passion. Crimes are interesting for whatever motive that is individual to them. The sort of crimes in which Murder, Inc., the Mafia or whatever are involved simply don't appeal to me at all—any more than Dillinger or Pretty Boy Floyd or any of those people—because they're a sort of corporation move as opposed to the ordinary motivations that we all know because we all get mad at people sometimes. And, while we don't kill them, we express some animosity to them for individual reasons. It is only the individual that I find interesting."

QUESTION: Hemingway once said that writing success does not come by accident but by patient hard work and a style marked by lucidity. Do you agree?

BOSWELL: "I certainly do and the more lucid the better!"

QUESTION: As far as we know, you have never written a novel. Are there any novelists whom you admire?

BOSWELL: "No, I have never attempted a novel. When we went down to Virginia in 1959 to stay with my mother during her declining years, I certainly had a fine opportunity to write a novel about a small Southern town and how it had changed from my boyhood on—but I'm not a novelist. I do like Faulkner very much, and other Southern novelists, including Thomas Wolfe."

QUESTION: What next now that The America is between covers?

BOSWELL: "I don't know. Perhaps you can tell me. I'm between shows as they say in Hollywood. I'm interested in doing a book about a man named Canfield, a gambler who ran a club at Saratoga, another at Newport, and another next door to Delmonico's in New York in the 1890s and early 1900s. I have also collected material on what I can only call Ireland's war with Canada. This has to do with the so-called Finian's movement in the U. S. immediately following the Civil War in which the Irish in the U. S., and notably in New York, were going to strike at England as they have been striking at England ever since anyone can remember. They hoped to take over Canada just as DeGaulle seems to have been attempting lately.

"In 1866 the Irish made a raid across Niagara at Buffalo and another in 1870. They were responsible for building the first submarine in history, hoping to go across the Atlantic and sink the British fleet in the English Channel. They were a bunch of very amusing and very mad people—mad in the sense that they were madcap as opposed to angry, which they were too. But they had dreams of grandeur at that time and one of these was to release the many Irishmen who were serving out their weary lives in an English penal colony in Australia. Some New York and Boston Irishmen obtained a whaling vessel, sailed her to Australia and freed a number of Irishmen.

"I think there is an opportunity for a pretty good book there."

Interviewing: Charles Boswell

remained with us because of the large mass of commercial correspondence. I say "sincerely" when I'm writing to Central Hudson protesting the size of a bill, or when I'm writing to my agent or whatever."

QUESTION: We have read what we thought to be a considerable amount of historical writing on the Civil War. Yet, until your book was published, we knew nothing of the part the America played under the name of Camilla. Has our reading been more limited than we thought or do Civil War historians tend to ignore or minimize the yacht's use in that conflict and the entire naval side of the war?

BOSWELL: "They certainly have not minimized the naval part of the war because there has been a considerable amount written on this, including more than 100 volumes published by the U.S. government. For instance, I once thought of doing a book on the Alabama but there was a book only three years ago, so that's out."

"While I found references to the America in a cumulative volume of books in print at the bookshop here in Woodstock, very little has been said about the America—about her part in the war, especially from the point that she was raised from a creek in Florida and from that time on. There has been quite a bit written about her during those few months in 1861-1862 when she was owned by the Confederacy. But there has been little about her later life and I was fortunate in being able to uncover totally new information with the assistance of Alexander A. Lawrence, who wrote A Present for Mr. Lincoln and with whom I went to prep school along with songwriter Johnny Mercer. He put me on to two journals by Confederate agents which had been kept as family heirlooms for many years until their recent acquisition by the University of North Carolina library."

QUESTION: "Digressing from The America for the moment to your earlier works, what do you think of the veritable run today on the type of writing we have always felt you did much to pioneer? Such factually inspired books as Truman Capote's In Cold Blood, Gerold Frank's The Boston Strangler, Harry Golden's A Little Girl Is Dead, Martin's Why Did They Kill? and dozens of tomes on the Kennedy assassination have had fantastic success recently. In view of this, do you ever feel you were somewhat ahead of the literary times?"

BOSWELL: "Well, no, I don't think I was ahead of the times because books of that character have had lengthy popularity in England in a long series called "Notable British Trials." They run to probably 100 volumes, are still being turned out and are written by barristers and queen's counsels, among others. Rebecca West has done an awful good job in England and she has been the author of a great many books that have a certain crime angle although, in the main, she has written about treason. In this country a hundred years ago almost every criminal trial of any wide importance or interest was published in paperback even then . . . sort of pamphlet books. Also, in the 1920s, there were a good many books written on so-called true crime by Edmund Pearson, who delved into the story of Lizzie Borden and others."

QUESTION: Why have you never written anything on organized crime or mobsterism?

BOSWELL: "I have dealt with the individual case because, to my way of thinking, there is simply no romantic interest in organized crime. There have been some very attractive murderers who have committed crimes of passion. Crimes are interesting for whatever motive that is individual to them. The sort of crimes in which Murder, Inc., the Mafia or whatever are involved simply don't appeal to me at all—any more than Dillinger or Pretty Boy Floyd or any of those people—because they're a sort of corporation move as opposed to the ordinary motivations that we all know because we all get mad at people sometimes. And, while we don't kill them, we express some animosity to them for individual reasons. It is only the individual that I find interesting."

QUESTION: Hemingway once said that writing success does not come by accident but by patient hard work and a style marked by lucidity. Do you agree?

BOSWELL: "I certainly do and the more lucid the better!"

QUESTION: As far as we know, you have never written a novel. Are there any novelists whom you admire?

BOSWELL: "No, I have never attempted a novel. When we went down to Virginia in 1959 to stay with my mother during her declining years, I certainly had a fine opportunity to write a novel about a small Southern town and how it had changed from my boyhood on—but I'm not a novelist. I do like Faulkner very much, and other Southern novelists, including Thomas Wolfe."

QUESTION: What next now that The America is between covers?

BOSWELL: "I don't know. Perhaps you can tell me. I'm between shows as they say in Hollywood. I'm interested in doing a book about a man named Canfield, a gambler who ran a club at Saratoga, another at Newport, and another next door to Delmonico's in New York in the 1890s and early 1900s. I have also collected material on what I can only call Ireland's war with Canada. This has to do with the so-called Finian's movement in the U. The local Boy Scout Council was founded in 1915 by a group of outstanding citizens representing various sections of Ulster County. The council headquarters, since the earliest days, has been located in Kingston.

During its early days the council was chartered by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America as the Ulster County Council, B.S.A. In the 1930's the Greene County Council joined the local council. The present name of the organization—the Rip Van Winkle Council, Inc., B.S.A., was officially adopted in 1950.

The council has had a steady growth in membership since its inception and now serves 3,300 boys. There are currently over 1,000 adults serving in various leadership positions on Unit, District and council level. Looking to the future—it is anticipated that by 1981 the boy membership of the council will be in excess of 6,500 boys about double the present enrollment.

The first council camp was established in New Paltz on the Wallkill River in 1920. In 1923 Camp Half Moon was located on the Catskill Creek near Cairo, N. Y. This served until 1940 when the camp was moved to Spruceton on the Westkill Creek. The first permanent camp, (the present Camp Tri-Mount) came into being in 1946 when a 175-acre tract of land was purchased in East Jewett, N. Y. In 1961, 350 acres of land adjacent to the Tri-Mount property was purchased. The current acreage of 525 acres allows for boy membership expansion in the foreseeable future.

Camp Tri-Mount, which is operated on a year-round basis has seen a number of major improvements in the last several years including a new dining hall, new waterfront, additional troop campsites, a new water system, several new camp buildings, additions to the camp fleet of boats and canoes, etc. Most recently additions include the new Lt. William E. Hitchcock Memorial Flag Plaza, the construction of a new camp Chapel, the dining hall landscaping project and the Richard Stewart Memorial room in the camp dining hall.

The original purpose of the Rip Van Winkle Council, which continues to the present day, is (1) to expand the opportunities for boys to receive Scout training by encouraging institutions in local communities to use the Scouting program, and (2) to help these institutions operate successful units by providing essential supporting services that the units cannot provide for themselves such as leadership training courses, council camping facilities, inter-unit, district and council activities, professional guidance, the maintenance of a council Boy Scout Service Center, etc.

The Rip Van Winkle Council Executive Board adopted a Council "Long Range Plan" in 1963 for the next twenty-year period.
